10,000 Real Fighters. $6,000,000 a Pound. Loud Voice of Cash. Jefferson on 'Buy American.'

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TEN THOUSAND more Japanese soldiers are marching into China. Ten thousand Japanese, well drilled, well armed, with armored tanks rolling ahead of them, bomb-dropping airplanes overhead, represent a real fighting force.

China has learned about fighting in the last ten years of constant civil war and foreign war. She learned something in the war with Japan and "beating China" is no longer a pastime.

Today's conflict is a struggle between quick action and savage fighting on the part of the Japanese, patient endurance and determination on the part of China to outlast Japan's financial resources.

MISS LIBBY HOLMAN married a young man heir to twenty million dollars. At a pleasant party, with a good deal of whisky, somebody murdered the husband. The wife and another, accused, were set free.

Now a boy baby is born to the dead man and his wife.

She is in the hospital. The baby is in a "new type incubator" probably because it was born a little too soon. That might easily happen after what the unfortunate mother went through.

REPORTERS WILL tell you all about it. An $18,000,000 baby, weighing only three and a half pounds, almost six million dollars to the pound, lived in an incubator, fed a few drops at a time through the nose, is an interesting feature of modern civilization.

HERE OR abroad, CASH is the strong argument. American students at the University of Vienna were victims of offensive rowdyism. The American Minister complained, with little effect. Now somebody discovers that foreign students spend $1,750,000 a year, more than all the Austrian students spend, and that has caused a change in the attitude toward American students.

American doctors, finishing their studies in Vienna, spend a half million dollars there yearly.

IF AMERICAN students and doctors would return from foreign countries, they would find better universities and better medical schools here, and have the satisfaction of spending their money in the United States, where they expect to make their money hereafter.

FRIENDS OF the "Buy American" movement, who believe in spending, in America, money earned in America, may utilize the following statement by Thomas Jefferson:

"The patriotic determination of every good citizen to use no foreign article which can be made within ourselves (our borders), without regard to difference in price, secures us against a relapse into foreign dependency."

What Jefferson called "the patriotic determination of every good citizen to use no foreign article which can be made within ourselves without regard to difference in price," is as important today as it was a hundred years ago. BUY GOODS MADE BY AMERICAN WORKERS!

ALSO, THE "relapse into foreign dependency," to which Jefferson refers, is important to Americans now.

When you are told, truly, that this country does not make the finest gloves that women demand and that there are many other things we do not make, the answer is:

"Then let us make them by forbidding importations from other countries. Women's gloves will be made here, and dozens of other things, of which foreigners have a practical monopoly, will be made here, if, by keeping out foreign competition, we encourage our own people to develop new industries."

There was not a yard of silk, satin or velvet made in France in the beginning of the sixteenth century. The French, under Francis the First, forbade the entrance of such things into France, and have since almost monopolized the silk and satin industries of the world.

OUR GOVERNMENT is now agitated about an embargo on shipment of arms to foreign countries. Say the gentlemen:

"Our contribution to peace should be absolute refusal to ship weapons to those at war or contemplating war."

That sounds pretty, but if we don't sell weapons somebody else will. And if we refuse to let those that manufacture weapons dispose of them abroad in peace times, how can we have factories to supply our own people in war time?

It must be remembered that war time is not necessarily ended forever, in spite of some pleasant peace dreams.

WHY NOT imitate British friends and adopt for slogan "Business as usual?" The able Lord Beaverbrook, owner of the London Express, asked whether Britain would sell goods to the wicked Russians, replied:

"Of course, we sell to anybody, even to cannibals, knives and forks if they want them, and large pots for boiling."

OFFICE GIRL BEATEN IN HOLDUP

Gunmen Escape With $60 After Wounding Blonde Employe

Discarding even a gangman's ethics, two armed bandits brutally slugged and bound a pretty blonde girl cashier in the office of the Acme Stamping and Manufacturing Company, West End, escaping with $60 in cash and a strong box from the safe, during the lunch hour today.

Alone in the office when the bandits entered, Miss Edna Hall, 21, was forced to open the company's safe while the pair threatened her with revolvers. They then bound her with tape, gagged her and one of the men struck her over the head with the butt end of his gun.

The girl was lying on the floor, unconscious and bleeding from her head wound, when two male employes returned from lunch. She was treated by a physician and taken to her home, 3872 Windgap road, suffering from shock and hysteria, according to her parents.

Fred Hartson, of 122 Edward street, McKees Rocks, and Joseph Stephan, of 114 Logan street, Millvale, discovered the injured girl.

City Detectives Walter Monoghan and Joe Hooper, investigating the holdup, reported the bandits escaped with only $60 and a few papers.

Roosevelt, McAdoo Get Signals Mixed

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—President-elect Roosevelt and William G. McAdoo, Senator-elect from California, got their signals mixed on a proposed visit here today of the latter.

After some telephoning back and forth between New York and Washington the time for the meeting with Mr. Roosevelt was fixed with McAdoo for Saturday at Hyde Park.

Burgess' Son Freed On Driving Charge

Wearing a military uniform of Massanutten Academy, of Virginia, Daniel Vincent Burns, 22, son of Burgess Daniel Burns, of New Kensington, today was acquitted of a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated by a jury in Criminal Court. Burns was arrested following an automobile accident at Springdale August 21.

Richard B. Russell Sworn as Senator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Richard B. Russell, Jr., was sworn in today as a Senator from Georgia.

Dog Offered Many Homes, None for Child

Everybody wants a dog but nobody seems to want to adopt a baby.

Tootsie, a small, white mongrel dog, has so many offers of adoption that she can afford to pick and choose.

But 4-year-old Anne Michaels, who lived under a bridge, has no offers.

Tootsie is a vagrant heroine. Her barking aroused 12 men sleeping in a commissary building of the Duquesne Slag Company in the Pennsylvania Railroad's Scully Yards. The building was on fire the men escaped.

Yesterday the news was spread that Tootsie, given a heroine's collar, still faced legal execution unless somebody claimed her. The responses swamped the Humane Society. Tootsie will get a home.

But Anne Michaels has been virtually an orphan for three weeks, apparently abandoned, and nobody claims her. She was found wandering in Lawrenceville and all she remembers about her home is that she lived under a bridge.

Anne's out at the Juvenile Detention Home in Oakland, happy enough and uncomplaining.

Six French Fliers Head for Argentina

ISTRES, France, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Jean Mermoz and five other men took off at 10:05 a. m. today in the plane Arcenciel (Rainbow) for Casablanca, Morocco, en route to Buenos Aires, Argentina.

The French fliers planned to stop also at Dakal, Senegal, and Pernambuco, Brazil, and make a return journey non-stop in an effort to establish a world distance flight record of about 6,500 miles.

Pittsburgh Capone Sentenced for Rum

Florinda A. Capone, whose club in the rear of North Homewood avenue, was declared a nuisance, today was sentenced to three months in jail by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar. A jury had convicted him of sale and possession of liquor.

EX-GRID STAR ACCUSED OF DEATH PLOT

'Other Woman' Linked In Alleged Plan to Kill Wife

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Another woman in the life of Gerald Allen Craig, 39, World War hero and former University of Southern California football star, was sought by police today as detectives grilled Craig in an effort to force him to admit he plotted to have his wife murdered by a hired gunman for $300 yesterday.

A dramatic face-to-face meeting between Craig and his wife was planned at the police station.

STANDS BY SON-IN-LAW

Mrs. Craig's father, James Morley, former owner of the Los Angeles Club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, declared:

"I don't believe that Jerry Craig planned to kill my daughter."

Craig was held in jail on suspicion of attempted murder.

Meanwhile, the wife, pretty Mrs. Elsie Craig, prominent in social and club circles, revealed a chilling story of her last 24 hours before the time when detectives said her husband planned that her head would be crushed with a steel bar, and if that failed, shot to death. Mrs. Craig said she suspected him of being interested in another woman.

Police declared they learned that the motive for the asserted death plot was Craig's alleged desire to get complete control of $90,000 in community property, but they sought the other woman mentioned by Mrs. Craig in an effort to determine whether the husband planned the deed because of a secret love affair.

The automobile of Max Blank, 1225 Malvern street, after its driverless run of 50 feet, climaxed by a somersault from that retaining wall to the porch roof of the home of Mrs. L. T. Eckstein, 5422 Normlee street. The wall's seven feet high. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

AUDIT HINTS BIG FEES PAID

Highways Director's Resignation Accepted

An auditing firm's report of county asphalt purchases was turned over to the county solicitor for examination today by the County Commissioners shortly after they accepted the resignation of Frank J. Chester, director of county highways, bridges and tunnels.

The findings of Main & Co. indicated a belief that more than $25,000 in commissions was paid out for political purposes at the direction of Chester when he was representative of the Barber Asphalt Company and the Lake Asphalt Company.

AGENT QUIZZED

The commissions, according to the report, were paid out by both companies to A. B. Davenport Jr., of Bayard street. Davenport questioned by the auditors, said he did not sell any products of the companies but merely acted as a promotion agent, and that the commissions were paid out "for what he believed to be political purposes."

He refused, the report said, to state to whom the money was paid, but, upon further inquiry,

HASLEY HEADS COUNTY WORKS

Thomas O. Hasley, of the W. J. Hasley Company, contractors, and president of the Squirrel Hill Board of Trade, was named director of County Public Works today as the Commissioners accepted the resignation of Frank J. Chester. The position pays $8,000.

Mr. Hasley

Hasley, who lives at 6773 Forward avenue, was born in the old Twenty-second Ward in 1887. He is a graduate of Fifth Avenue High School and Duff's Business College. Engaging at first with his father in general contracting and landscape construction business, he continued with his brother as partner after their father's death.

Always active in civic affairs, Hasley, for the past two years, has been president of the Squirrel Hill Board of Trade. He is also treasurer of the Squirrel Hill Relief Committee; director of the Columbia Ice Company and North Hills Improvement Company.

CITIZEN SHOOTS BANK BANDIT

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Two young gunmen held up and robbed the Commercial Savings and Loan Company of $35,000 in suburban Berea today, but a passing citizen almost wrecked the getaway, when he shot and captured one of the criminals.

Former Berea Councilman Clarence Fox—middle-aged, bespectacled, and usually mild mannered—was the citizen, and he encountered the holdup men as they walked out of the bank.

One of the robbers ordered Fox to stick up his hands and come along, but instead he cracked the gunman in the jaw.

The blow knocked the criminal's gun to the sidewalk and Fox won the scramble for the weapon. He fired five times and the robber dropped, seriously wounded.

'Pool' Cash Held Loot In Holdup

An alleged Turtle Creek Valley "numbers" man was the victim of a daring holdup in Braddock avenue, Swissvale, shortly after noon today. While Vince Salina, 836 Rebecca avenue, Wilkinsburg, said to be a collector for Sam Rost, numbers baron of the Turtle Creek Valley, according to Chief of Police Jack Dyer, of Edgewood, was in a tailor shop, his chauffeur, named SCteve, was slugged and thrown from his car parked in front of the shop, by two men who escaped with the car and his day's cash receipts, police said.

Steve, stunned by the blow of a revolver butt, was thrown into the street, where he law for several minutes.

When Salina was told of the robbery, he immediately notified Swissvale police, who referred him to county detectives.

Maniu's Government Resigns in Rumania

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Premier Maniu's government resigned this afternoon, as it had been expected to do for several days.

King Carol accepted the resignation and began conferences immediately with party leaders to form a new cabinet.

Firemen Save Aged Meadville Invalid

MEADVILLE, Pa., Jan. 12.—Fred Hoffman, 80, an invalid, was carried from his blazing dwelling today by firemen. The fire caused $2,000 damage.

HILLMAN QUITS AS BANK HEAD

J. H. Hillman, Jr., today declined to be re-elected as chairman of the board of directors of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company. He declared his interests in industrial organizations would make it impossible for him to devote the necessary time to the duties as chairman of the board. He will continue to serve as a director.

Yesterday it was learned that J. H. Hillman and Sons Company, of which he is president, was expanding its activities in the supervision of industrial reorganizations and refinancing.

At their organization meeting, the directors of the bank selected A. C. Robinson, the president, to fill the vacant post of chairman, L. H. Gethoefer, vice president and chairman of the executive committee, was elected president. J. O. Miller, vice president, became senior vice president.

Additional details appear on the finance pages.

Foreman's Body Taken From River

The body of C. M. Hardinger, 31, truck foreman for the Vang Construction Company, was recovered from the Allegheny River shortly after noon today, according to police reports.

Hardinger, who had been employed at the new Sharpsburg dam, fell from one of the barges last night, it is thought.

Hardinger, who lives at Finleyville with his wife and two children, was reported missing to police late last night.

County Heads Ready To Force Pay Slash

McGovern Anxious For 'Peaceful' Retrenchment

The Board of County Commissioners today waved the "big stick"—its power to cut off salary appropriations—over the heads of elected county officials in the announced battle to shave salaries of such positions.

The Commissioners made their threat at the opening of the afternoon budget session at which all elected officials of the county government were present.

Chairman C. C. McGovern explained the board would like to have a "peaceful" retrenchment plan offered by the various officials, but warned that if no such plan were forthcoming, the Commissioners would "make it."

CLAIM POWER

It is the contention of the Commissioners that they have the right to call a meeting of the salary board, of which they are a part, to invoke their power as a tax levying body to pass on salaries of the employes of elected officials.

Controller Robert G. Woodside replied to McGovern's threat:

"You mean you are going to try to force this. After all, it's just an opinion."

Woodside was referring to a recent opinion from the legal department substantiating their claim to power over salaries in the offices of elected officials.

If court action upholds the stand of the Commissioners, it will

Girl Sues Max Baer For $250,000 Balm

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 12.—(INS.)—A $250,000 heart balm suit against Max Baer, California heavyweight champion contender, had been filed here today by Miss Olive Beck, 20, of Livermore, the town near here where Baer was a butcher's assistant until he entered the ring two years ago.

Miss Beck alleged that she was engaged to the boxer for two years previous to his marriage in July, 1931, to pretty Dorothy Dunbar Wells, widow, divorcee and screen actress.

Libby's Baby Guarded In Kidnap Scare

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Guarded by city police, Libby Holman Reynolds' 3½-pound baby slept blissfully in his incubator-like bed in Pennsylvania Hospital here, unaware that he was the subject of a legal battle brewing today over the will of his dead father, Smith Reynolds.

Police were detailed to guard the hospital when kidnap threats were revealed against Ann Cannon Reynolds, child of the first wife of the scion of the tobacco family, from whom he was divorced. It was also reported Department of Justice agents had been asked to maintain a watch over the infant.

Hospital officials announced the infant was "perfectly healthy and normal for a premature baby."

Libby's room in the hospital was a bower of flowers. Many of the boxes came from persons unknown to her. With her were her mother and father.

Meanwhile, plans for a legal battle to insure the baby a portion of the $15,000,000 fund set up for Zachary Smith Reynolds by his father, R. J. Reynolds, founder of the tobacco fortune, got under way today in New York.

Boy Shackled, Beaten In Southern Chaingang

By DOROTHY DUCAS

International News Service.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 12.—Minus his former ambition to be a "knight of the road," David Kraft, 14, was safely back at his parents' home here today after experiencing six harrowing days and nights as a member of a South Carolina convict "chain gang."

David, his ankles galled and swollen from the leg chains he said he was compelled to wear, and bruised from alleged beatings at the hands of his guards, told his story to his parents.

He was rescued from the chain gang by his father, Julius Kraft, who rushed South upon receipt of a letter from his son, which had been smuggled out of the prison camp. David had been picked up in Greenville, S. C., penniless and was sentenced to 30 days in the chain gang for vagrancy.

He ran away from home on Christmas Day, he said, on a hitch-hiking expedition of his own to the South. All went well until he reached Greenville.

David admitted that fear he would suffer the tortures depicted in motion pictures of the chain gangs was responsible for most of his horror when he was sentenced.

Banker Admits Being Victimized; Senators Probe Debacle

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Drastic legislation to require independent audits of companies seeking to sell their securities to the public was recommended to the Senate stock market investigators today by Frank Altschul, chairman of the stock list committee of the New York Stock Exchange.

Called as a witness in the inquiry into the Kreuger & Toll financial collapse, Altschul, a tall, thin faced banker, readily agreed the exchange had been misled by the reputation of Sweden's "match king," Ivar Kreuger.

RULES CHANGED

He said the exchange had made a rule since the Kreuger fiasco that securities would not be listed without independent audits, and that he personally favored applying the rule to all companies seeking public funds, including those already listed.

Earlier the committee was told by Dr. Max Winkler, New York economist and president of the American Council of Foreign Bondholders, that Lee, Higginson & Co., which marketed Kreuger & Toll securities in this country, did not fulfill their duty to their customers.

BROKERS CRITICIZED

It was their duty, Winkler said, to prevent the substitution of inferior securities as collateral.

Winkler said the bonds would be worth about $490 today instead of $140 if inferior collateral had not been substituted.

Testimony also was presented by the economist that the assets in the Kreuger & Toll securities have been kept in Sweden, while the securities are on this side of the ocean.

Federal Reserve Head Under Attack in Filibuster

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—An open threat to block all Senate business in order to force currency inflation was made in the Senate today by Senator Wheeler, Montana Democrat, while a drastic cloture resolution was being prepared to break the filibuster against the Glass banking bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Talk of invoking the drastic cloture rule limiting debate was heard in the Senate today as Senator Long (Dem.), of Louisiana, entered the third day of his filibuster against the Glass banking reform bill, but indications were there was not enough support to apply the rule.

Senator Glass (Dem.), of Virginia, author of the bill, already had served notice he would force a vote on the controversial branch banking provisions by holding a night session in an effort to wear down the opposition.

The cloture discussion had not reached the state where a petition is circulated for the required 16 signatures in order to present such a motion. After such a petition, a two-thirds vote of the Senate is required to invoke debate limitation.

As he continued his filibuster against the bill Long turned his fire on Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

He asserted that Meyer, as chairman of the War Finance Corporation, "handled $90,000,000 of government bonds through the Eugene Meyer bond house in New York in the teeth of the law." He said:

"He confessed under oath—this man Eugene Meyer, head of the Federal Reserve Board, that we are about to turn the country over—lock, stock and barrel—that he sold through the Eugene Meyer bond house $90,000,000 worth of bonds of the United States government owned by the War Finance Corporation.

"Yet we have been out here hunting the boys with a pint of whisky on their hip."

BOMBING ROCKS NORTH SIDE HOMES

Windows Broken Over Wide Area, Score Endangered

The lives of nearly a score of persons were imperiled early today in a bomb explosion which partially wrecked a house at 1335 Page street, North Side, shattered windows and rocked more than a dozen other houses in the neighborhood.

Police, ascribing the bombing to North Side racketeers, said the bomb, made of powder with a time fuse attached, had been placed in the vestibule of the home of Sam Laquatra, 56, of 1335 Page street, owner of a fruit store at 1907 Beaver avenue.

WINDOWS SHATTERED

Every window in the Laquatra house was shattered, huge chunks of plaster ripped from the walls and portions of the destroyed front porch scattered over a wide radius. Scores of windows in the old Fifth Ward manual training school and the annex to the John Conroy public school, opposite the Laquatra home, were broken.

Police said the blast was felt over a radius of three to four miles and was heard in the downtown section.

While no one was injured, the 91-year-old mother of A. W. Carothers, 1334 Page street, was reported to be suffering from shock, and Miss Stella Zickis, 17, a daughter of Mrs. Nellie Zickis, 1337 Page street, said the force of the explosion jarred her from her bed. Kenneth Mixdorf, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burnie Mixdorf, in the same house, was undisturbed by the blast.

ILL MAN PERILED

Powder marks were found on the wall paper of the home of Willis Cooley, at 1333 Page street, police reported. Cooley is confined to his home by illness.

Sleeping in the Laquatra home at the time were Laquatra, his wife, Ida, 49; daughter, Lena, 20, and four sons, Angelo, 26; Jack, 24; Carl, 18, and Joseph, 16. They escaped unhurt. Laquatra told police he had no enemies and had not been threatened.

The damage to the Laquatra home and adjoining houses was estimated at $10,000 by Fire Capt. Harold Hookstein, of Engine Company No. 47.

NEW BEER BILL NEARLY READY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—The drafting of a new bill to legalize 3.2 per cent beer while removing all constitutional objections by the Senate Judiciary Sub-Committee neared completion today with but one controversial issue to be settled.

The sub-committee, headed by Senator Blaine (Rep.), of Wisconsin, "reported considerable progress." Blaine said he expected the group to report the new bill favorably tomorrow.

Blaine announced there would be a vote tomorrow on the adoption of certain language to legalize 3.2 per cent beer and after that the bill would be reported. He declined to say what issue was in controversy.

The new bill will outlaw all spirituous liquor and all malt beverages actually intoxicating, but will remove all federal penalties for beer containing 3.2 or less per cent of alcohol. Advocates of this plan declared it would not be subject to a constitutional attack in the courts.

CUT IN COUNTY PAY LIKELY

mean that over the objection of an elected officer, the Commissioners can regulate the salaries and positions of his office. Such authority would result in wholesale reductions and dismissals.

Salaries and positions in the various elective offices have always been acted on by the salary board, which is made up of the three Commissioners, the Controller and the elective officer whose office force is under consideration. There has been no meeting of the salary board pertaining to elective office personnel for some time.

Court action is still pending on the right of Sheriff Frank I. Gollmar to hire extra deputies and set their salary. The Commissioners have refused to approve his bill for salaries, taking the stand that he should have called a salary board meeting. Gollmar and other elective officers are reluctant to ask for salary board meetings because of the action Commissioners might take on their personnel.

First consideration of the actual budget requests for 1933 was given by the Commissioners to the Board of Viewers and the Law Library. A cut of $125 was made in the budget estimate of the viewers, and $445 was cut from the $35,000 Law Library estimate.

M'GOVERN TO ACT

Chairman McGovern said last night that he intended his board cut down on salaries and personnel in the elective offices, and that the heads of the various county governmental branches could make the best of it. He said:

"We will tell them what they can have."

The Building Owners and Managers Association and the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board were ready to make recommendations for economy as the county budget sessions opened today.

The Building Owners, in a letter signed by J. W. Bamford, chairman of the taxation committee, suggested a 20 per cent wage and salary cut for all county employes commencing with the Commissioners.

Reduction of the county tax 1 mill to 7⅜ mills, was demanded. A 50 per cent reduction in cost of operating county buildings set up in 1933 budget was suggested.

The Real Estate Board asked for consideration of the "plight of the taxpayers" and said it would have definite economy recommendations later.

Nearly half of the estimates for the 1933 budget will be necessary for fixed charges and out of control of the Commissioners. A total of $9,258,094 will be required for redemption of, and interest on bonds issued some years ago, during the $40,000,000 improvement program.

The present tax levy is 8⅜ mills, exclusive of the 3-mill poor tax.

A week ago the Controller's office made public increases of approximately $17,500,000 in real estate and personal property assessments for this year. However, George Meyers, head of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes has announced that he will not be prepared to give his estimates for this year's assessments to the Commissioners until the last of the month.

The 1933 assessment on real estate will be increased approximately $8,000,000, making the total about $1,825,967,240. The increase in assessments on personal property is $9,500,000, making the total $497,804,000. Meyers termed this somewhat high. He said part of the increase, which will be shown in his figures later, will be through discoveries that there was much personal property left off the assessment books.

NEED OF RELIEF CITED BY GREEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Appearing before the Senate Manufactures Committee, which is considering the La Follette-Costigan $500,000,000 relief bill, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today declared:

"Nearly half of our population is now living below the minimum needed to maintain health and efficiency."

Green explained that private contributions to relief needs made through community chests will be 20 per cent less this year than last year. He added:

"Yet the demand for relief is rapidly rising."

John Barton Payne, national chairman of the Red Cross, testified his organization is meeting "only 20 per cent of the relief needs of America."

Loses Tax Money, Ends Life by Gas

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—For three months Philip Waxstein, 46, saved his money to pay his city taxes.

Today he had the $60 needed and started for the tax collector's office. On the way, he lost the money.

He returned home and ended his life, police said, with gas.

First Bank Closes In Butler County

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 12.—Butler County's first bank closing occurred today, when the Millerstown Deposit Bank, a private institution in Chicora, failed to open.

Judge Thomas W. Watson, on petition of bank officials, named the Butler County National Bank and Trust Company, the Butler Savings and Trust Company and the Union Trust Company, all of Butler, to liquidate the assets.

Henry J. Myers, president, said he expected the bank would pay 100 cents on the dollar.

CHESTER OUT IN PROBE

stated that some of it was paid in accordance with instructions received from Chester.

Chester at that time was representing both companies, from whom the county purchased tons of lake asphalt cement.

The commission checks were made payable to Davenport. Three of them, according to the report, had not only Davenport's indorsement, but also Chester's.

The amount of these checks corresponded with Chester's bank deposits, and it was also contained in the report that withdrawals in the same amount were made a few days after the checks had been deposited.

Chester, questioned by the auditors, said that due to the lapse of time he was unable to explain why the checks in question bore his endorsement.

PURCHASE COST

The purchase of lake asphalt cement from both companies was made at twice the cost of petroleum cement. It was cited in the report that both kinds of cement were used in the county's asphalt plant, but the plant head had nothing to do with the selection.

A letter from the County Controller, R. G. Woodside, in July, 1930, protesting the purchase of the high-priced asphalt on the grounds that it was not superior to the petroleum variety, was included in the report.

The report also took figures from the United States Department of Commerce showing that the amount of petroleum asphalt cement used for paving in the United States was 14 times greater than the lake variety. The county used the cement it purchased for paving.

SPECIFICATION

The report also noted that in bidding for the lake product the county specified the asphaltic base contained in lake asphalt, and advertised accordingly. Bids were received from only one bidder, the Berber concern, prior to 1931 and the Lake Asphalt and Petroleum Company in 1931. This, the report said, indicated a lack of competition.

If the county had purchased petroleum cement exclusively as suggested in the Controller's letter of July, 1930, thereafter until the close of the year the county would have saved more than $80,000, according to the report.

In 1930 the Commissioners split a bid for petroleum asphalt cement between the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania and the Mexican Petroleum Company. By splitting the business between the two companies, the county paid $653.99 more than it would have had it purchased the entire quantity from the lowest bidder, the Mexican company.

Father and Son Save Mother, 5 From Fire

ST. PAUL, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—While flames singed their hair and blistered their backs, a father and his 17-year-old son lowered a mother and five children from the second floor of their burning home early today.

The father, Salvatore Ruberto, 38, was taken to a hospital suffering from burns and cuts. The others received minor burns.

Household Expenses Up Since He Wed Princess

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Belying the old adage that two can live as cheaply as one, Prince Gustav Adolf, a member of the Swedish royal family, applied for an increase in his allowance today and was flatly rejected by the social democratic government because of the country's economic condition.

Prince Gustav recently married Princess Sybille of Saxe Coburg Gotha. His advisers informed him that since the wedding, his household expenses had increased from 90,000 to 100,000 kroner a year.

Meanwhile, King Gustave and the Crown Prince informed the government that they wished their allowances reduced the same as last year.

STATE TO FARM SNIPES BABY

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 12.—(Universal.)—Despite the fact that Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, expectant mother, has been saved from the electric chair by executive clemency, her baby, expected within a week, will be born within prison walls, it was revealed today.

Gov. Blackwood yesterday commuted the death sentence of Mrs. Snipes, convicted of the murder of a highway policeman, to life imprisonment, announcing that he took the action "because of public sentiment."

As plans went forward today for the baby's birth, preparations were being made for its adoption. The mother said:

"I can't bear to think of not keeping my baby with me. But you see I can't, here. And there is no place for the baby to go."

Hoover Veto Seen For Philippine Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Expectation that President Hoover will veto the Philippines' independence bill without delay increased at the Capital today following a conference between the executive, Secretary Hurley and Chairman Hare, of the House Insular Committee.

NAME RECEIVER FOR CAR PLANT

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Vice Chancellor John O. Bigelow today said he had appointed receivers for the Pressed Steel Car Company of Pittsburgh, a $50,000,000 corporation, which manufactures 20 per cent of the steel railroad cars used in the country.

The receivers are Julius S. Rippel, Newark banker, and L. Edward Herman, attorney, of Jersey City.

Pressed Steel Car Company today filed suit in the Federal Court against D. B. Heiner, Collector of Internal Revenue, seeking recovery of $43,604 with interest from January, 1928.

The company alleged this amount was erroneously collected as income and profit taxes. It stated that gross income of $226,553 paid to it by the United States Government for amortization of war facilities was erroneously included in the tax statement. In addition, $157,927, representing payment for salvage of machinery, was included.

The company also stated that it had failed to eliminate $51,565, representing payments made to the Western Steel Car and Foundry Company, a subsidiary, for salvage of machinery.

Italian Ambassador Stresses Friendship

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Augusto Rosso, new Italian ambassador to the United States, arrived today on the liner Conte Di Savoia and said he had received instructions to do everything possible to aid the cause of Italian-American friendship which, he said, Premier Mussolini considers an important link in the reconstruction of the world.

'Smoke Fighter' Meller Urges 2 Hours for Lunch

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Take it from H. B. Meller—and he's an expert—if you are an office or factory worker in a large industrial center, you probably need two hours off for lunch.

Meller is chief of Pittsburgh's Bureau of Smoke Regulation, and he described investigations into air hygiene last night for the Cleveland Chapter of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers.

He admitted the quest of science for pure air is far from complete, but asserted that enough is known to point the way to changed working conditions in industrial and commercial plants. He said:

"For instance, if the shorter work-day is adopted, it may be found highly desirable for both health and efficiency reasons, to have a general two-hour midday lunch period, much of which would be spent outdoors in the open sunshine."

Meller explained that ultra-violet emanations from the sun do not reach the street level in abundance before 10 a. m., or after 3 p. m. He added:

"The body has the sun thirst only in these hours."

For that reason, he said, a horter working day would afford greater time for the worker to obtain the benefits of solar radiation.

Society Woman Marries Prince, Store Doorman

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—A surprise wedding has united Mrs. Vernon Magoffin Siems, wealthy society woman, to a Russian prince, who came to America to earn his living when the red flag was raised over his native land.

An announcement here disclosed that Mrs. Siems and Prince Irbian-Khan Kaplanoff, descendant of an erstwhile ruling family in the North Caucasus, were married Tuesday in a private hotel suite in Greenwich, Conn. A justice of the peace performed the ceremony in the presence of a small group, which included Princess Simon Sidamon-Eristoff and Prince Georges Matchabelli.

When Prince Kaplanoff came to this country he was, like many other Russian noblemen, impoverished. The Daily News said he found employment as a department store doorman and that Mrs. Siems first met him when she was shopping at the store.

As far back as 734 A. D., his ancestors appear in history as rulers. During the World War, he served with his regiment, suffering two wounds. He was decorated several times for bravery and later commanded a cavalry regiment during the Civil War.

The bride is descended from a line of colonial governors. This is her fourth marriage. Her first husband, Chester P. Siems, St. Paul railroad builder and millionaire, died in 1918. Divorces terminated subsequent marriages to Rushton P. Peabody and George Drexel Steel.

PICCARD PULLED ROSE THORNS, NOT TEETH OF DOG

STRATOSPHERE EXPLORER IN U. S.

Outlines Plans for Further Study of Cosmic Rays

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Auguste Piccard, Belgian stratosphere flier, arrived in America today and the first thing he did was to refuse to talk to newspapermen until they quit smoking.

The next, as soon as the smoke was cleared from the room on the steamer Champlain, was to deny a report that to protect his children back home in Belgium he had extracted the teeth of a vicious dog which belonged to a neighbor.

The denial was brought forth by a rising storm of protest wired to Piccard's lecture agents in New York from American lovers who threatened not to attend the lectures, if the dog story were true.

PULLED ROSE THORNS

Piccard explained thta he had merely bent or pulled thorns off some rose bushes in his garden to protect his children from being scratched. He said this was probably the origin of the dog story.

His biographer, Sylvester Dorian, said that Piccard had been worried sometime ago by fears that his children might be attacked by a vicious dog belonging to a neighbor.

There were exclamations of wonder aboard ship when Piccard's identical twin brother, Jean, scientist and chemist of Wilmington, Del., came aboard. They were so nearly alike in appearance that onlookers seemed unable to tell which was which when they were separated in the crowds.

Piccard explained he had come to lecture to paid audiences and also to visit scientific laboratories and scientists and particularly to discuss his plans for having someone make a balloon ascension to Canada near the Magnetic Pole, to further the study of the mystery of the origin of cosmic rays.

COSMIC RAY ENERGY

His spokesman, Dorian, said that Piccard has evolved some theories that after man has used up all his coal, oil and other power producing fuels, he may be able to use the cosmic rays as a source of energy.

The energy from three drops of water, for example, according to this Piccard theory, would be sufficient to light New York City for about 24 hours.

Piccard also talked about rocket planes flying through the stratosphere and estimated that six hours would be a reasonable length of time for a trip from Europe to America.

HUNT MISSING PHYSICIAN

CANONSBURG, Pa., Jan. 12.—Search for Dr. Paul Eckstein, 38, was being made throughout the Tri-state district today following his disappearance from his home early yesterday.

A description of the physician and his automobile, bearing National Guard license plates No. 323, were broadcast last night over the police teletype system. He is a captain in the 103rd Medical Regiment, National Guard.

Dr. Eckstein, it was said, was recovering from an attack of the flu, and had visited patients on Monday and Tuesday. His wife discovered his absence early yesterday morning. He had been practicing here 10 years. He resided with his wife and three children, Claudia, 9; Paul F., 7, and Judith, three months, at 329 Hawthorne street.

Youth Missing, Aid In Hunt Asked Here

Simon M. Lutz, Jr., 22, son of Maj. Simon M. Lutz, of Lutzville, Bedford County, retired Army officer, has been missing since Christmas, it was revealed today when the Missing Persons Bureau was asked to join in the search state police have been making.

According to Maj. Lutz, in a letter to the Missing Persons Bureau, his son, a senior, left Juniata College, Huntingdon, with a stranger on Christmas, and had confided to classmates he was going to Florida.

Free Driver in Death Of Sleuth's Mother

Conrad W. Gastel, 37, of 42 Carnival way, was acquitted of a charge of involuntary manslaughter in Criminal Court today, and the costs were placed on the County. Gastel was accused in connection with the death, last December 9, of Mrs. Anna Mulvihill, mother of City Detective Thomas Mulvihill. It was testiged Gastel's car skidded on the wet pavement at Butler and Sixty-second streets, fatally injuring Mrs. Mulvihill.

Rockefeller Adds To Daily Golfing

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Jan. 12.—(Universal.)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., shot six holes of golf yesterday, two more than he has ventured thus far this season. Three ministers made up the 93-year-old millionaire's foursome.

Rockefeller resumed his daily golf December 24 with one hole and is gradually increasing the game as he feels able. He has said he will play nine holes before the season ends.

Prince's Troth To Commoner Stirs Turmoil

PRINCESS JULIANA

Women Aspiring to Royal Wifehood Lead Foes

STOLBERG, Germany, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—This small Harz mountain town has been split into two opposing camps over the engagement a month ago of Prince Heinrich Stolberg, 29, the sole male heir of this princely line, to Irma Erfert, 19, the daughter of a Magdeburg civil servant.

His family, which wishes the prince to marry the Dutch Princess Juliana, opposes the match, but is unable to prevent it because Heinrich is their chief. Queen Wilhelmina and Princess Juliana repeatedly visited in Stolberg last summer while vacationing nearby.

One group of the inhabitants here is disgruntled by the Prince's choice because they expected economic advantages from a marriage to Juliana.

Irma, who grew up in the home of the Stolberg burgomeister, became acquainted with the prince four years ago.

The Prince is enjoying the greatest sympathies of the population, but when the engagement was announced he became the target of intrigue, especially from the womenfolk, who saw hopes of becoming the Princess of Stolberg spoiled.

Betty Compson Sees Return of Jewels

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12.—(Universal.)—Betty Compson, motion picture actress who lost $35,000 in jewels last week to bandits who entered her home, was back here today from Agua Caliente, Mexico. Miss Compson has not recovered her jewels, according to police. The actress hinted she expected to again come into possession of her valuables through negotiations made at the Mexican resort.

MORSE, FORMER FINANCE KING, DIES AT 77

'Come-Back' of Ship Magnate After Term In Prison Recalled

BATH, Me., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Charles W. Morse, 77, financier, ice king and shipping magnate, whose sensational career saw him twice the possessor of fortunes reckoned in millions of dollars and once a prisoner in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, died at his home here today.

He had been ill a week with pneumonia, but was believed on the way to recovery.

Morse last appeared in the public eye seven years ago when he, his three sons and eight others, were indicted for conspiracy to defraud the United States and the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

PARDONED BY TAFT

The charges grew out of Morse's post war efforts to organize a gigantic shipping combine similar to those which won him fame and fortune 25 years before.

The case dragged through the courts for many months, finally ending in the acquittal of Morse and his associates.

During the litigation the capitalist was stricken with a paralytic stroke from which he was not expected to recover, but he regained his health and returned to his home here to retire. He had not been active for the past year.

The Shipping Board case was Morse's second entanglement with the law. Following a series of financial disasters in 1907, which cost him his personal fortune, estimated at $22,000,000, and control of the $350,000,000 enterprises he had organized, Morse was convicted of misapplication of the funds of one of his banks. He was sentenced to 15 years in the Federal Penitentiary and served two years, after which President Taft pardoned him because his health was judged to be so bad he had not long to live.

FORMED ICE MONOPOLY

For two years Morse fought to avoid serving his sentence and during that time, through operations in the stock market, recouped $7,500,000 of his shattered fortune.

One of Morse's sensational financial exploits was the merger in 1900 of 21 independent New York ice companies to form the American Ice Company. His $60,000,000 combine boosted the price of ice from 30 cents to 60 cents a hundredweight on one hot New York day, bringing down an official inquiry on the heads of Morse and his associates and making his name one to conjure with on the New York Stock Exchange.

Morse was married twice. His first wife, mother of his four children, died in 1897. His second marriage, in 1901, to Mrs. Clemence Cowles Dodge, divorced wife of Charles F. Dodge, San Francisco Pullman conductor, involved him in legal complications.

The financier's relatives, opposed to the marriage, waged an unsuccessful fight in court to have it annulled.

The second Mrs. Morse died in 1926.

Seek Pair in Attack Upon Aged Farmer

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 12.—State police and County Detective H. M. Lee are seeking two thugs who beat John Pfiel, 67, a farmer, when they failed to get money from him.

One of the men was ransacking the house and the other was trying to imprison Pfiel in a corncrib when a couple residing with Pfiel drove up to the house. The thugs fled.

The Volpes in Their Hearing Before a 'Squire

JOSEPH VOLPE — LOUIS VOLPE — GUY VOLPE — JUSTICE BERNARD VOLK

Justice of the Peace Volk (behind the lamp) as he conducted his hearing in Versailles Township for the three Volpes—brothers of the three slain last July in a Wylie avenue coffee shop. Joseph and Louis were held for court, released under bond of $3,000 each. Brother Guy was discharged on a surety of the peace charge. They were state police prisoners. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

ANOTHER VOLPE BOY HUNTED

Two Volpe brothers, Louis and Joe, remnants of the once powerful Volpe clan that ruled Wilmerding, before Jim, Johnny and Arthur were "bumped off," today were under $3,000 bond each on charges based on the beating of Louis Lucarelli, a Wilmerding tinsmith. Another brother, Guy, was discharged, and a fourth brother, Mallie, was being sought by constables from Justice of the Peace Bernard Volk's office, where the informations were made.

A second information, made by Lucarelli's mother, Vincenzaia Lucarelli, charged Louis threatened to blow up her home because she refused to allow him to store liquor there. Louis also was charged with threatening Carmine Severino, of Wilmerding. Joseph was held on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, brought by state police, and assault and battery, brought by Lucarelli.

Gennare Caporose, of Portland, Me., arrested on suspicion, is being held by state police pending investigation.

'Pow Wow' Powder Blast Injures Man

ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Engaged in preparing "information powders" for use in alleged "pow wow" activities, Abram Byers, 67, of Woodbury, today was badly hurt in an explosion in the garage at his home.

At Nason Hospital Byers hampered doctors by refusing to take ether because of his pow wow beliefs.

Steubenville Girl Being Sought Here

The Missing Persons Bureau today was searching for Mary Racity, 27, of Steubenville, O., who disappeared Christmas Eve. The disappearance was reported to police by Mrs. William Russell, an aunt, of Steubenville.

Weather Conditions.

Pressure changes were rapid during the last 24 hours. The low that was centered over Eastern Ontario yesterday morning is now in the Far Northeast, while the center that appeared in the Far Northwest is now over South Dakota. The eastern low produced light rain over most of the eastern states, but the western low produced only light snowfall on its northern side, in Canada and in North Dakota and Minnesota. There was a marked drop in temperature over the states east of the Mississippi, while over the plains states temperatures are rising. Freezing temperatures prevail this morning over all of the interior of the country, but there are no zero temperatures except in Canada and along the border.

DR. WOLLE DIES; BACH MUSICIAN

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Dr. J. Fred Wolle, whose organization of Bach music festivals made him nationally known in music circles, died today after a long illness. He was 69.

Born here April 4, 1863, Wolle for years was a prominent figure in the musical world, an authority on the work of John Sebastian Bach, an organist and conductor.

An eminent musician in his own right, it was as an interpreter of Bach's music and as organizer and conductor of the world famous Bethlehem Bach Choir and director of the Bach Festival that Dr. Wolle gained his greatest fame.

Music lovers everywhere have credited him with supplying the inspiration that developed the choir to its position as one of the greatest musical organizations of its kind.

COOLIDGE NOT INSURABLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—The report, current in insurance circles, that the late Calvin Coolidge had been secretly suffering from heart trouble which made him non-insurable, was confirmed today by an executive of an insurance association who requested his name not be used. The executive said:

"It was well-known in the trade that a heart ailment marked Mr. Coolidge as a poor risk and none of the larger insurance companies would issue a policy to him.

"How long Mr. Coolidge suffered from this condition is unknown."

HOSPITAL DEATH CASE NEAR END

A jury of nine men and three women was expected to retire today in the murder case against Edward Hennigen, 42, attendant in the insane ward of St. Francis Hospital, David M. Linton, 53, of Bethel Township, died September 4 from injuries Hennigen is alleged to have inflicted while Linton was a patient in the hospital.

Visiting Judge C. M. Culver, of Bradford County, was to charge the jury today, after Assistant District Attorney John F. Haggerty made his argument. Edward G. Coll, for the defendant, made his closing argument before court adjourned last night.

Hennigen, on the witness stand, had denied any knowledge of how Linton received his fatal injuries, although Linton had been placed in leg irons when he became violent three days before his death. It was the contention of the defense that Linton injured himself.

3 Sing Sing Inmates Go to Chair Tonight

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Three murderers are to go to the electric chair tonight, three a week from tonight.

Those to die tonight are Peter (Crazy) Harris, who killed Michael Vassil by mistake while shooting at an Olean, N. Y., policeman, and Thomas Carpenter and Charles Bates, who slew a Bronx grocer in a holdup.

STAIN PROVIDES BANDMASTER DEATH CLUE

Schildhauer Widow Ordered Under Surveillance

By GEORGE C. GALLATI
International News Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Spurred on by discovery of a bloodstain in the building where Capt. Edwin O. Schildhauer lived before his puzzling murder, police closely guarded the home today while a minute search of the interior was made for further clues.

Guards were placed in the three-story apartment building for the purpose of keeping the pretty widow, Frances, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Birkinshaw, under surveillance, Police Capt. John Stege said.

MINUTE SEARCH

As detectives proceeded with their minute search of the building, every inch of which was to be scrutinized closely, Stege disclosed that he is investigating the possibility that the bandmaster was carried out of the apartment dead. His widow maintains that Schildhauer was abducted on the front sidewalk and forced into the automobile from which the body was later dumped in gangland fashion.

The stain of blood was found on the right top post of the steps leading from the porch to the sidewalk. Apparent efforts to wash the stain away had reduced its size considerably, Stege asserted. He said he had been informed the stain was much larger on the day of the funeral.

Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, Coroner's chemist, identified the stain as that of blood after a close inspection.

ANALYSIS NEEDED

Dr. Muehlberger first said it was a stain from human blood but later announced that it would require 24 hours of analysis to make certain.

Meanwhile, new light was thrown on the comely widow's admitted illicit love affairs by the testimony of Joseph Angelski, former law clerk for Paul Walton, disbarred attorney, who is said to have been intimate with Mrs. Schildhauer. Angelski said Mrs. Schildhauer had urged Walton to divorce his wife, Stege disclosed.

Federal authorities questioned the widow about possible violation of the Mann act during her trip to Memphis with Carl Bradberry, former deputy sheriff, who had admitted illicit relations with the widow.

In their search of the apartment for more evidence of blood detectives took down a set of velvet drapes and took them away for analysis of several spots discovered on them. Stains were found in the first floor vestibule which might be blood. A vestibule wall had been scraped, detectives said.

FIGHT MAD DOG, SAVE CHILDREN

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—A daring battle of two men against a large dog, maddened with rabies, was credited today with having saved several children, playing nearby, from attacks by the animal.

The men succeeded in trapping the dog in the cab of an auto truck, where he was held until a dog warden arrived.

The animal was in a violent stage of the disease, H. K. Ferry, another warden, said, adding:

"When they're like that they always jump for the throat. He might have killed any number of children".

The dog first attacked Charles Masek late yesterday. Holding the animal at bay with a club, Masek shouted for help and was answered by Ernest Card, who was driving past in a truck.

Card attracted the dog's attention and when it rushed at him, jumped into the cab and out again on the other side, slamming the door behind him. Masek, who had followed the dog, shut the door on the other side, and the animal was imprisoned.

Washington Places Quarantine on Dogs

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—All the dogs in Washington were obliged to stay home today and—as if a dog's life isn't bad enough—they can't leave home for a long time. Mayor Robert E. Griffiths, announcing that rabies is prevalent, declared a quarantine on all dogs in the city for 120 days.

FATHER COX ILL LONG TIME

Announcement that Father Cox of Old St. Patrick's is a patient in Mercy Hospital did not come as a complete surprise to his intimate friends, who, for a long time, have known he has been ill. Notwithstanding his condition, he has kept close to his work of providing aid for the needy. Physicians who knew of his condition advised a thorough examination several weeks ago and it was for this delayed purpose that he went to Mercy Hospital Tuesday.

Dr. Gilbert E. Meyers, his attending physician, will not know until late today or tomorrow the outcome of the examination. In any event Father Cox will be advised to slow down in his activities for the time being.

In the meantime the Father Cox-Sun-Telegraph subscription drive will be continued for the benefit of his unemployment relief fund. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page brings a liberal cash commission to this fund.

Johnstown Council Reduces Tax Rate

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 12.—Johntown's tax rate was reduced 1½ mills when Council, acting unanimously last night, voted the reduction at the behest of a taxpayers' committee of 110. Mayor Eddie McCloskey suddenly switched his opposition to the reduction and declared in favor of it for "phychological effect."

The same committee, it is said, will wage a similar fight with the Johnstown School Board and the County Commissioners to reduce taxes. The committee also pledged its backing to the Mayor and councilmen in an effort to force down the city's water and electric light bills to the level of 1917.

CIPHER 'TOUGH' AS FORECAST

By KENNETH A. NAGEL
Cipher Editor.

What a Cipher No. 40 is turning out to be. Everyone is complaining. "Bogie" was right when he said it was a tough one.

After you read the tip you may solve it. This is a Typewriter Cipher. Now the Cipher Editor believes that is a clue that is hot.

Go to a typewriter and take notice just how the keys are arranged. That should be clear enough for everyone.

Watch tomorrow's paper for a new original cipher and the answer to No. 40.

KILLS HUSBAND AFTER QUARREL

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Domestic quarrels that lasted for years culminated today in the slaying of Evert McCabe, 45, well-to-do businessman, in his luxurious apartment in Woodstock Tower. Detectives said his wife, Garnett, middle-aged, and the mother of three children, admitted shooting him.

Two men who were overnight guests of the McCabes told police that before dawn they heard quarreling in the McCabes' bedroom. McCabe started toward the bathroom. His wife followed, she later told detectives, and shot him in the head.

Screaming, she pounded on the guest room door, crying:

"I've just shot my husband."

McCabe was vice president of the United Parcel Service.

TECH FRESHMAN IN DEATH LEAP FROM BRIDGE

A nervous condition resulting from overwork was ascribed by police today as the motive for the death leap of Robert S. Stouffer, 18, freshman art student at Carnegie Institute of Technology, from the Panther Hollow Bridge, Schenley Park, late yesterday.

Stouffer also had been despondent because of an incident that impaired his chances of obtaining a fraternity pledge, friends said.

In view of horrified motorists, Stouffer leaped from the span, 150 feet above the hollow. He died a half hour later in Homeopathic Hospital.

Stouffer, whose home was in Pottstown, Pa., attempted to hang himself Tuesday night in the shower room in McGill Hall, police said they learned from other students.

In Stouffer's pockets detectives found six letters. They were addressed to his parents, relatives and friends. A note asking that his brother be notified, read:

"He will see that these letters are delivered. No one is to blame but myself."

The contents of the letters were not revealed. The missives will be turned over to the brother, who arrived here last night from Aliquippa, where he is employed. The body was removed to a Wilkinsburg undertaking establishment.

Stouffer was valedictorian of his graduating class at Pottstown last June. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris S. Stouffer.

HOUSE 'GUNNER' SENT HOME

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Marlin R. M. Kemmerer, 25-year-old Allentown (Pa.) store clerk, who last month sought to address the House of Representatives at gun's point from the galleries, yesterday was allowed to return to his home in custody of his family.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover held the best interests of the man, who said his startling act during a busy House session was prompted by a desire to present to Congress his views on remedying general conditions in the country, would be served through such disposition.

Representative Maas (Rep.), of Minnesota, who persuaded Kemmer to toss down to him his loaded and cocked .38-caliber revolver before attempting the speech, and Representative Lichtenwalner, Democrat, from the man's home town, agreed to Rover's conclusion.

'FIFI' WIDENER WED THIRD TIME

RENO, Nev., Jan. 12.—(Universal.)—Aksel C. P. Wichfeld, former Danish legation attache at Washington, and Mrs. Josephine (Fifi) Widener Holden, Eastern heiress, were married here last night shortly after Wichfeld obtained a divorce in Carson City from Mabelle F. Swift Wichfeld.

The ceremony was performed at the home of William Woodburn, who acted as attorney for Mrs. Holden and for Wichfeld when they obtained their Nevada divorces. Judge Clark Guild officiated. Early in the day the judge had been granted a divorce from the former Mabelle Swift.

The marriage was Mrs. Holden's third. Her first, to Carter Randolph Leidy, with whom she eloped when she was 17, ended in divorce, as did her second marriage, to Milton W. Holden, of Philadelphia.

2 Firemen Overcome At Ambridge Blaze

AMBRIDGE, Jan. 12.—Fire early today damaged the second-hand store of J. Elliott at 1231 Merchant street. Two firemen were overcome by smoke, but were revived on the scene. The fire, of undetermined origin, did $3,000 damage to the two-story frame building.

Ellwood City Bank Closing Explained

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Shrinkage of deposits, Cashier Garbach of the First National Bank of Ellwood City, said last night, was the cause of the institution's closing yesterday. The bank was closed by action of its board of directors.

Safety Seen Through Non-Fix Auto Tags

That the new "non-fixable" traffic tags will definitely contribute to a reduction in accidents in Pittsburgh this year was suggested today by City Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre as a probable effect of the new enforcement system.

Only 800 tags were given out during the first week of operation of the new system comparing with a former daily average of from 500 to 1,000 tags, according to a report made yesterday.

Father, Near Death, Calls for Children

John Mutznick, 70, yesterday appealed to police to find his son and daughter who left home eight years ago following a heated quarrel.

Mutznick, who suffered a stroke shortly after his wife died last Thanksgiving, has been bedfast at the home of his other daughter, Mrs. Susan Pfeiffer, Vondera Plan, Homestead. He is near death. The missing daughter, Ruth, is believed to be living near Johnstown, while the son, John, is believed to be working in Blawnox.

Clear West Newton Man in Auto Theft

William Garrison, 30, of West Newton, was exonerated of any part in the theft of an automobile in Dayton O., according to Chief of Police J. J. Whalen, of McKeesport, after the Ohio officials ordered him released.

H Leslie Morgan, former chief of police of Trafford, arrested with Garrison and another man in McKeesport, on the same charge, was returned to Ohio to face federal prosecution for the theft. Garrison was discharged in McKeesport police court Saturday.

Railroad Official Dies in Bryn Mawr

Compton Mackenzie Fined for His Book

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Compton Mackenzie, accused of violating the "official secrets act" in his book, "Greek Memories," was fined £100 today and directed to pay court costs not exceeding £100.

The ruling was handed down at the end of a brief hearing at Old Bailey Court during which there was testimony by Sir Ian Hamilton and Rear Admiral William Fortescue to establish the author's loyalty to the Crown.

Homestead Losses By Fire Increase

In his annual report Fire Chief Herman Samuels, of Homestead, last night set the total damage done by fire in the borough last year at $440,000, two-thirds of which was to property and one-third to the contents of the buildings burned. This figure is four times greater than that of 1931. The report stated that the fire company answered 272 alarms last year, 28 of which were false and seven were outside the borough.

Panhandlers Denied Nickel Slash Man

North Side police today sought two panhandlers who slashed the throat of John Herman, 32, of 44 Yetta street, when he refused to give them a nickel in Anderson street near East Lacock street last night, police said.

One of the men slashed Herman's throat with a penknife when he refused their request, Herman, treated at Allegheny General Hospital, was unable to describe his assailants.

CATHODIC RAY COSTS HAND

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Universal Service.

BERLIN, Jan. 12. — Heinrich Wanke, the first human on whom the 2,500,000-volt cathodic ray beam was used in an attempt to kill cancerous growths, has had a hand amputated, it was learned today.

The three beams of cathodic rays were too strong and blood poisoning set in. Lying in his hospital bed today, Wanke said:

"I submitted to the ray treatment because I understood I would soon lose my hand anyhow, and I hoped the treatment might save it. After the treatment the big growth began to flatten. It shrank to half its previous size. The doctors seemed satisfied and I was convinced I was being cured.

"But soon a red line began running up my arm and the doctors diagnosed blood poisoning. The hand was amputated January 2.

"Even if I have no more cancer, I have lost a hand."

VIEWS WORLD AFTER 25 YRS.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—There have been a lot of changes, but after all, it's the same old world.

So declared Merton Munn, paroled slayer, as he stepped from the state's prison at Stillwater yesterday, a free man for the first time in more than a quarter of a century.

Once sentenced to hang, and later getting a life term from the Governor, Munn went on an automobile tour of the Twin Cities en route to his new home at the Minnesota Soldiers home here.

Of his first automobile ride he said:

"Not bad."

Speaking of the scenery he declared:

"A few more houses where there used to be farms."

He got a closeup view of an airplane at the municipal airport. He said:

"Going to ride in one soon's I can."

FEW DOG TAGS ISSUED TO DATE

With less than one-sixth of the dogs in Allegheny County licensed for 1933, T. B. Streams and Veryl D. Johnson, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, today urged procurement of licenses before January 15 to avoid prosecution.

Streams, field agent from Harrisburg, and Johnson, local agent, said that only 5,000 licenses had been issued in the county, outside of Pittsburgh, to date. This is half of the number issued at this time last year. Last year's total was 32,500. State dog licenses are issued through the County Treasurer or may be procured through aldermen and justices of the peace.

VOTE REFORMS TO BE URGED

Permanent registration and other election reforms which it is believed would increase the independent vote in Pittsburgh by 60,000 are to be discussed tonight at a dinner meeting at the Keystone Athletic Club at 6 o'clock.

W. P. Witherow will preside, and Frank J. Harris and R. Templeton Smith will speak. There will be a general discussion on the means of supporting election reform bills in the Legislature. Alexander P. Lindsay, president of the Pennsylvania Elections Conference, will talk on the elimination of the "phantom" vote.

Children's Theater To Present Play

The Children's Theater of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement will present "The Sleeping Beauty," following the annual meeting Sunday afternoon. The play will be a feature in connection with a reception in honor of Miss Anna B. Haldman, veteran settlement worker.

GIRL'S BROTHER SLAYS ATHLETE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Albert James McCoy, 27-year-old athlete, facing trial on a charge of assaulting Miss Mary Doolittle last July, was shot to death here last night and her brother was arrested.

McCoy was slain in a downtown street, officers said, by a man who stepped from the entryway of a department store and announced:

"Your time has come."

Minus Doolittle, 24, surrendered to a traffic officer, W. Cockrell, and made a statement. R. W. Stappenbeck, justice of the peace, returned a verdict of murder.

McCoy was arrested July 8 on complaint of Miss Doolittle, who said she had been picked up at a corner by a motorist who offered to drive her home and, instead, had carried her to the country and attacked her.

The athlete was released under bond and the case was set for trial in February.

MAURICE MUM ABOUT YVONNE

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Charges made in a Paris divorce court by counsel for his wife, Yvonne Vallee, that he refused to see her when she came here, went unanswered today by Maurice Chavalier, movie actor, when he was asked for a statement at Paramount studios. He said:

"I could swear that I have been an honest man with Yvonne and that it is only incompatibility that caused us to make the mutual decision to separate.

"In spite of everything, we are the best of friends.

"Everything has been settled to our entire satisfaction."

MIDNIGHT BAN ON POOLROOMS

Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh wants all poolrooms and bowling alleys closed after midnight, and will revoke the license of those places not observing the city closing ordinance, he told all senior police captains today.

Walsh's order followed a raid made early today on the New Club Alleys, 12 McMasters way, where, it was testified today before Leo Rothenberg two men were playing pool at 12:45 a. m. Robert Gilmore, manager, was fined $10.

Brain and Courage Needed To Make a Comeback

Here's the story of a girl who decided to live her own life. Laws? Conventions? She scorned them. Warnings? She laughed at them.

"I know what I'm doing!" she cried. So for three years she lived "a free life."

And now that "freedom" has become a hateful trap. So then what?

Should the law she has flouted come to her aid? She thinks it should—as many another frantic girl has done before her.

Perhaps you'll despise her when you read her letter, and wonder why we print such spineless stuff; or perhaps, if you're another foolish youngster who believes that "the world is well lost for love," you'll stop and wonder—and maybe turn back when you see the bitter cost of freedom."

Dear Elsie—

Will you please try to give me a little advice and maybe a word of cheer? I need it.

For three years now I have been living with a man as his wife, though we are not married. Two years ago we went to another state to get married, but after we got there he didn't want to, so after two days we came home. Last year we made another trip there, but still he didn't marry me.

I am not happy. I have a nice home and a car, and he is very good to me. But he is so selfish that it seems he simply doesn't want the responsibility of having a wife.

WANTS TO LEAVE HIM

I am so tired of living this way! But I don't know what to do. I would like to leave him, but I know that he won't want to give me any money if I do unless I make him. So that is impossible to do, with things the way they are. There are no positions to be had. If there were, I would get one and walk out of here; but as it is, I guess I will have to keep on this way until times change. Or will I?

I hate it. I feel so at sixes and sevens. I think the law is on my side, and that I could compel him to do something, but I hate to disgrace myself by bringing him into court.

Tell me, won't you, what to do? I am his common-law wife, and I am entitled to something.

Please help me. JANE.

And even if you could contrive some sort of suit against this man, and force money from him, you'd not be helping yourself, Jane.

Your life is a ghastly mess today because you depended on this man—and refused to use your own brain and backbone. And your life will continue to be a mess as long as you continue to depend on him.

CAN REGAIN HONOR

You think he has "sold you out," but really you've sold yourself out. And you'll go right on selling yourself out, unless you shake yourself free from the whole vicious situation and get out and make a life for yourself.

You can't do it? Yes, you can. You had courage enough once to defy the whole world when you wanted to find happiness. Then you have courage enough now to defy one worthless man and your own weakness and fear, to find the happiness and peace and honor that you lost.

Go to it! There are jobs, even in these hard days, for a bright and spunky girl; and every hour you spend on your own will build up your self-respect and strengthen your hope and confidence.

So stop brooding over the fact that one human being has betrayed you and just remember this—you can always keep faith with yourself; and if you will keep faith with yourself, nothing and no one on earth can lick you.

Fay King Thinks It Is Well We Can't Forsee the Future

By FAY KING

The gift to foretell accurately the future has been given to no man on earth, and it is better so.

Fortune telling has been a racket since time immemorial.

Some few have a strange power that may forewarn them in some way, or to a limited extent indicate a coming event. But the few I have known with this power cannot set it in motion at will, and they would not dream of using it professionally for pay.

Even to discuss it seems to diminish it for a time.

The majority who wish to know of the future are only interested in love of money.

It is better not to know the future, good or bad, but to live each day in hope.

Madge Remembers Mary's Devotion to Noel

Mary looked up, plainly startled at my father's announcement that she was going to "hold the bridge" for us while we were gathered at Whitney Hall for the conference over our projected rescue of Marion and Carolyn.

"I think it will be wiser for you women to pretend to lie down until about a quarter to eleven. Then you, Margaret, with Lillian and Harry, come over to the hotel as soon as you can do so without the Brixtons noticing your exit. If you are late, I shall understand. It won't matter. In the meantime, Richard, Mr. Veritzen will go along over to the school and get in touch with Hugh. And now, Mary!"

"Yes?" she said.

"When they have gone, you will stay awake and on watch in Mrs. Underwood's room. If Mrs. Brixton asks for Mrs. Underwood, tell her that Mr. Underwood has taken his wife for a drive because she was so nervous she could not sleep, but that you expect her back any minute. Stipulate, however, that they may stay out much longer. Watch their movements carefully. If they leave the hotel, telephone the school at once."

"I understand," Mary said quietly, and indeed her attentive face and brilliant eyes had told us that, without speech.

RELIEVES MARY

"Good-by then, for awhile," my father said, and with Dicky and Philip Veritzen he left us. Harry Underwood caught his wife by the hands and pulled her to her feet as soon as they had left.

"Forty winks, for you, if it can be managed," he said; then, at her protesting face, he amended, "at least, a stretching out and complete relaxation. Mary will let us know when it's half after ten."

"I'll keep watch," Mary promised, but as soon as they were out of the room, I slipped my arm around her.

"I happen to be feeling especially fit," I told her truthfully, and you'll have that vigil after we leave; so I'm going to stay on watch for the Brixtons until half past ten. Would you like to lie down until then? Or, there are some magazines in the downstairs sitting room that you might like to inspect. You may take your choice. You must do one or the other."

Her eyes were suddenly dancing.

"You darling!" she said. Noel will probably plait you a wreath of laurel for this, but I'm afraid his dad would throw no bouquets at you if he could hear your offer."

MADGE WATCHES

"Probably not," I told her, "but we're not bringing him into the picture at all. So run along, but come upstairs again a little before ten-thirty."

"I'll be here," she said, and after a brief session with lipstick and powder puff, which she distinctly did not need, she went out of the room, a vision to delight the heart of a swain far less adoring than Noel.

I did not know what my father expected, but I knew that his injunction to watch carefully the movements of the Brixtons was not to be disregarded, and I resolved that not even a mouse should come out of the Brixton door without my seeing it.

For half an hour there was no sound in our upper corridor but the turning of the pages of my book, then a stealthy creaking made me raise my book suddenly nearer my eyes, so that I might look over it without raising my eyelashes.

The door of the Brixton room was moving ever so slowly. Then it stopped abruptly, and I knew that whoever was moving it had seen me through my open door. For a half minute I kept my eyes upon the pages before me, apparently oblivious of everything else. Then the Brixton door closed, and heavy steps came down the corridor toward me.

Household Hints

Boil the corks before bottling pickles, etc. While hot they can be pressed into the bottles, and when cold will seal them tightly.

Don't allow the top of your cookstove to get red hot, as too much heat warps the lids. When the coal begins to burn with a steady blue flame, close the damper.

The ironing board's position has much to do with speedy and satisfactory ironing. First, it should be the correct height for the ironer. Last, but not least, do not put it in a position blocking the kitchen door. If you do, you won't speak to your young hopeful by the time you are finished ironing.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Form of Invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I will appreciate it very much if you will settle a question that has caused considerable discussion between my young man friend and myself.

When he asks me for an engagement, he expects me to name the day or evening when he may see me . . . whereas I believe he should state specifically the evening he wishes to call, and then, of course, if I have other plans, it would be up to me to name the night when he could see me. R.

It is polite for this friend to ask you for an engagement in either way he wishes . . . either for an indefinite time or for a definite evening. That is, he may say, "When may I see you again?" to which you may name a special evening, or you may talk it over with him and come to an agreement as to which evening is the convenient one for you both.

Or he may say, "May I come to see you next Tuesday? Is that convenient?" In either form of invitation he is gracious and thoughtful for your convenience, since he leaves the decision to you and your wish.

But if you mean that he expects you, after every engagement to invite him for a definite evening for the next engagement, this changes matters. He should use either form mentioned above.

The Wedding Flowers

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine is going to be best man at a wedding. Can you please tell me what he is supposed to do concerning buying flowers for the bride and so forth? H.

The best man does not buy flowers for either the bride or for any of the bridal attendants. The flowers for the bride are sent to her by her groom, and the flowers for the bridal attendants are usually supplied by the bride's parents.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

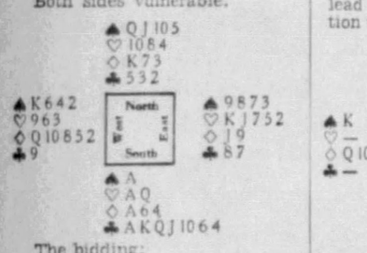
Making a Difficult Slam

Mr. Maurice Maschke, of Cleveland, O., has two major interests — politics and Bridge. Some of his friends say that his interest in Bridge is even keener than his interest in politics. Of this I am not sure, but after watching the skillful manner in which he played the hand below in the recent American Bridge League National Tournament in New York, I am quite sure he must be a very wonderful politician if his political keenness exceeds his Bridge brilliancy.

The hand:

South—Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

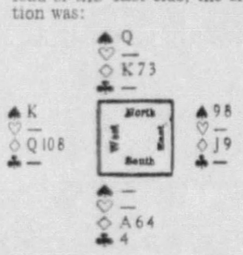


The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♣	Pass	2 N T	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 N T	Pass
6 N T	Pass	7 N T	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bid of seven notrump is probably fully justified. After all, North has given two minimum responses to a Forcing bid, and, despite the fact that North's hand may be entirely trickless, South has raised the contract to a Small Slam. Instead, North has a King in one suit and a sequence of three cards headed by the Queen in another—by no means a worthless holding opposite such strong bidding.

East perhaps slightly facilitated the success of the contract by opening his fourth best heart, and the Queen held the trick. However, had this lead not been made, Mr. Maschke had a hidden entry in the 5 of clubs, which would have permitted him to take the heart finesse anyway. The Ace of spades was removed from the South hand in order to prepare the Vienna Coup situation, and then the Ace of hearts was led, establishing a second card for the adversaries. Seven rounds of clubs followed, and with the lead of the last club, the situation was:



West was squeezed. He parted with the diamond 8, whereupon Mr. Maschke discarded the spade Queen, and the 3 remaining tricks were won in the diamond suit.

TODAY'S QUESTION

South opens with a bid of one heart; North responds with a bid of three clubs; South then bids three notrump. What should North now bid, holding the following hand?

♠ A 4 3 ♡ A 8 ◇ K J 7 4 ♣ A K 7 5

Answer: Four notrump—a Slam invitation. Despite South's minimum response, he may hold sufficient values in addition to his Opening bid to reach a successful Slam contract.

Fashion Flashes

By ALICE ALDEN

Still going strong despite the season is that loveliest of fabrics, chiffon. A new evening dress has a skirt in pale pink chiffon with panels in deeper pink over it, which are held at the upper waistline by twists of mauve and dark red chiffon. A pale pink chiffon fichu covers the shoulders.

In plain view are arms these days, for the sleeve that shows the arm is so popular this season. A grand dress for all but formal occasions is of heavy silk crepe with sleeves that fall in long loops at back, but leave the arm in front exposed. There is a belt of linked rhinestones and crystal baguettes.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Collect glass jars for your toilet table, Miss Beauty-chester. In them keep squares of cotton to be used for applying powder, rouge and astringent. Soiled powder pads not only fill the pores with dust, but carry infection. Very bad.

The vinegar rinse after the shampoo not only imparts luster to the hair and softness, but it acts as a chaser-out of soap scum that may be clinging to hair shafts. To one quart of water add two tablespoonfuls of cider vinegar. Pour over the head, rinse away with clear, tepid water. Just as good for brunettes as for blondes.

Needless anxiety is caused by the appearance of soft down on the cheeks. This is a normal condition. The growth is more apparent in the mirror, which magnifies slightly, than to the eye of the beholder. It seldom develops into bristles; they come on chin or upper lip. The wise woman will not tamper with down; it is not disfiguring.

Pimples seldom appear on a dry skin. It is the oily complexion that suddenly takes on the appearance of a speckled trout. Pores fill with sebaceous exudations, are stretched until the walls break, invading germs take possession, small boils result. To combat an oily condition use soap and hot water freely, laying over the face a hot moist compress, following with a rinsing with ice water to which a few drops of simple tincture of benzoin have been added. Cut down on fat foods and pastries.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasant results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

WAS ALL READY TO GIVE UP

Life Looks Brighter Since She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I was so rundown and weak that I could hardly walk. I was about ready to give up when I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Since then I have had three more babies and I feel well and strong. I am taking the medicine again now at the age of forty-three. I am also giving it to my daughter."—Mrs. J. S. Don't go another day without the help this medicine can give you. Get a bottle from your nearest drug store immediately. Take it regularly according to directions. You will be surprised and pleased at the results. The Tablets are newer . . . convenient to carry with you . . . easy to take.

FLU EPIDEMICS CALL FOR PRECAUTIONS!

A Few Simple Rules that Will Put a Person on the Side of Safety!

While it does not pay to become alarmed over Flu, it does not pay either to be careless. Many a case of Flu could have been avoided with a few simple precautions.

Here are a few rules which may be wisely followed:

Stay out of crowded, stuffy and smoky places.

Stay in the sunshine as much as you can.

Avoid coughers and sneezers.

Dress warmly, keep your feet dry, sleep in a well-ventilated room.

Drink lots of water. Eat plentifully of citrus fruits and their juices.

Watch out for colds. The so-called "common cold" often paves the way for flu.

At the first sign of a cold, do something about it! One of the best things you can do is to take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine immediately. These tablets are effective because they do four important things. They open the bowels, combat the infection in the system, relieve the entire system.

Better still, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine as a preventative of colds! A cold is easier avoided than cured. A cold anticipated is a cold thwarted. As a precautionary measure do what thousands are doing—watch your living habits and take one or two Bromo Quinine tablets every morning and night. That will keep your bowels open and combat germ attacks.

All drug stores sell Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Now two sizes—30c and 50c. No reliable druggist will try to sell you a substitute on any pretext. As a measure of safety, get a package today and keep it handy all winter.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Dyspepsia Attack Is Warning

A medical survey recently published, reveals many interesting facts regarding the gall bladder. Over sixteen hundred patients were carefully studied. In the majority, dyspepsia was found to be the most common symptom of gall bladder troubles.

Dr. Copeland

Many persons suffer from dyspepsia, but few of them associate it with a disturbance of the gall bladder. This is not to be wondered at, because disturbances of the gall bladder are not always painful. Pain is present only when there is an obstruction to its draining. In severe infections and inflammation of the gall bladder, there may be interference with the escape of its contents, then of course discomfort is sure to result. In some cases there may be "gall stone colic," which is the effect of obstruction due to a stone in the passageway from the gall bladder.

In gall bladder disturbances certain nervous symptoms appear before the dyspepsia or other digestive complaints. There may be general nervous depression, a feeling of heaviness, languor, drowsiness and lack of "pep." Then the sufferer complains of digestive disorders, which vary from a gnawing, burning sensation to actual pain. The discomfort appears immediately after eating or within two or three hours.

In what I have said, I do not refer to the acute form of gall bladder disease. In this there is sudden and marked digestive disturbance. Nausea and vomiting are accompanied by severe and excruciating pain in the region of the gall bladder. These cases require immediate attention.

Within recent years, due to the great advances made in the use of the X-ray, it has become possible to visualize the gall bladder. That there is disease of that organ is easily discovered. The X-ray picture often shows stones.

Surgery is not necessary in every case of gall bladder disease. If there is inflammation of the gall bladder the diet is important. Fried, salty, greasy foods and particularly foods rich in fat, should be avoided.

Gall stones can be removed only by operation. Do not be misled by any guarantee of a "cure" without operation.

Railroaders to Get 50-Year Buttons

Gold service buttons, symbolic of the completion of a half-century of railroad work, will be presented to four Pittsburgh men in the next three months, by the Pennsylvania Railroad. They are John B. McCartney, of 251 Dunseith street; Eugene M. Gerst, of 1141 Portland street; R. E. Smith, of 224 Lowell avenue, Ben Avon, and J. E. Hill, of 214 Newburn avenue.

Tax Collector Loses Decision in Court

Judge Elder W. Marshall, of Common Pleas Court, has dismissed the objections of Frank J. Bayer, tax collector of Kennedy Township, who sought to oust Lawrence J. Hanbrick as collector of school taxes. Bayer said he was elected in 1929 for a four-year term and had collected taxes for 1930 and 1931.

The school board gave the job of collecting the school taxes to Hanbrick. The court decreed Bayer should have brought a mandamus action.

Prompt Relief From Itching Eczema

It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings prompt relief to itching, burning skin, even in severe cases. Itching stops the moment Zemo touches the tender and inflamed skin because of its rare ingredients. To clear away Rashes, Pimples, Eczema, Ringworm and restore the skin to normal, always use clean, soothing Zemo. Insist on genuine Zemo; it's worth the price, because it brings relief. 25c, 50c and $1. All druggists.

HAMPDEN, FANNIE BRICE Stage Stars With Rudy; Hollywood Program ON THE AIR TONIGHT

Wedding Rites In Goldberg Broadcast

Something different has been prepared for the dialers tonight—the broadcast of an authentic Jewish wedding ceremony.

"Florence Romaine" and "Eugene Kronin," characters in "The Goldbergs" sketches and long the victims of a misunderstanding, have been reunited and are to be "married" during the broadcast, heard over WCAE at 7:45, according to an announcement by Gertrude Berg, author and one of the principal characters of the series.

Miss Berg

In keeping with the realistic style in which the programs are presented, the ceremony is to be performed in the authentic Jewish form by a rabbi from real life, Dr. David Putterman, of the Washington Heights Congregation in New York, while traditional music is to be provided by the Machtenberg Boys Choir.

Walter Hampden, veteran classical actor, and Fannie Brice, comedienne, share honors as guest artists with Rudy Vallee on WCAE tonight at 8. Hampden offers a scene from "Cyrano de Bergerac," and Miss Brice sings a group of comedy songs. Felix Salmond, concert 'cellist; Russ Brown, stage comedian, and Exie, a female singer, also are featured.

Program Pointers

Movie stunt men, the real daredevils of the screen, play a leading part in tonight's "Hollywood-on-the-Air" presentation over a nation-wide NBC network including WCAE at 12:30 a. m. Bob Rose, veteran who has sustained more than 40 broken bones in a lifetime of "thrill work," represents the group, taking the radio audience behind the scenes to explain how thrill scenes are filmed. In addition, Dorothy Wilson, former Hollywood stenographer who was elected a Wampas Baby Star this year, and Bill Boyd appear in a scene from the new picture, "Lucky Devils." Julie Haydon and William Gargan also participate on the program.

Miss Wilson

The true story of "Billy the Bum," a newspaper reporter in a mining camp who barely escaped hanging, is the Old Ranger's Death Valley story on KDKA at 9.

Armed to the teeth, Jack Pearl, alias the Baron Munchausen, noted big game hunter and sportsman, relates his experiences in tracking down big game in the African jungles at 10 over WCAE. George Olsen provides the dance music.

"General Business Conditions" is the topic of a talk by John H. Lucas, assistant to the president of the Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company, during KQV's "Pittsburgh Today" broadcast at 9.

A mythical parade to Connellsville, with G. Fred Rieman, president of the Capstan Glass Company, of Connellsville, as guest speaker, is listed on KDKA at 7:30.

Uncle Bob, Betty Read Comics

It's fun following the adventures of Popeye, Mickey Mouse, Jiggs, Tillie the Toiler, Tim, Roy and Spud, and the numerous other characters found in the Sun-Telegraph comic pages, with Uncle Bob and Betty. They read the "funnies" on WCAE each Tuesday and Thursday at 6 p. m. and each Sunday at 12:30 p. m.

Speaking from the Sun-Telegraph editorial rooms, Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, flashes the latest news to WCAE and WJAS listeners at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:15 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. today. His schedule tomorrow is the same with the exception of the 2:15 broadcast, heard on WCAE only.

-:- Radio Listeners Picking 'Perfect Songs' -:-

A quest for the 10 best songs, recently inaugurated by Aircaster, radio columnist of the New York Evening Journal, in order to select a "Perfect Songs" radio program for each of the major networks, has stimulated a response from composers, conductors and listeners rivaling that of the "Beautiful Words" situation. The voting ends next Wednesday and CBS will present the first program, featuring Guy Lombardo's orchestra, the following Saturday.

Mr. Lombardo

To date distinct preferences have been shown generally for "Old Man River," the first choice by long odds; "My Blue Heaven," second; "Lover Come Back to Me" and "The Man I Love," tying for third place; "What Is This Thing Called Love?" and "Russian Lullaby," even for fourth, and "Goodnight Sweetheart," "I'll See You in My Dreams," "Stardust," "Tea for Two," "Who?" and "When Day is Done," all of which receive an equal number of votes for fifth choice.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS
Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengue (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.
But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

American Weekly Drama on KQV, WFBG, WWVA

KQV joins the long list of radio stations throughout the country featuring the American Weekly dramatic and operatic presentations under the sponsorship of 17 Hearst newspapers, including the Sun-Telegraph, with the inauguration today of a Thursday-at-3:30 p. m. and Friday-at-9:15 p. m. schedule.

"The Tragedy of the Star," with Martha Attwood, Metropolitan Opera singer, portraying Mme. Gertrude Bindernagel, German prima donna shot to death as she left the stage after singing the role of Brunnhilde, is KQV's initial offering in the series.

The dramatization also is heard on WFBG, Altoona, at 3 p. m. and WWVA, Wheeling, at 5:30 p. m. today.

Globe-Trotting

With the Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello Ladies and Gentlemen:

Our "Signs of Spring" department took a severe blow today on receipt of a letter from John E. Keiffer. No more can we trust a robin. Our informant says that not all of them go South for the winter. They have been observed to pick a thickly wooded hollow in Finleyville for a winter home, and once in a while one will wander to the city to see the sights. John hopes he hasn't confused the robins with the neighbors' bantams.

Seven-year-old Tommy, writes C. M. W., likes the Globe Trotter's program. He would never think of missing it. Of course not. How else could he be sure that it's time for breakfast, lunch or dinner?

War Veteran F. J. McDermitt, of 6945 Kelly street, has a letter he picked up after a fierce battle in France. He believes the writer was killed in action before he could mail it. He found it on Hill 204 about August 1, 1918. The writer probably was a member of a 28th Division Infantry regiment. The letter is signed "Mike," and addressed to Elsie. The names Helen and Mary Davis are mentioned in the letter. He'd like Elsie to have the letter.

A middle-aged gentleman just dropped in to see me. He found a woman's purse containing money, cards, keys and beads. He wanted no reward or mention. His one object was to be sure that the purse was returned to its owner. Marie Miller, third floor, Sun-Telegraph Building, will hold the purse for Mrs. Herman Muehlbauer, of Mt. Oliver.

Happy birthday greetings to Mrs. Lizzie Pence Lowery, of Mosgrove, Armstrong County, Pa. She is 98 and an active Democrat. What a fine birthday gift the United States offered her this year when for the first time since she had been allowed to vote a Democratic President will grace the chair.

Mrs. Mary Margaret McCullough, of Knoxville, is celebrating her eighty-first birthday with the challenge of out skipping in any jig.

Barlow Symphony Program at 11

The Finale from Cesar Franck's Symphony in D minor; Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" overture; the Valse from Ravel's "L'Enfant et les Sortileges," and Rubinstein's characteristic work, "Trepak," comprise Howard Barlow's Columbia Symphony program listed at 11 on WJAS.

The Keller Sisters and Lynch, popular radio harmony trio, join the Show Boat cast as guest entertainers over WCAE at 9.

Week-End Guest

Poor, unsuspecting victim—of circumstance,
You come—because someone suggests it,
You leave—Manhattan calls.
What pleasures have you found here?
Were you amused at the beating wave?
Or did the noise of the crowd leave you numb?
Did the mournful, dismal foghorn
And the ceaseless rain—annoy?

Where were you at the hush of dawn?
Did you hear the echo of a lone bird's cry—
Or were you oblivious to these charms?
Leaving the quiet dignity of a secluded forest,
The mystery of the sail—
The salt and tide, alone.

What price happiness to such as you—
Who visit beauty—and pass her by?

—Louise Dudley Lynch.

Tee, Hee

Not many years ago, Brooks Atkinson, the Times' critic, was a cub reporter on a Boston paper. Now and then they assigned him to cover the doings at Harvard. Atkinson drew a Harvard play one night—a play in which there were four students studying how to be hams.

Of three in the cast, Atkinson had something to say. Of the unnamed fourth he said:

"He spurted and sputtered!"

That fourth lad was John Mason Brown, who now is the dramatic critic for the N. Y. Evening Post, and last year's leader among the hit and flop pickers.

But what we started out to report was that Brown, who was a spurter and sputterer as a f. at Harvard, often sets indignant and says of a Broadway actor that "he spurted and sputtered!"

Ooop!

And Elliott Grennard says Roxy forced the officials to remove the nude statues from the music hall, but things are even now. They also removed the big bust of Roxy's!

Heheheh

"Reincarnation is wonderful," asserts a subscriber, "just think, Lincoln came back as an automobile, Taft came back as a hotel, and Washington as a stamp!"

And Bismarck as a herring.

I've Met Her

J. M. Josefsberg says the killing of Larry Fay reminds him of the gun moll whose man was taken for a ride. The police, questioning her, asked her if there were any marks or any other way that they could identify the body when it was found.

"Oh, sure!" replied the pretty, but numb thing, "he stuttered!"

Conspicuously Absent!

We agree with the Mobile Register's clown that Wilfred J. Funk's list of 10 most beautiful words omitted the most beautiful—"payday."

Haw!

From A. Durkin comes the report that a musician approached Ben Bernie, the old maestroach, and asked for a job in his band. Ben's face turned purple when the applicant chirped:

"It's been so long since I've had a job, that I'd work for anybody!"

Observation

Arthur Morelli reports seeing this sign on the Loew's Oriental Theater in Brooklyn last week: "Prosperity"—This Friday!

One Man's Opinion

Al Klein: Some people think they're Napoleons — others do jig-saw puzzles . . . Can't you just hear polite Japan murmuring to China with each thrust—"No offensive meant!"

In Fewer Words

Every time a ham actor I know appears on the stage—he has the audience in the aisles—leaving the theater! . . . These days when a woman goes on a second honeymoon she goes with her second husband . . . Well, I have a perfect system to beat the races if I only could find the right bookmaker. I'm going to pick a horse—and bet he'll lose! . . . I know a businessman who is so sad. Not only is his business bad—but his stenographer has no sex appeal!—David Murray.

Imagine!

Theodore Dreiser is one famous author who knows what will be said about him after he dies.

The obituary editor of one of the major news associations called upon Dreiser for an interview, intending to use the material for the obituary notice (which every newspaper keeps up to date so it may be rushed into print at a moment's notice) if the celebrity suddenly passes on.

Suspecting the motive of his interviewer, Dreiser sat down at the typewriter himself and wrote out his own obit for the editor. So when Dreiser passes on, his death notice will carry the by-line — "By Theodore Dreiser."

Sotto Voce

"Hoosier Humorist," Wellington: Thanks for your "scoop." But Claiborne Foster's marriage was front-paged months ago by all local gazettes.

Of All Things!

Seen in the Westchester County Press ad columns:

"Young man, 25, refined, high school graduate. Very sympathetic; can do everything in the house and willing to do anything you ask a companion or bachelor to do. Can sew and press. Matthew Pendleton, Box 225, Islesboro, Maine."

What! No knitting?

Asking for Miracles

Newman Levy's grand tribute to reporters drew this from a reader who doesn't recall its author:

"Here's to the Editor! May he live long on expectation and short on copy. May he never find pen or pencil when eager to jot down a good manuscript while the presses wait. May he never read good copy when full of rhinewine, and may Saint Peter be away on a long vacation when he arrives at the gate!"

And may there always be a long flight of stairs behind him when I "accidentally" give him a shove.

Noel Coward Has Written Over 20 Plays and He's Only 32

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Another big dramatic hit goes via Pittsburgh to Broadway. The new Noel Coward play in the Nixon is the only one I remember in which the author is also the star—or one of them, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne being the other two.

With this new drama as evidence, Noel Coward is our foremost writer of witty and wicked comedy. He makes Wilde seem tame. He makes Shaw look like a New England spinster. Besides, "Design for Living" is played with such high spirits that the actors fairly romp through it. They seem to get more fun than the audience, which gets tons of amusement.

Mr. Seibel

But who is this Noel Coward who tears all the conventions to tatters, and makes a roaring farce out of our modern morals?

First of all, he is a fine actor. No more finished piece of comedy than his role in his own play could be conceived. Yes, Noel Coward is a fine actor, somewhere between Leslie Howard and A. E. Matthews.

He is no newcomer as a dramatist—for he has already written 15 plays and composed the score of five musical shows. Yet he is only 32 years old. The theater has been his only school and his only university. He has never had any course in dramatic composition nor musical instruction of any kind.

That may have helped by keeping him away from stereotyped situations and stenciled plots. He often lets his characters go utterly idiotic, as people do in real life, but as they never would in any well-regulated play from the Workshop of the 47 or any other school of drama.

The truth about Coward is that he is a born dramatist. "Design for Living" might be criticized because some of the scenes are drawn out very long. But their humor and their dramatic suspense keeps them from becoming boresome. The delicious drunken scene at the close of the second act has been shortened several times, but the shortening has always had to be put back.

"What are these delightful idiots going to do next?" the spectator asks himself. As long as the spectator keeps asking himself that, the play is safe.

All of Coward's plays have been of lightest texture, aside from "Post Mortem," his study of the effects of the war, and "Cavalcade," a sort of pageant history of England from Queen Victoria's reign, almost in the spirit of Shakespearean chronicle plays.

America has seen two of his musical productions — "Bitter-sweet," a romantic opera full of pretty sentiment and lush music, and "This Year of Grace," a satirical revue in which he appeared with Beatrice Lillie.

He has appeared in two other of his own plays in America—a very dramatic role in "The Vortex," and one of the pugnacious husbands in "Private Lives."

Besides being actor, dramatist and composer, he is also a great traveler of the unpremeditated type. Some day he'll get tired of playing in "Design for Living," and will be heard from next week in the Llanos Estacados or on the Veldt. Or he's likely to be cruising up the Xingu River in search of local color for Edith Wharton.

Personally he is the most affable, genial, happy-go-lucky, rough-and-ready sort of fellow, as Constance Collier pictured him to me when she was playing in his "Hay Fever." I happened to blunder into his dressing-room while looking for Alfred Lunt, and was royally welcome at once. Maybe he remembered meeting me in Manila.

Final Tribute On Screen

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Pictures of the nation's final tribute to Calvin Coolidge, its former President, come from Northampton, Mass., and are presented in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. President and Mrs. Hoover are shown arriving at the station in Northampton, and there are also pictures of Chief Justice Hughes, Secretary Stimson, Vice President Curtiss, members of the congressional delegation and other prominent personages. A bugle call of "Taps" is heard as Calvin Coolidge is laid to his final rest in Plymouth, Vt. The Globe Trotter describes the impressive scenes.

A remarkable picture shows the burning at sea off the coast of North Carolina of the oil tanker Doris Kellogg. The crew, saved by a passing steamship, Delaware Sun, was later transferred to the Coast Guard cutter Yamacraw.

The meeting of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, which favorably reported on the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, is shown in session. Bishop James Cannon gets into a lively discussion with Senator Blaine.

Thrilling pictures are shown of Uncle Sam's eagles in daring maneuvers at the Army, Navy and Marine air meet at Miami. In a plunge to the ground a Marine flier escapes unharmed.

Exclusive pictures from the air and from the ground show British flying aces patrolling the famous Khyber Pass—the Gateway to India.

Pictures from Los Angeles show lion cubs, leopards and puppy dogs all trying their best to learn etiquet in table manners.

Pirate Larry French In the Movies

Berton Churchill, veteran stage actor; Dell Henderson, character actor; "Beans" Reardon, youngest National League umpire, and Larry French, pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates, have started work in Paramount's "From Hell to Heaven," in which Carole Lombard and Jack Oakie are featured with other screen prominents.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

The first American production of Wilson Barrett's play, "The Sign of the Cross," the screen version of which will be presented twice daily in the Nixon next week, was staged in the Knickerbocker Theater, New York, in 1897. "The Sign of the Cross" is the first big spectacle of the talkies that is comparable to those of the silent days, filmed for Paramount by Cecil B. DeMilles, who has to his credit two previous productions on the same elaborate scale, "The Ten Commandments" and "King Of Kings," both silent pictures. The photoplay of "The Sign of the Cross" has Frederic March as Marcus Superbus, prefect of Rome; Claudia Colbert as Poppaea, empress; Elissa Landi as Marcia, Christian girl, and Charles Laughton as Nero, the tyrant and emperor. Seats are on sale today in the box office.

Broadways of the World

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

GEORGE THE FIFTH HOTEL, PARIS, FRANCE.—I think I'll wind up the night club angle of Paris with this column and turn to something else. I hate to devote so much space to cabaret life because I don't think that any of my eight readers give a particular hoot whether there are four cafes in Paris, or 40. But it's all a part of my job, so I guess I'll have to go through with it.

More than that, if I don't devote plenty of wordage to the cabarets here, there isn't much of a Broadway left to describe. I can't tell you about the legitimate shows because I don't understand the lingo. And aside from opening a bottle of White Rock without a corkscrew, there's nothing that annoys me quite so much as having to sit through a play in a tongue that is unfamiliar to me.

Of course, I'm quite a low-brow for saying such a thing—but I just can't help myself. I like to be natural—and if I'm bored, I'm bored. Several years ago, for example, Mr. Morris Gest brought the Russian Art Players to New York with that shrewd producer's customary fanfare of publicity trumpets.

Now, I think that Mr. Gest is a nice gentleman and I haven't the slightest doubt that the Russian players were all great artists and very kind to their mothers. But, after remaining for two acts on the opening night, I could stand no more. I didn't know what was going on, and I cared less. So out I went into the refreshing night air.

The next morning, when I turned to the theatrical sections, I was amazed to learn that my favorite reviewers had enjoyed themselves immensely during that opening performance. The Russian players, I found out, were the finest artists that had ever come to America. Their every action had been remarkable; their every word superb. The notices amounted to little less than raves.

All of which caused me much wonderment and no little pain. I knew that none of these critics understood Russian, even though one or two of them might have been of that descent. For all they knew, the actors they had witnessed might have been reciting Gunga Din instead of sticking to their lines.

I knew, too, that most of these critics had been just as bored as I was. Why, then, had they turned out reviews that contained nothing but praise? I determined to find out about it and, at the next opening, I talked to a critic whom I have known for years.

"I want to get something straight," I said, "and I know you'll be frank with me. You were bored with those Russian players because you told me so after the first curtain. More, you didn't grasp one word of what they were saying.

"Yet your notice was filled with the highest praise. Will you be kind enough to tell me why?"

My friend hesitated for a moment. Then he brightened.

"Because it was art," he replied. "I'll admit I was bored until I thought the whole thing over and remembered the offstage noises. They were marvelous! Never in my life have I heard such offstage noises!"

Maybe I'm wrong . . .

All of this, of course, is a rather long-winded explanation of the reason why I have not gone to a legitimate show in Paris, and why I will not go during my present stay. You cannot enjoy what you do not understand, as Peggy Joyce said when she met Prof. Einstein.

About the musical comedies, I will not write for another reason. When I was here last, I reviewed several musicals and printed my honest impressions. Those impressions were that they were terrible, and I said so. Among the artists I didn't like at that time was a chap named Maurice Chevalier—and I said that, too. So you can see just about how much my impressions amounted to.

Yet the few lines that I wrote caused squawks galore. Maurice was very angry with me when he first came to America, even though we became friendly later. In numerous letters that came to my paper and me, I was accused of being biased, stupid, ignorant and an enemy of France. And all because I was honest in my views.

Accordingly, when I arrived here this time, I had made up my mind to leave the musical comedy business severely alone. Good, bad or indifferent, I made up my mind to say nothing about the musical shows.

And I'm keeping my word to myself. I've already seen the two important French revues that are playing here now—and I privately think that they are very possibly the worst shows I have ever set through in all my life. Never have I seen anything quite so bad.

But am I telling anyone my impressions? Not me. After what happened the last time, I know when I'm well off . . .

So here I am, back in the night club routine once again. I'll list a few more of them, add a bit of comment—and we'll draw the curtain over them for the time being. It will probably be a relief to both of us. So:

The Montmartre. The smart place in town. A good orchestra and excellent service. All the best people go to this spot, which means that the faces are even duller than usual.

The Casanova. Another Russian club that has been successful for several years. Also a smart spot. The novelty here is that the lights often go out when the couples are dancing. I suggested to the manager that he might make more money if the lights went out when the couples weren't dancing. He didn't seem to understand me.

The Lido. An attractive place, with a tart flavor. There's a swimming pool and a rumba band and a gigolo for every broken heart in Paris. If you order a cheap drink, you get it—but the waiter puts an empty champagne bottle on your table just the same. Darned clever, these Frenchmen.

The Plantation. A huge spot, described here a few columns ago. Three bands, including Don Aspiazu and his rumba rheumatics from Havana. The entertainment consists of a couple of roller skaters and a dark girl who dances with a snake. The snake is real and is not a gigolo.

As the girl was flinging the snake around, one of the head waiters told me that it was a very dangerous act. Seems that the snake hadn't been properly doped one night and it began to choke the girl. She began to scream, and it took half the band to rescue her.

I suggested that the idea was good and that it should have been kept in the show all the time. The head waiter replied that the manager had suggested the same thing, but that the girl wouldn't agree. Strange, I calls it . . .

And so they go, one after the other, Dinah's, the Club Florence, Le Pere Tranquil, the Sailor's Box—and on and on and on. What with the famous bars and eating places that I haven't touched upon yet, the list is practically endless.

And yet, as far as enjoyment goes, one is the same as another. See one, and you've seen five. See five, and you've seen them all—and the doctor sees you. Oh, well . . .

BANK ROBBERY SUSPECTS HELD

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Accused of robbing the Pleasant Unity National Bank, near Latrobe, Pa., one month ago, three men were held here today pending their return to Pennsylvania.

Picked up as "suspicious characters" yesterday, the trio, confronted by two Pennsylvania officers who had been following them, admitted, it is alleged, they were the robbers who looted the bank of $4,200. Meanwhile a fourth suspect was detained in Pennsylvania.

The suspects gave their names as Frank Detwiler, 25, of Fayette County, Pa., and Wade and James Hay, of Iron Ridge, near Pleasant Unity.

In Greensburg, the police barracks disclosed that A. F. Butler, 54, of Elliottville, Fayette County, has been held for about a week in connection with the theft as an alleged accessory. It is alleged, although no charges have been filed against Butler, that the trio went to his home in the mountains after the robbery and changed clothes.

Yrigoyen Ill, Again Freed From Exile

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Hipolito Yrigoyen, 82-year-old ex-president of Argentina, today was lodged again in his apartment here after being returned from a second sojourn in exile because of his precarious health.

The aged bachelor, whose second term as president was interrupted by his overthrow in the 1930 revolution, was kept under police guard.

Stork Brings 3 To Home in Year

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 12.—Three babies, two boys and a girl, were born to a South Connellsville mother within less than a year. Twin sons arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Vinoski five days before a daughter became one year of age.

The father is a furloughed Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe.

Three Films From One Is Plan

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12.—Conceived as an epic, S. M. Eisenstein's "Qui Vive Mexico" eventually will reach the screen as three feature pictures plus an indefinite number of short subjects.

Lying on a blanket in his sun-lit back yard, Upton Sinclair gave me this news of the film Hollywood said was impossible to cut. In that canvalescent stage of influenza, the Socialist author is happy that the long period of suspense is over, that the responsibility for the picture now rests upon the shoulders of another—Sol Lesser, who has agreed to cut and release the film on a percentage basis.

"Eisenstein went down to Mexico," Sinclair said, "to make a travelogue, to be gone four months at most. He ended up by staying 14 months, by shooting nearly 225,000 feet of film, and by using three times as much money as my friends had promised him."

"It would be absolutely impossible to release this enormous footage as a single picture. The 'Hacienda' episode alone assembled into 14 reels, after Mr. Lesser has trimmed it again, it will be one of the three features we expect to get out of the material. The other two will be the tropical episode, a village idyll taken near Tehuantepec, and the bullfight sequence. In additon, we'll get a number of short subjects."

Sinclair admits that a number of individuals have attempted to prevent the breaking up of the film.

The author put no money into the undertaking himself, he declares, but his wife contributed a considerable sum.

In his final Hollywood appearance before heading back for Broadway, Jimmy Durante gave the New Yorker one of the most sensational nights in its history. George Raft, Polly Moran, Bert Wheeler, Lew Brice and a dozen other stars entertained. Connie Cummings and Norman Foster were among the onlookers. So were Glenda Farrell and Cedric Gibbons, the Norman Kerrys and many others. Sitting ringside were Roscoe Ates and his wife, who were celebrating their reconciliation. Jimmy Durante even persuaded the missus to sing.

Doomed Man to See Own Scaffold Built

JOPLIN, Mo., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Harry Worden, condemned to be hanged January 20 for attacking a high school girl, today was placed in a room in which the trap through which he will drop to his death is being built. Sheriff Oll Rogers said the room is the only one in jail where the doomed man can be kept in solitary confinement.

Former Pugilist Files Balm Suit

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—James E. Parker, former flyweight boxer, today filed a $10,000 breach of promise suit against Mrs. Melva Miller Anthonopoulus, alleging she refused to wed him.

He said he proposed to her in 1925, but she has refused to go through with the marriage. Parker gave his age as 29 and hers as 26.

Mystery

Edna May Oliver has a principal role in "The Penguin Pool Murder," one of two features opening Saturday in Davis and Regent.

Holt Is Star In Enright

By MARGARET RUSSELL

"Man Against Woman," now in the Enright, is mis-named. It should be "Man for Woman". For Jack Holt, as Johnny McLeod, a super-plain-clothes cop, is "for" Lola, the beautiful torch-singer. Right or wrong, double-crossing or not, he's for her.

"Man Against Woman" is a version of the Northwest Mounted Police theme, which Jack Holt does so well. This time the human bloodhound hero not only gets his man, but his woman as well. It's a surprise that he still wants her at the fade-out. But he does. And that's that.

McLeod, pet of the New York police force, who never carries a gun, but packs a mean wallop in his fists, and has a cool head on his shoulders, falls in love with Lola, blonde night-club singer. His unrequited affections neither disturb him, nor interfere with his immediate concern of bringing to justice perpetrators of a nasty piece of gang work known as the "Hudson River job".

Sniffing around, McLeod's suspicions fall on Lola's "big moment", a handsome weakling, played by Gavin Gordon, who is in the pay of the gang leader, who is Lola's boss. When Lola's pleadings fail to move the loving but dutiful heart of the copper, she resorts to a trick to free her sweetheart, en route to prison, and they escape to Bermuda.

The perplexed but unwavering McLeod gets fired from the police force for neglect of duty, but there's a happy ending for everybody except the wicked gangsters, Lillian Miles, as Lola, does a nice natural piece of acting, and Jack Holt is at his best.

Comedy

Sari Maritza is prominent in the cast of the romantic comedy "Evenings For Sale." It will be the Variety screen feature next week.

Pepsodent Antiseptic makes $1 equal $3 in fighting colds

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics. Hence it goes 3 times as far. And whether you buy the 25c, 50c, or $1 size, you still get 3 times as much for your money.

FEWER colds this year—quicker relief from those you catch—and money saved besides. That's the promise Pepsodent Antiseptic makes you. Millions by experience can tell you it's true. Pepsodent Antiseptic is different from other leading mouth antiseptics.

$1 does the work of $3

Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs—it goes 3 times as far—gives you 3 times as much for your money and gives you extra protection against sore throat colds. In fighting stubborn colds, remember there really are only two leading kinds of mouth antiseptics on the market. In one group is the mouth antiseptic that must be used full strength to be effective. In the other group is Pepsodent Antiseptic, absolutely safe when used full strength, yet powerful enough to be diluted with two parts of water and still kill germs in less than 10 seconds!

Don't fool yourself

It is bad enough to pay the extra cost of using antiseptics that must be used full strength . . . it's worse to dilute them and fail to kill the germs . . . so choose the antiseptic that kills the germs even when it is diluted. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic. Be sure—and be safe.

IMPURE BREATH
(Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds prove its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, even when diluted with water it still kills germs.

SHIP VICTIM'S BODY IN TRUNK

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The battered body of a Bronx landlord, beaten to death for the $40 in his pocket, was found last night in Richmond, Va., where it had been shipped in a trunk.

Detectives there found the trunk as it arrived by train. The corpse had been sought in Richmond and Washington after two Negroes here allegedly confessed the crime and re-enacted it for authorities.

Police said they admitted pounding Nathan Reigrod to death with a 20-pound furnace shaker for money he carried.

The crime was committed in the basement of a house Reigrod owned.

The two held are Henry Edmond, 38, janitor of the building, and John Tinsley, 25.

As they were hauling the body from the basement to Edmond's apartment to lock it in the trunk the dead man's glasses case slipped from his pocket. Police found it and the discovery led to the arrests.

Australian Towns Shaken By Quake

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Houses rocked and walls cracked in the towns of Goulburn and Yass, New South Wales, as a result of an unusually strong earthquake early today, which lasted one minute.

OBITUARY

Mrs. S. M. McKinney.

Mrs. Margaret Voigt McKinney, wife of Samuel M. McKinney, died Tuesday at her late home, Pasadena, Cal. Mrs. McKinney was born and lived on Mt. Washington, where her parents were pioneer settlers. She was a member of the Mt. Washington Presbyterian Church, a member and past officer of the Eastern Star, and a member of the White Shrine. She had lived in Wilkinsburg a number of years before moving to California. Besides her husband, Mrs. McKinney leaves two sons, Marshall and Dean; four brothers, Albert, Edward H., William and Walter Voigt, and three sisters, Mrs. Frederick H. Groves, Mrs. Clara A. Humbert and Mrs. Fred L. Graf.

Dickson Funeral.

Funeral services for R. Garey Dickson, 60, who died Monday, were held from his residence, 319 Carnegie place, today. Mr. Dickson, well-known architect of Pittsburgh and Washington, Pa., started his career at 15 in the office of William Ross Proctor. Later he was affiliated with Alden & Harlow, and then with T. E. Billquist. For a number of years he represented the Mitchell Vance Company, of New York. Mr. Dickson was a member of the Pittsburgh Architectural Club. He leaves his wife, two sons, C. Garey and Ellsworth C.; his mother and father, Charles K. and Mary E. Dickson, and a brother, Frank A.

Pleins Funeral.

Funeral services for Henry F. Pleins, who died at his home, 210 South Mathilda street, will be held in St. Joseph's Church, Bloomfield, at 10 a. m. tomorrow, when solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated. He was born in Kittanning, but had spent most of his life in Pittsburgh. For many years he was identified with the butter and egg business. He leaves three sons, Harry J., William F. and Gerard A. Pleins; a daughter, Miss Aurelia M. Pleins, and a brother, Frank Pleins, all of Pittsburgh.

Horvitz Services.

Funeral services for Baer Horvitz, of 6309 Forbes street, who died yesterday in Montefiore Hospital, will be held tomorrow morning from the New Jewish Home for the Aged, Brown's place. Mr. Horvitz was a member of Rodeph Shalom Temple, a director of the Jewish Home for the Aged, and for many years a participant in work of the Zionist organization, the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith and other communal activities. He leaves his widow, two sons and two daughters.

MONTOUR LETS NEW CONTRACT

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The Pittsburgh Coal Company has awarded a contract to A. G. Rothey & Co., of Elizabeth, Pa., for grading and bridge construction on the fifth link of the new branch of the Montour Railroad.

The 13-mile extension between Negley, O., and Smith's Ferry, Pa., is being rushed to completion in an effort to put the road in service before a legal battle over the right to build it is ended.

The Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads filed an additional brief in Federal Court at Cleveland yesterday in their injunction suit to stop construction on the line.

Primary Repeal Veto May Be Overridden

By MARK SHIELDS

For the first time in legislative history, this session of the General Assembly may see the combative overriding of a gubernatorial veto. In one previous session a veto was overruled, but invitation to that action came from the executive who had unwittingly disapproved a bill he really favored, and asked the Legislature to extricate him from an embarrassment.

Mr. Shields

This year, however, there will be no kid glove atmosphere.

The occasion for fireworks may be the bill of Senator Leroy Chapman, of Warren, to repeal the direct primary act for the nomination of public officials. It was one of the first measures introduced, and has behind it the solid support of the regular Republican organization, as well as a substantial number of Democrats.

In the special session last summer this same bill was introduced as a trial balloon, and was passed in the Senate by the bare constitutional majority of 26 votes. Admittedly the measure had no standing in that session, being without the scope of the Governor's call. But the regulars wished to test their strength.

Sent to the House, the bill was quietly buried in the Election Committee, then headed by Representative D. Glenn Moore, of Washington County. Moore was defeated in the last primary, and the Elections Committee in the House in this session has as its chairman Representative Arnold Blumberg, of Philadelphia, an organization reliable.

* * *

Mrs. Scranton Would Give Measure Aid

In the Senate the chairman of the Elections Committee is Senator John Howell, of Scranton, who will see that the bill is reported out. Senator Howell on this issue would be influenced by Mrs. Marion Margery Scranton, Republican national committeewoman from Pennsylvania, who, together with State Chairman Edward Martin, and other State Committee chiefs, favors a return to the old convention system of making nominations.

Gov. Pinchot is an adherent of the primary system, and so are groups in politics who must look elsewhere than to organization favor for nomination. He is certain to veto any effort to repeal the act.

That is well understood by the regulars, who throughout the autumn and during the last campaign carried on quiet missionary work designed to raise votes sufficient not only to pass a repealer, but to override an executive veto. They believe they are on the verge of that strength in the Senate, and see hope in the House because of the presence of 65 Democrats who, while co-operating with Mr. Pinchot on many matters, probably will show a majority for primary repeal.

Some Democrats believe the convention is the only sure method of protecting their party against Republican raids. Under present conditions Republicans may enter the Democratic primary, and get the nomination of both parties. Evidence of that is at hand in the present session, several of those wearing the Democratic label actually being Republicans, and lined up with the Republican organization on legislative policy.

The primary law could be amended to deal with this situation, but there is little hope such action will be taken. Even some Republican Independents approve party primary raiding, and are found running on the tickets of two or more parties. With the convention system this would not occur, except in isolated instances where a candidate was of such outstanding merit that he would be acceptable to the delegates of all political conventions.

Economy Is Being Used as Pretext

Economy, the stalking horse for many political and legislative agitations during the present business emergency, is being paraded as an inducement to abandon the primary and go back to the convention. It is argued by the repealers that the cost of primary elections is $2,000,000 to the taxpayers annually.

Elimination of the primary would result in saving this money, which now goes to election officials, owners of voting places, printers, and all others connected with the costs of a poll.

But the real economy sought is in the pocketbooks and peace of mind of political bosses and groups which would control politics. They believe that the convention system would cost them less than the prosecution of a primary campaign. And the possibilities of control are more certain—though occasions have been known when pledged delegates sold out their original choices.

The elections group which meets tonight in the Keystone Club to discuss a program for this session should be paying some attention to the Chapman bill, if it wishes the primary retained. Professional politicians have not been negligent in an effort to promote their own desires and about Harrisburg there is an atmosphere of satisfaction with prospects which is surprising.

Talk on Employes' Economic Problems

B. E. Schlesinger, of the Gleason Works, Rochester, N. Y., will speak at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Personnel Association tonight in the Board of Education Building. His subject will be "Providing for the Economic Problems of Employes."

SLEUTH SQUADS HUNT BANDITS

Two picked squads of city detectives, armed with machine and shot guns, cruised the streets of the city last night and early today for holdup men and burglars who had been terrorizing residents for the last two weeks. Capt. of Detectives Howard F. Forner ordered the sleuths, in two radio cars, to halt all suspicious looking characters.

Among the recent holdup victims was Miss Fay Schoonmaker, of the Ruskin Apartments, and daughter of Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker. She and an escort were robbed in front of the apartment house by a bandit pair.

Woman Hurt as Fire Routs Her With Son

Mrs. Josephine Albanese, 30, was injured slightly early today when she fled from her home at 1403-5 Pennsylvania avenue, after fire was discovered on the roof. She suffered a sprained ankle.

Her son, Raymond, 3, who also ran from the house, was reported suffering from shock. Both were treated at home. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Burgwin, Reed Head Two Closed Banks

Supervision of the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company yesterday was given to Hill Burgwin, special deputy of state banking. William D. Gordon, state banking secretary, announced. Burgwin will assume his duties Monday, succeeding George F. Taylor, Jr., who resigned as a special deputy several days ago.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 12

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Well, let's see what we can read in our daily paper and then agitate folks we breakfast with in the morning.

Will Rogers

"Democrats in clash in Senate; Carter Glass and Huey Long fight over banks." Get your Senate gallery seats now for the next four years, for there is going to be fun and amusement for everybody, and "bring the kiddies."

Arguing over banks—I didn't know there was any left.

"Debt issue flares up again in Paris." It flared, but it didn't "flare up" enough to do us any financial good. Even at a French statesman's salary it will cost France more than 20 millions a year just to argue over it.

"Japan takes another hunk of China." That's a daily headline we don't pay any attention to any more. Japan's alibis are the most interesting and unique thing about that war.

Yours, WILL.

HIT-RUN AUTO FELLS WOMAN

Mrs. Hilda Cooper, 40, of 648 Becks Run road, was in a serious condition in St. Joseph's Hospital today from injuries suffered when struck by a hit-and-run car near her home last night.

After the automobile struck and hurled the woman about 50 feet the driver stopped, got out and looked at the victim and then sped away, witnesses told police. The license number of the car was turned over to police.

Joseph Shattung, 43, of 94 South Twenty-sixth street, was injured seriously when he was struck by an automobile near his home last night. He was in St. Joseph's Hospital. George A. Lewandowski, 19, of 6416 Forward avenue, alleged driver of the car, was arrested and later released on a $1,000 bond.

PUPIL FEEDING 'SHOWDOWN' VOTE SET

Garland Will Force Decision on Agency, $100,00 Fund

The battle to determine whether the Board of Education shall continue to feed needy school children or whether the Allegheny County Emergency Association shall care for the children at their homes was brought nearer a climax today by Councilman Robert Garland.

Garland announced that next Tuesday he would force a Council vote in committee meeting. The committee will vote on whether the city should appropriate the $100,000 for the school board.

John S. Herron, president of Council, has given assurance that the children will not go hungry.

CITIZENS PROTEST

A score or more of civic organizations have protested against the Emergency Association's plan.

The fight as to who is to do the feeding has been further complicated by the representatives of the Communist party who have suggested giving the responsibility to a committee of parents and teachers.

Robert Lieberman, representing the Socialist party, presented a resolution asking that the city appropriate $100,000 for the Board of Education to feed undernourished children. It said:

"The Allegheny County Emergency Association has utterly failed from every humanitarian and efficiency viewpoint to fulfill its mission, with particular reference to its failure to provide for more than one-third the milk and food cases submitted to it by the Board of Public Education."

CHARGES EVASION

Elmer F. Cope, of the Unemployed League of Pittsburgh, declared the Emergency Association has imposed itself upon the public and that its policy is one of evasion and eviction.

Delay of a final decision on the method of school feeding was asked by Dr. F. J. Tyson, representing the Civic Club of Allegheny County. Tyson favored feeding in the schools.

Herron in answer pointed out that there is no intention to discontinue relief, and that the only question is a difference of opinion on the method.

N. R. Criss, of the School Board, present at the meeting, was asked by Herron if he knew how the meeting had been arranged. Criss denied knowledge of the arrangements. He said there had been no attempt to abandon the feeding.

Jack Johnstone, representing the Communist party, scored both the School Board and the Emergency Association, saying:

"I hold no brief for the School Board or the people that want to take the feeding away from the School Board."

Dr. Ralph S. Boots, representing the League for Social Justice, introduced a number of speakers favoring feeding the children by the school authorities, who included P. J. McGrath and P. T. Fagan, of the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union; Sidney A. Teller, Dr. Warren Madden and Mrs. W. C. Williams.

TWO MARATHON DANCERS WED

Cupid stepped out on the marathon dance floor again last night, when Charles Richmond and Helena May Myers were married at 10 p. m., in Elk Hall, Etna.

Strangely enough—or is it—the happy pair are not partners in the competition. Charlie, who has danced a total of 179 days, was in the super marathon, but quit Tuesday night. Helena entered the amateur competition two weeks ago to be on the same floor as her sweetheart. She is still dancing.

The Richmonds plan a curious honeymoon—Helena to dance—while her husband cheers her from the sidelines.

Bandits Hold Up Gas Station in Homewood

Four armed bandits held up the Cities Service station, Hamilton and Dallas avenues, and escaped with $40 last night.

Harold Winkler, 21, of Darlington road, the attendant, was forced to open the safe from which the gunmen obtained the cash. Police said the license tags used on the bandit car had been stolen from an auto owned by A. C. Gans, of 6335 Marchand street, shortly before the holdup.

Japan Finds War Is Cheaper on Wholesale Basis

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Japan will withdraw from Lausanne peace conference.

It figures that war is much cheaper wholesale.

We can't see how China and Japan can still fight. We thought that Floyd Gibbons had captured both sides.

There are riots in Spain and battles in Bolivia. There's always trouble in the Balkans and tariff reprisals in the Senate.

Which means the peace that passes all understanding has lapped the field again.

Remember the exhorter's sermon about the chained, manacled and handcuffed Satan on the mountain? In spite of all his fetters he would come down and grab the evildoer.

Whereupon an evildoer in the congregation reached for his hat and hollered:

"He might as well be loose."

HEARING FOR 2 IN 'SHAKEDOWN'

Justice of the Peace Henry Williams and Police Chief Thomas Saunders, both of Stowe Township, were free under $2,500 bail today pending hearings on conspiracy and extortion charges after county detectives had arrested them in an alleged plot to "shake down" a motorist accused of driving while under the influence of liquor.

The detectives raided Williams' office and the township police station Tuesday night. Detective Chief George W. Murren made informations against the men before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan and they furnished bail pending hearings at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Walter S. Roberts, of 3610 Colmar avenue, Bloomfield, was arrested December 25 and posted bond for violation of the state motor code. Special Investigator David Drexler, of the District Attorney's office, said Saunders made the original information against Roberts and told Roberts he could have the case settled by paying $50 to Williams.

The detectives said Roberts paid Williams $50 in marked money Tuesday night and the raid followed. As they rushed in, the detectives reported, Williams threw into a fire the information against Roberts and two bail pieces Roberts had posted.

LOTTERY, RUM ARRESTS NET 25

Hundreds in Braddock See Troopers Make Poolroom Arrests

Twenty-six persons, accused of gambling, bootlegging or numbers-writing, agreed today that the prohibition agents, county detectives and state police were making life more or less miserable for them.

These three groups of sleuths, operating independently, staged a series of raids in the city and county which brought a total of 26 prisoners.

RAID IN BRADDOCK

Several hundred customers were enjoying themselves when the state police descended upon the Owl Bowling and Billiard Parlors at 630 Braddock avenue, Braddock, arrested 12 and reported seizing a lottery outfit, dice tables, punchboards and adding machine.

The prisoners were listed as John Abner, Eugene Litman, Stanley Lasuslinski, Mike Miallo, Henry Jones, George Milko, John Robinson, Tyles Johnston, John Strednak, William Berkowitz, Henry Orse and Frank Marino.

The third raid in two months was made on the confectionery and restaurant of Samuel Widowitz in Fifth avenue by county detectives. Charged with violating the Snyder act, he was held under $1,000 bail.

LOTTERY RAID

Constantino Di Fino, 20, of Solfel street, Mt. Washington, was arrested in a confectionery in Smithfield street and held for investigation. In a confectionery in Water street, the sleuths arrested Joseph Madden, on a charge of maintaining a lottery. They reported seizing a slot machine and numbers books.

Tony Discourtd, 50, of Ridge street, Clairton, was held for court by Justice of the Peace C. L. Patterson, of Clairton, following a raid which detectives said yielded them a 75-gallon still, 21 barrels of mash and 75 gallons of moonshine.

Dennis Johnson also was held for court on a charge of violating the Snyder act following his arrest in Ferry street, West Elizabeth, according to detectives.

WEST ELIZABETH ARREST

Joe Justine was held for investigation on a charge of operating a disorderly house following his arrest in Front street, West Elizabeth.

A 100-gallon still and 10 gallons of whisky were reported seized by Center avenue police in a raid on the third floor in Roberts street. Ray Sands, 22, was arrested.

Seven persons were arrested by prohibition agents in four raids. Beer and intoxicants were reported confiscated.

Those arrested, according to the agents, were James Greco, of Logan street; Mrs. Louise Taggart and Miss Maud Luckey, of Euler way; Benito Quintelo and Carmel Lazzarino at the Valentina Restaurant in Midland, and Frank DiDominico and Olive DiDominico, of Monongahela avenue, Swissvale.

Acting on a complaint received by Judge Frank P. Patterson, county detectives, under Lawrence Kline, today raided a confectionery at 1423 Reedsdale street, seized two jugs of moonshine and arrested the alleged proprietor, Otto Charles Verdekal. Detectives reported Verdekal's wife broke one jug of liquor as the detectives entered. Verdekal was held for court at a hearing before Alderman Thomas M. Geary.

WATER'S SCARCE IN MILLVALE AND HERE'S WHY

MRS. CAROLINE FOLTZ DRAWING EMERGENCY WATER SUPPLY

Mrs. Foltz, 876 Stanton avenue, Millvale, filling tubs, pots and pans as borough officials requested when it became necessary to stop the river pumps for a day. There is water available—250,000 gallons stored in the reservoir. These are Sun-Telegraph pictures.

ENGINEERS ROWING OUT TO GOVERNMENT RIVER DREDGE

The activity on the Allegheny at Millvale, the reason for the shutdown pumps. U. S. Engineers are surveying the river bottom near the intake for the water supply. The pumps probably will be working again tonight, the water supply back to normal tomorrow.

WATER SHUT OFF IN MILLVALE

Millvale borough officials expected to have a sufficient water supply on hand today for the public needs while its water plant is idle, provided that enough housewives had postponed their wash days.

Pumping at the plant ceased at 7:30 a. m. as government engineers began surveying the Allegheny River in the vicinity of the intake for the water supply. The pumps operated all night and 250,000 gallons of water was in the reservoir this morning.

Employes at the water works said this amount is sufficient to last 24 hours, unless the consumption is unusually great. Wash day, they said, ordinarily would empty the tank by 2 p. m.

The borough officials yesterday called upon the citizenry to draw as much water as possible into tubs and other vessels.

Machine Age Discussed In Berlin by Dr. Baker

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—America will be the first country called upon to solve the question of the machine, Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, said in an address before the Carl Schurz Society. This is the second address given by Dr. Baker in Germany under a grant from the Oberlaender Trust of the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation.

Speaking on the machine and its problems, Dr. Baker continued:

"America has done most to create it; she is more completely dominated by it than any other nation. She will be required to decide whether this domination shall be beneficent or pernicious—whether the increasing freedom from burdensome physical tasks will create a new and higher culture or whether the dependence upon mechanical contrivances will weaken the vitality of the race and destroy its creative power."

STEEL AND IRON IMPORTS STRIKE AT INDUSTRY HERE

FOREIGN LABOR AIDED; HOME MILLS SHUT

By MICHAEL W. STRAUS
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Imported steel and iron, by virtue of low foreign wage scales, are making huge inroads on the American market.

New federal figures for 11 months of 1932 today revealed that while American mills were largely closed, and production down 48.7 per cent from the 1931 level, imports had dropped only 11.7 per cent.

Behind these cold figures, taken from United States government records, lies part of the story of why the smokestacks of steel mills in Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania are smokeless, and the steel workers of those communities are daily getting into a worse plight.

LABOR ABROAD AIDED

With their own steel workers jobless and frequently hungry, American citizens who did not "Buy American" kept the furnaces of Belgium, Holland, France and Germany aglow. In November alone Americans bought so freely that 20 out of the 34 classes into which steel imports are divided actually showed increases.

The 11-month trade showed 348,892 tons hurdling the tariff wall with each ton signifying the loss of approximately one week's work for a jobless American. Most important gains were shown in imports of structural shapes, merchant steel bars, hoops and bands, barbed wire, pig iron and nails. Belgium, first nation to announce its debt default, had ranking place in profit on steel trade with the United States.

COAST MARKETS SUFFER

Freight rates kept some of the inland free from the foreign invasion, but left the rich seacoast markets vulnerable to the foreign flood. While actual tonnages of imports were small compared to American production, their havoc was widespread. They undermined American price structure, and put the American workmen in direct competition with the European laborer getting less than one-third the American wage.

Belgium landed 87,742 tons of steel in the United States, of which structural steel—a high-priced product—was the leader. Holland's 71,006 tons were largely pig iron, while Germany, 52,742 tons, specialized in barbed wire with nearly a 60 per cent increase which, records show, drove American barbed wire out of Gulf and Seacoast ports and a large part of Texas, the biggest consuming state.

Barbed wire is an American invention and long has been regarded as a purely American product.

England, with its depreciated pound, also managed to crash the American market and hoisted its exports from 19,035 to 34,767 tons in comparable 1931 and 1932 periods of 11 months—the latest reported.

Buy American!

NAME OF GIRL'S SLAYER KNOWN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Authorities revealed today that they know the name of one of the men who beat 19-year-old Rose McCloskey to death and seriously injured her companion, Dennis Boyle, in Fairmount Park last Thursday night.

They said it had been told them by one of three young men who found Boyle wandering about a street a few blocks from the park entrance near where the girl's body was discovered.

Detectives said the man informed them that Boyle, when he was found, had said:

"I had a fight with ——."

Police refused to reveal the name mentioned.

Authorities have not told Boyle that the 19-year-old saleslgirl is dead. They said they will be unable to check on the name given them until Boyle is sufficiently recovered to learn of Miss McCloskey's slaying.

KILLER SUSPECT IN JAILBREAK

GASTONIA, N. C., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Frank Williams, wanted in Aurora, Ill., for slaying a policeman, and George Martin, one of his confederates in the recent Merchants and Farmers Bank robbery at Stanly, were among eight prisoners who escaped from the county jail here early today.

Federal authorities here said Williams was known in Aurora and other cities in all parts of the country where he has criminal records, as William Von Gundy.

Martin was said to be wanted in Los Angeles, where he was said to have a long police record under the alias of Thomas Sharkey.

The men and six prisoners held for lesser crimes sawed their way out through the roof of their cell block while officers were several miles away at the scene of an automobile theft, which resulted in a chase and a wreck which proved fatal to Reid Davis, the thief.

SUNDAY MOVIE IN TUBE CITY

Another benefit show is scheduled for Sunday at the Warner Theater, McKeesport. It will be sponsored by the St. Vincent de Paul Society of the Tube City. Food and clothing will be the only requirements for admission. Doors will be open at 2 o'clock and the show will be continuous until 11 o'clock.

Canned goods and standard package goods are preferred—also clothing that is still fit to wear. All donations will be distributed to McKeesport needy.

Church Bells to Ring In Foster Tribute

Eight belfry programs will feature the tribute tomorrow to Stephen C. Foster, it was announced today by the community fine arts committee of the Civic Club of Allegheny County, under whose direction a nation-wide program is being promoted over the National Broadcasting Company's network.

The belfry programs will be heard from Calvary Episcopal, Mifflin Avenue Methodist, St. James' Roman Catholic, St. Stephen's Episcopal, North Highland Presbyterian and other churches.

AWAIT EATON'S HALL SITE AID

The question whether Attorney Oliver K. Eaton will aid the county in fighting the purchase of the Nicola town hall site is one Eaton will have to answer for himself, it was said today. Eaton and the county officials have held several conferences recently.

Eaton, with former Mayor William A. Magee, represented groups of taxpayers who objected to the Nicola site and is entirely familiar with the case, Commissioner C. C. McGovern said, but Eaton has not yet reached an agreement with County Solicitor J. P. Fife.

There is pending in Common Pleas Court action on a demurrer filed by the Schenley Farms Corporation from the county's answer to the company's suit to force payment.

Commissioner McGovern believes Eaton can strengthen the county's position by making amendments to the petition now before the courts.

"Best there is—distilled water."

Sweeney said:

"Well, we can't fine a man for good stuff. Discharged!"

CHEAP FOREIGN GLASS PERILS U. S. INDUSTRY

America's first industrial enterprise and the one in which this country has remained supreme for a century is threatened by importation of inferior European glassware, according to Dr. Alexander Silverman, head of the department of chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh.

Indorsing the "Buy American" campaign in a talk yesterday before members of the Cincinnati branch of the American Chemical Society, Dr. Silverman warned the scientists that the influx of cheap, foreign glass was glutting domestic markets and that steps should be taken to educate the public against being misled into buying this glass of inferior quality.

FIRST U. S. FACTORY

Dr. Silverman pointed out in his talk that the first industrial enterprise in America was a glass factory established in Virginia in 1607.

Universally recognized as an authority on glassware and the process of its manufacture, Dr. Silverman has one of the largest private collections of rare glass existing today. Also indorsing "Buy American" were members of the Business Men's Association of the East North Side, Julius Schmidt, president. Following an address at the weekly luncheon of the group, it unanimously passed a resolution to urge friends and relatives to buy American-made goods.

"Buy American" was the keynote in the window displays of McCreery's, Sixth avenue and Wood street, while James H. Matthews & Co. announced the marketing of a new stamp, the "Buy American" stamp, for impressing letters, cards and advertising matter.

BOROUGHS IN LINE

Four borough councils added their voice of protest against foreign-made goods glutting the American market in as many meetings, resolutions being passed at each urging "Buy American."

They were McKees Rocks, where Councilman Lloyd Sutherland presented the resolution, President C. S. Dorr presiding; West View Council, Councilman Walter Hunt presenting it, and President John Reed presiding; Millvale Council, Councilman David Iseman presenting it, and President William Conlon presiding, and North Braddock Council, Borough Secretary J. O. Jones presenting it, and President J. M. McLeith presiding.

Ross C. Purdy, general secretary of the American Ceramic Society, spoke on WCAE on "Buy American" at noon, while manufacturers and business men of the New Kensington district gathered at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in New Kensington, with the director of the "Buy American" campaign speaking. Tonight, in Tarentum, a "Buy American" rally will be held by the Tarentum Taxpayers' League.

MINGO JUNCTION, O., Jan. 12.—The "Buy American" movement was indorsed by the Jefferson County American Legion Council here. The ex-service men present will present the proposition to individual posts.

UNIONPORT, O., Jan. 12.—An address by Solicitor Carl Weinman, of Steubenville, on "Buy American" marked the Jefferson County visitation meeting of Knights of Pythias lodges here. Stickers for auto windshields were distributed to all lodges represented.

Sharon Legionnaires Vote 'Buy American'

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 12.—The "Buy American" movement was today indorsed by members of the Sharon Post of the American Legion. More than 200 members of the post voted in favor of the plan.

Judge Studies Case of Girl, Father Killer

FRANCES LASSITER, 16

Tantrum and Terror Hinted by Doctors As Defense

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The case of Frances Lassiter, 16-year-old school girl, was taken under advisement today by Juvenile Judge John Massey after he had heard alienists testify that she shot and killed her father, A. M. Lassiter, during "a tantrum or its epileptic equivalent, paternally inherited."

In making his announcement the judge said he would give no credence to a self-defense plea, but that he wanted to consider the girl's case from the angle involving her mentality.

Dr. Asa Shields, Richmond psychiatrist, testifying for the defense, said it was entirely possible for the girl to have been conscious a moment before and a moment after the fatal shooting, but he believed after an examination, that the first shot was fired at the father during a tantrum.

He said that the second and third shots which the girl poured into her father when he turned upon her, may have been fired in sheer terror.

His testimony was corroborated by Dr. J. Kennedy Corss, local physician, who assisted in the mental examination of the girl, who is charged with murder.

The father, Alexander M. Lassiter, was shot on the night of December 22, as he participated in a search for a doll wanted by Frances for a "kiddy" party. He stumbled upon some recent purchases made by Mrs. Lassiter, in a closet, and rebuked the mother for buying things without his knowledge. The girl said she shot her father because he abused her mother.

Plaintiffs Lose in 2 Auto Injury Suits

Simon P. Cohill, of Braddock, lost his suit against Julius Fisher, whom he had sued for $25,000 damages for an injury to a hand, suffered in an automobile collision on the William Penn Highway, about two years ago.

H. L. Bedallion, injured in an automobile collision on the North Side in 1928, sued Dan Raschuck for damages, but lost his suit, the jury finding for the defendant.

FUND FOR ARMY CUT BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Touching off the annual preparedness battle in Congress, the House Appropriations Committee today reported the annual Army supply bill, slashing purely military funds $31,584,436 under last year.

The measure carries $345,833,532. Of this amount, $273,079,588 is for military activities, the remaining being for non-military activities in the War Department.

The measure was cut $110,908,981, the reduction being accomplished largely by deducting funds appropriated for emergency relief, rivers and harbors and flood control work last year.

As reported the bill was cut $6,696,613 under the budget. Of this amount $4,651,253 is cut off the Army estimates.

Principal changes from the budget are:

Citizens military training camps entirely suspended for one year.

Increases budget allowance for National Guard $9,134,831 to permit 48 drills a year.

Keeps officer strength at 12,000 and enlisted strength at 118,750.

Slightly increases funds for chemical warfare and allots $180,000 specifically for Christie tanks.

Reduces Air Corps slightly, the cut being $494,375.

Carries funds for purchase of 375 planes.

Accepts budget recommendation of $39,388,129 for rivers and harbors and $19,653,424 for flood control, a sharp curtailment.

Bill Allots $1,165,000 For Ohio River Work

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Provision for expenditure of $1,165,000 for improvement of the Ohio River was contained in the War Department supply bill, reported to the House today by the Appropriations Committee.

It was the only such allotment for Pennsylvania.

Of the $39,388,000 total for rivers and harbor work, $1,200,000 would go for maintenance in the Ohio, and $4,000 for maintenance of the Youghiogheny.

Erie harbor would be allotted $23,000 for maintenance.

MURDER DEPUTY AND PRISONER

JACKSON, Ky., Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Ambushed as they walked to jail, a deputy sheriff and his prisoner were shot to death before dawn today in this county seat of "Bloody Breathitt."

Officers, who had gone on ahead with another prisoner, heard firing, rushed to a bridge spanning the north fork of the Kentucky River and found the bodies of Deputy Sheriff James Marshall, 40, and Richard Jett, 60, farmer.

Revenge against Marshall was believed the motive for the attack, with Jett falling an innocent victim. Officers were uncertain whether the gunmen sought to avenge Jett's arrest or to retaliate for a liquor raid participated in by Marshall a year ago.

19 Die as Spanish Troops Bomb House

MADRID, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Nineteen extremists engaged in anti-government activities, were reported to have been killed today when civil guards and assault guards bombed a house at Casa Viejas where they had taken refuge.

EASIEST WAY TO BREAK UP COLDS

Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets every three hours. Drink lots of water between times—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up, poisons leave your system and you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now for a few cents. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works.

WILHELM TURNS ON NAZIS

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Prince August Wilhelm Hohenzollern faces a dilemma in risking the cutting off of further funds by his father or leaving Adolf Hitler's movement.

Wilhelm II, who believed the Nazis were pro-monarchist, did not object to his son joining the movement and, according to reports current in Reichstag cloakrooms, even supplied funds for the movement. Of late he has become convinced, however, that Hitler's "Third Reich" will not mean the restoration of the monarchy when and if erected. Therefore he, as well as the Crown Prince, are pressing hard upon "Auwi" to desert the Nazis.

Hohenzollern headquarters declined to comment, but a Nazi spokesman said:

"The prince only yesterday declared most emphatically that he will not leave Hitler even though it mean a break with his family. He may, however, go to Italy temporarily after finishing the Lippe campaign."

Restaurant Employe Held in Blast Quiz

Theodore Schroth, arrested in connection with a gas explosion in a restaurant at 3426 Butler street, where he was employed, today was held for further investigation by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg.

Pat Gallagher, another employe, was burned severely when he attempted to light the range. Fire followed the explosion.

Schroth testified he turned on the gas in the basement at Gallagher's request. Detectives said they learned the pipes leading from the meter to the range were defective.

Mother Gives Poison To Child and Self

ESCANABA, Mich., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Esther Thompson and son, Billy, 8, are in an Escanaba Hospital in a serious condition from poison police said was administered the child by the mother, who then swallowed some herself. Separation from her husband was given by police as reason for the woman's act.

'DEVIL ANSE'S' HOME BURNS

LOGAN, W. Va., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The old Hatfield homestead, home of "Devil Anse" Hatfield, clan leader in the Hatfield-McCoy feud many years ago, was in ashes today.

The building, site of annual Hatfield family reunions in recent years, and many highly prized guns and other relics of feudal days, were destroyed by fire.

The blaze, Tennis Hatfield, only occupant of the homestead said, apparently started in an old mud chimney on the outside of the home while he was away for several hours.

HITLER POWER EXPLAINED

Sex appeal and German mass psychology won followers for Adolf Hitler, but unless the economic condition is aggravated, the Nazi movement will continue to wane, according to Dr. Emil Lengyel of Budapest, speaking today before the Pittsburgh Morning Lecture Service in Hotel William Penn.

Dr. Lengyel, Hungarian lawyer and journalist who, as an authority on Central European conditions, recently wrote a book on Hitler, described the movement's growth as due to the despair of German voters. He said:

"The foundation of Hitler's campaign is colorful. The call for strong manliness in his Brown Shirts is picturesque both to the men and women. Despite the plans to deprive women of suffrage and send them back to kitchens, Hitler has a strong feminine following.

"The German needs two things, bread and work. Let him have these two requisites of his people and despair will vanish. Without despairing people, Hitler's Nazis cannot exist. It is very likely that Hitler or one of his representatives will join with the existing government."

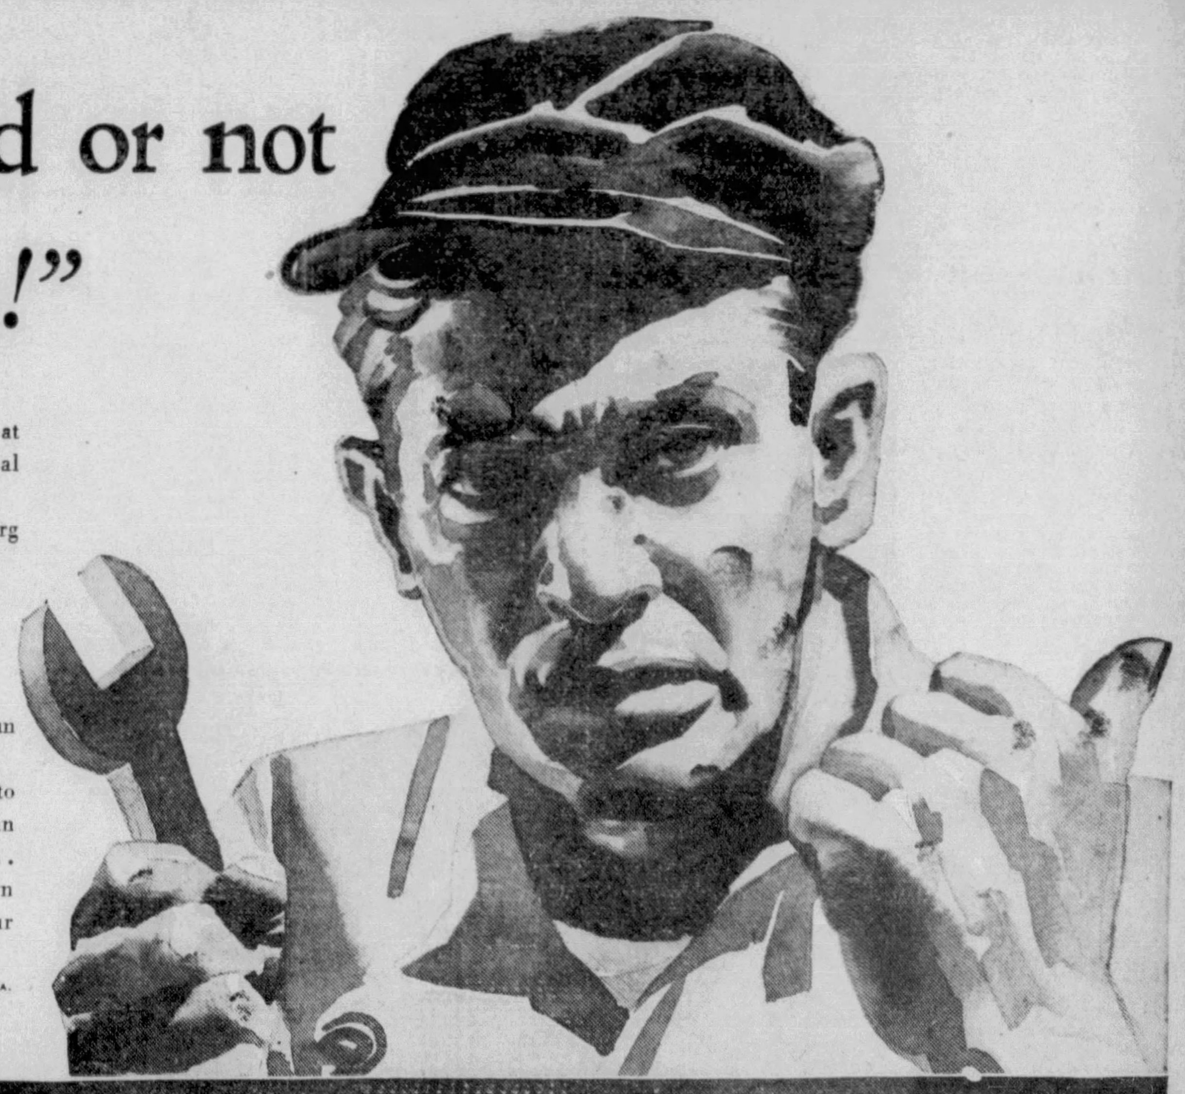
"Whether you speed or not —get an oil that can!"



"TAKE IT from an old 'engine doctor'—you need speed in your motor oil!

"Even if you never push your car past 40, you need Gulf Supreme—that 100-mile-an-hour motor oil! And there's no mystery why . . .

"Speed shows up oil. An oil that can do 60 may be fair enough. But an oil that can do 100 and like it, is a better, safer oil . . . at ANY speed you drive!

"It gives you plus lubrication. Extra resistance. Extra richness. Extra defense against wear and repairs. It couldn't take 100-mile-an-hour punishment if it didn't!"

Twice Gulf Supreme has proved itself a "fighter"... First, by lubricating a test motor at nearly twice the heat of the normal speeding engine—for 14 solid hours!

Second, by lubricating a Duesenberg racer roaring around the Indianapolis Speedway. In this Official A A A test, Supreme performed perfectly at speeds nearly as high as two miles a minute. An average speed for the one-hour, non-stop run of better than 100-miles-an-hour!

Take this tip! Change to Gulf Supreme now! It can take super-punishment . . . cut oil costs . . . pare down repair bills . . . lengthen your motor's life!

WARNING!

. . . OIL that isn't good at high speeds, isn't good enough at ANY speed!

All Sewickley is at the benefit bridge today in the home of Mrs. W. D. George—that is, all those who've succumbed to that engrossing diversion of contract.

As I mentioned yesterday, the proceeds of this and subsequent parties, will be used to buy supplies for the Sewickley Child Health Association. And to repeat, the association furnishes hot chocolate or hot soup every weekday in nine schools in the Sewickley Valley.

Those who deliver supplies are Mrs. John Lincoln, Katherine Walker, Martha Yost, Elizabeth Higgins, Fredericka Holdship, Eleanor George, Mrs. David Meade Gilmore and Laura Childs.

Georgianna and Katherine Colin are workers and so are Susan O'Neil, Margaret Holdship, Margaret McCready, Harrie Ramsburg, Mary Elizabeth Floyd, Caroline Crittenden, Elizabeth Childs, Lois Tack and Virginia Jones.

Parent-Teacher Units to Hear Talks, Music

"Child Education and Vocational Guidance" is the subject of a talk to be given by Dr. Anthony Goldberger, for the Parent-Teacher Association of the Thomas Wightman School on Tuesday evening. Dr. Goldberger is head of the vocational guidance department in the school of education, University of Pittsburgh. Miss Grace Hildebrand will give a group of vocal selections, accompanied by A. C. Floyd.

"Am I My Brother's Keeper?" is the topic to be discussed by John McNeil, warden Allegheny County Jail, at the P. T. A. meeting of the McNaugher, Linwood-Milroy schools in the Linwood School Tuesday evening. Orval Draper will be soloist and also will lead group singing.

Pittsburgh District Dairy Council will furnish the program for the monthly business meeting of the John Burroughs Parent-Teacher Association next Thursday.

The January meeting of the Crafton P. T. A. will be held in the auditorium of the Second Ward School, on Wednesday afternoon, and will be addressed by Dr. Martin P. Chworowsky, principal of the Falk Elementary School. His subject will be "The Activities Program in the Modern School." The musical portion of the program will be presented by a vocal trio from the music department of the Crafton Women's Club.

Semple School units in Wilkinsburg will meet at 3 o'clock next Thursday, with "Leisure" as the discussion topic. Mrs. Laura Holland McDonald, Girl Scout director, and John Danton, Boy Scout master, will be guest speakers, and music will be furnished by the Mothers' Quartet.

Turner School unit's program for Tuesday evening will include a talk by Scoutmaster John Danton on "Leisure," and a scout demonstration. Music will include piano selections by Mrs. Charles A. McDade.

Turner School welfare work is being continued. Needy children are being given a substantial noonday lunch in the homes of P. T. A. members and the response of members sewing for the needy has been gratifying. The parent education class under the leadership of Mrs. A. M. Replogle which meets each Tuesday morning in Turner School building, is proving interesting, helpful and instructive.

The Rev. Albert G. Curry, of the Goodwill Industries, will talk on "Character Building" before the Wilkinsburg Council of P. T. A.'s in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel on Wednesday afternoon. A short parliamentary drill under Mrs. Arnold M. Replogle's direction will precede the program.

Instead of its usual afternoon meeting, the Quaill Parent-Teacher Association will have an evening meeting tomorrow in the school, in Ross Township. Scout Troop 36 will give a demonstration and Mrs. Laura Holland McDonald, director of Allegheny County Girl Scouts, will talk on "Scouting As a Community Asset."

Braddock College Club Will Make Book Survey

A "literary survey" of America for 1932 will make an interesting program for tomorrow evening's meeting of the College Club of Braddock, a group of young women who have been graduates within the last two or three years. They will meet in Miss Anna Gerwig's home, Kirkpatrick avenue, North Braddock, Miss Fannie Mae Charlesworth assisting Miss Gerwig.

Biographies will be discussed by Miss Helen Behoff; novels by Miss Millicent Leeper; poetry will be Miss Virginia Flanagan's subject and Miss Elizabeth Watkins will take up miscellaneous books. Miss Doris Peoples is president of the club, which was organized a year and a half ago.

Legion Benefit Party Plans Discussed

A meeting of the ways and means committee of the American Legion Auxiliary to East Liberty Post No. 5 is being held today at the home of Mrs. Tice Ryan, Hampton street, to plan for a benefit theater party. Mrs. Kathleen Neal, Mrs. Harry Dunmire, Mrs. C. E. Emch, Mrs. Charles Schisano and Mrs. Ryan form the committee.

Mrs. Joseph A. Langfitt will entertain the executive committee of the auxiliary on Monday afternoon at her home in Murray avenue, and on Thursday evening the January meeting will take place in the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. Mrs. Hubert Chapman, national defense chairman, is the speaker.

Mrs. Dice Arranging University Luncheon

Arrangements for the international luncheon of the Pittsburgh branch, American Association of University Women, to be held Saturday, at the Hotel Schenley, are in charge of Mrs. J. Mt. Lebanon Club Issues Bulletin

MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG.

An excellent and concise summary of the work of the Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club is given in the bulletin, the first one ever published by this organization, the object of which is to acquaint the members with the club's various departments of work which there is not time to report at the regular meetings.

The treasurer's report is included in the bulletin and shows a total net worth of $11,480.86 and this in spite of unpaid dues. The club membership now totals 525, counting the 21 new members who have joined since June 1. Announcement is made of a series of dessert bridges which Mrs. A. Milne Ramsay's ways and means committee is planning in order to raise $600 necessary for benevolent work. This includes the scholarship fund, community relief and the Castle Shannon Social Center.

The beulletin also informs its readers that classes in French are being conducted under auspices of the educational committee; the legislative committee urges the members to watch Congress and the State Legislature and to "be prepared to be helpful and, if need be, indignant.

Objectionable films have been withdrawn from the local motion picture house upon complaint of the better movie committee and among other items of especial interest is that a house to house canvass in behalf of the Library Association is to be made in the spring.

Dry Anniversary Tea to Be Held On Tuesday

Miss Mary B. Ervin, of Xenia, O., field secretary of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will be the main speaker at the prohibition anniversary tea to be held in the downtown Y. M. C. A. Tuesday at 2 o'clock. The neighboring counties are joining in this celebration and will be represented on the program by their local presidents. Mrs. E. J. Gibson, president of Allegheny County, will preside and Mrs. A. C. McMillan, social chairman, will have charge of the tea. Miss Linnie Long, of Beaver Falls, and Mrs. R. B. Robinson, both state officers, will take part in the program.

UNUSUAL VARIETY PRESENTED IN WINTER SPORTS COSTUMES

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 12. — There is more than one way of dressing, according to Paris dressmakers, for winter sports. This year's collections of winter-sport clothes include a wide variety of costumes—classic ski suits and skating skirts for women who are active in those sports, and other half-way costumes for those few women who like to spend their holidays at winter resorts but who do not take active interest in the sports.

* * *

MAX'S SPORTS ensemble, pictured in today's sketch, is just one of those costumes. It is a combination of skirt, jacket and blouse—all made of sturdy hard-turned-thread woolens that defy rain, snow and wind, but which may be worn satisfactorily on occasions and at places where active sports costumes would be out of place. One may hike, skate, climb or do a mild amount of skiing in such a costume. Strangely enough, it is equally suitable for golf.

* * *

THE SKIRT, which gives plenty of fullness at the hem, in spite of its snug fit about the hips, is of stripes which alternate combinations of black and white, with black and red, together with an occasional all-black stripe.

* * *

THE JACKET, with its raglan sleeves for freedom of arm movement, its hook-and-eye steel fastenings, and its practical pockets, is of course ribbed woolen. All its seams are doubled. The blouse, of light-weight black woolen, repeats the lines of the jacket, save for a rolled collar in the turtle-neck manner.

Minor Play-Offs Jokes. Comebacks Fool Critics.

SIXTH-PLACE CLUB MAY WIN PENNANT

IN THEIR DESPERATE efforts to coax some additional dollars through the gate in lean times, the minor league baseball magnates continue to set aside established systems of pennant competition for the sole purpose of making an extra show akin to the ridiculous play-offs in hockey. The play-off arrangement adopted by President Charles H. Knapp's International League at its meeting yesterday is even funnier than the system previously decided on by the American Association. In the latter loop the club that finishes fifth may win the pennant, but the International goes it one better, inasmuch as the flag may go to the club that comes home in sixth place.

Charles H. Knapp

It is possible that after the league has played a full season of 168 games to eliminate only four clubs, the four teams of the Northern section may finish in the first division, and the four teams of the Southern section may land in the second division, or vice versa. That would bring the first-place and fifth-place clubs together in one preliminary play-off, with the second-place and sixth-place teams meeting in the other. It might happen that these first-round play-offs would result in such a way that the final play-off would find the pennant being played for by the clubs that finished fifth and sixth in the regular race, and then the club that finished only two notches from the bottom in an eight-club league might win the pennant in a seven-game sideshow and go into the little world series. They're making a joke of baseball to get the money.

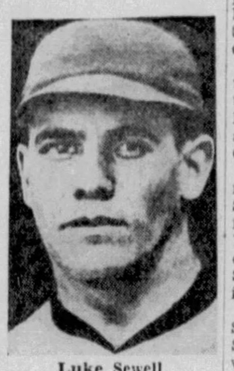
SOMEBODY'S WRONG IN connection with the starting lineup of the Cardinals. Recently Frankie Frisch said "nothing doing" when it was suggested that he might be moved to shortstop.

Now comes Manager Gabby Street to announce that if Charley Gelbert isn't able to start, Frisch will be the Cardinal shortstop and Martin will play third. It remains to be seen who's boss.

WHETHER IT'S TO be Martin or Orsatti for the bench if Gelbert starts and Frisch goes to third is not divulged. But one outfield point on which Street is firmly set is that Watkins is to be a full-time player instead of being lifted when the club is facing a left-hander.

Watkins will be on duty for 154 games unless he is incapacitated, Street declares. The Cardinal pilot feels that George can hit southpaws and that he is too important a ball player to be spending part of the season in the dugout, as in the past.

IN BROOKLYN THEY think Outfielder Ike Boone has left the majors this time for keeps. The Dodgers recently sold the big slugger to Toronto in the International League, and Flatbush fans and critics are of the opinion that he never will return to the majors. He is 35 now, long past the age at which ball players may be expected to improve. Boone's case is a tragic one. He has been one of the greatest of minor league sluggers. He led every minor league in which he ever played—the Georgia State, the Southern, the Texas, the Pacific Coast and the International. But slowness of foot kept him from making the grade in the majors. The Giants, Red Sox, White Sox and Dodgers tried him in turn and all cast him adrift. Lack of speed prevented him from finding a place in the big show where his rare hitting ability might have made him a star.



Luke Sewell

BOONE WAS ONE of a quartet of players that made the famous University of Alabama team in 1918 a college standout. The others were Joe and Luke Sewell and Riggs Stephenson, all major league stars later and still hanging on in defiance of passing years.

Joe Sewell was adjudged done when the Indians turned him loose, but he took a new lease of life with the Yankees. They said Stephenson's legs would crack before midseason last year, but he was a big factor in the Cubs' pennant victory. He played in 147 games and hit .324. The Indians could see no further service in Luke Sewell when they traded him recently for Roy Spencer, but perhaps Luke, when he gets to Washington, will be the third to fool the dopesters.

BACK FROM AUSTRALIA, Charley Root, Cub pitcher, expresses the opinion that the Bruins will repeat for the National League flag if they can beat out the Pirates and Braves.

Root thinks Chicago may have two clubs fighting it out in the world series this year, to repeat the show of 1906. He says he would not be surprised to see the White Sox beat out the Yankees.

YOUR OLD FRIEND Red Mason, without whom it appears that boxing in Pittsburgh just isn't boxing at all, writes from Chicago: "I am interested in a fighter I believe to be the best middleweight in the country today. He is Frankie O'Brien, who knocked out Tait Littman in the second round of a bout in Milwaukee last week. I seconded O'Brien, and met many old-timers during my trip. One of them was Bob Moha, the 'cave man,' and he asked about Pittsburgh. He also scoffed at the present-day custom of haggling over a few pounds, and cited the time when he fought Joe Cox in New York and gave away more than 50 pounds. I had Harry Greb fight Moha six times.

"SPEAKING OF GREB, I have seen him referred to in print several times as having been middleweight champion under the management of George Engel. That is not true. Engel never had Greb when the latter was middleweight champion, and I will bet a little on it. Once he did try to get a match with Johnny Wilson for the title when he had Greb, but it never took place.

"I was shocked to learn of poor John Gruber's death. He had always been so good to me. I remember the day 40 years ago when he started as official scorer and took the place of a man named McLean, the only man to hold the job in Pittsburgh before him."

IT IS EXPLAINED that Jim Crowley, Fordham's new football coach, did not acquire his nickname of "Sleepy Jim" because of any habit of taking a nap before games. It was tagged on him because of his lazy expression.

Ernie Smith

Incidentally, taking a nap before games is recommended by Nat Holman, former star basketball player now floor coach at College of the City of New York. He says it stores up a reserve of energy, as boxers discovered many years ago.

IF THE SUPPLY of gold footballs runs out, you can blame it on Ernie Smith. The great Trojan tackle has almost a monopoly on such emblems, his collection for last season being probably the largest ever boasted by one player for a single campaign. Smith came up with no fewer than five. Two accompanied all-America awards made by different boards, two others were received from the University of Southern California for being a three-time letter man in football and a member of the team winning the Pacific Coast Conference championship, and the fifth came from the Tournament of Roses committee for playing in the Rose game.

TRADE PASSERS FACE TEST IN SCHENLEY

By JULIUS LEVIN

Two of the toughest hurdles the Schenley High School basketball team, defending City League champion, must cast aside this season in its fight to retain the laurels are South High, coached by Grover C. Washabaugh, and Connelley Trade School, directed by Johnny Dickson.

G.C. Washabaugh

Schenley got off on the right foot in its open-Section I contest by scoring an eight-point victory over Peabody, the Grossmen taking the decision, 30-22. However, South and Connelley each scored two triumphs in impressive styles to rank them among the leaders in the fight for the crown.

FIFTH HUMBLED

The stock of the South Side passers took a big jump when the Washabuagh machine swamped Fifth Avenue High on the latter's home court by a 34-15 score, one of the worst beatings ever handed the Uptowners on their floor. The previous Friday, South took a fall out of Westinghouse, 29-27, at the South Side Market House.

Connelley likewise has appeared impressive in its first two starts, Allderdice was beaten, 27-20, while Westinghouse bowed by a 26-25 count. Both teams made fine showings in City League basketball competition last year, but they seemed to wilt at the critical moments. If their early season exhibitions can be taken as a criterion of their strength, both South and Connelley will make it quite interesting for Schenley.

SMOOTH ATTACK

The South High passers boast a smooth attack that functions from start to finish. They work the ball under the hoop and with five good shots on the floor, they have little or no trouble in running up points. Bill Jesko, at forward, and Ed Czlapinski, at guard, are excellent floor men and the South attack is built around this pair of sterling performers. City League defenses are going to find trouble stopping this pair throughout the season.

Two boys of the Connelley quintet are attracting considerable attention. They are Sobehart and Dejidas. These boys are veterans and around them is built the Connelley attack.

While South will enjoy a day of rest tomorrow, Connelley will have Schenley as its attraction in the feature battle carded in Section I. If Connelley can take the measure of Schenley its chances for the Section I championship will be increased immensely.

Allegheny not scheduled for a Section II fray tomorrow, Chester Smith's Perry High aggregation will have an opportunity to take undisputed possession of first place in this group by winning over Langley.

Bob Kornick, of the Perry quintet, leader in Section II, heads the individual scorers of the City League with 17 field goals and five fouls for a total of 39 points. Manning, of the same team, is second with 25 points, while Jesko, of South, is third, with 23 points.

School Notes

One of the best guards in City League basketball this season is Harry (Lefty) Mahlmood, of the Fifth Avenue High quintet. Mahlmood has played good ball for the Briggs' quintet for the past two years. He played an important part in the fine showing the team made in inter-district contests last winter.

Charley Miskevics, chosen as center on the All-City League football team by The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph last fall, is holding down a similar berth on the basketball team. Len Plummer, who played end for the Peabody eleven, is jumping center on the basketball quintet.

The Charleroi High team is open for a basketball game on January 31 as a result of the cancellation of the battle with Homestead. Failure of the two schools to agree on a guarantee caused the abandonment of the negotiations for a Homestead-Charleroi clash. D. W. Copeland, faculty manager at Charleroi, would like to book a game for this date away from home. He may be reached by calling Charleroi 1053.

The South High School is seeking a football game with Charleroi High for next fall. The Cougars may accommodate the South Siders if they can find a place on their schedule.

Latrobe High is open for basketball games on January 13, January 31 and February 10 due to the withdrawal of Youngwood from the W. P. I. A. L. Teams interested in booking Latrobe write S. G. Rummel, Latrobe High School, Latrobe, Pa.

Ed Paulie, coach at Swissvale High, has November 17 or 18 open for a class A school desiring a good football attraction. For details write or call Ed Paulie at Swissvale High School.

The Homestead High passers, under the coaching of Bill Campbell, have played nine non-league games to date and have suffered defeats in five of them. Scott beat Homestead twice to run its string of wins over the Campbellites to five in a row, while Monessen, Braddock and Allderdice each took a fall out of Homestead.

McKeesport and Scott High School will meet in a night football game at North Braddock on Friday, September 22. McKeesport is a member of the double A group, while Scott plays under the class A banner. Incidentally, Scott has won 11 straight basketball games, including its first two contests in Section VIII.

The Mt. Lebanon-Crafton battle at Crafton tomorrow night should provide plenty of fireworks. The two teams are deadlocked for the lead in Section IX, each showing two victories and no defeats. Crafton also was undefeated in its non-league engagements.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE MOST REMARKABLE POSTMAN—For more than a decade, the Recas, or Express Mail Carrier for the Sultan of Morocco, ran twice a week and return the distance between Tangier-Meknes-Fez, 187½ miles, in 36 hours on regular schedule. The men selected for this service all were individuals of great physical strength and frugal habits, their only dissipation being a fondness for hashish (dope). Arrayed in a robe hitched above his knees, carrying a long staff in his hand, a lamp suspended from his belt, and laden with a mailpouch weighing 36 pounds, this courier would accomplish his grueling run in the accustomed time as a matter of service routine.

TECH TO STAGE SPRING GRID WORKOUTS

By JESS CARVER

Pitt and the Dukes are having a merry time of it matching one another with stories of injuries and illness as they prepare for tomorrow night's basketball clash in the Stadium Pavilion. At this wirting, it looks like Pitt is ahead, two casualties to none.

The Panthers got a big jump on the Dukes when Claire Cribbs, the center, suffered a severe ankle injury against Temple and Skippy Hughes, scrappy little sophomore forward, turned up with an elbow injury. The Dukes came back nobly Monday night with the startling announcement that Marty Reiter, star guard, had a sore throat and was confined to bed, and yesterday, word from the Bluff was that Jim MacDougal and Capt. Bunk McGeever were suffering with severe colds.

Both donned uniforms for yesterday's drill, however, and Reiter returned to practice Tuesday. The three figure to be available for duty tomorrow.

CRIBBS IS OUT

Cribbs, however, is definitely out of the figuring at Pitt, and young Hughes remains a very, very doubtful factor. He is so doubtful, in fact, that Coach Carlson has brought about new alignment of his forces. Russ Ochsenhirt has been shifted to Cribbs' position at center, Charley Hughes is to take Russ' guard post and Slim Wainio has been inserted into the forward position on which Skippy Hughes had a lien.

Capt. Don Smith will pair off with Wainio at the other forward position, and Don McCamant, who blazed such a sparkling trail against Temple, and leads the city collegians in scoring, will be in at the other guard.

A sellout is assured for tomorrow night's battle. There will be enough students from the two institutions to jam the Pavilion without any help from outside fans, and if you had a dollar for every one of the latter who hope to see the game, you'd not have to worry about ducking the landlord.

TECH LINEUP SET

Meanwhile, Coach Maxie Hannum, at Tech, plans to start the same outfit that faced Temple against Wash-Jeff tomorrow night. Coach Max, while tickled to pieces over the hard-earned victory over the Owls, was able to pick plenty of flaws in the work of his passers and put them through a stiff drill yesterday. Today's session will be somewhat lighter.

Spring Drills Back

There will be spring football practice at Carnegie Tech again this year. Graduate Manager Buddy Overend has announced that the new coach, Howard Harpster, expressed a desire to resume spring workouts, after a two-year layoff, so that he might become more familiar with the players with which he'll work next fall. Hence, the Tartans will stage a two or three-week session.

The drills will not be heavy, which will bring tears of joy to the eyes of Colin (Red) Stewart and Hank Dreshar, who prefer to take their hard work in the ball games.

Tonight, Pat Corr, Pitt's varsity swimming coach, leads his Panther splashers into the East for a two-meet invasion of Eastern tanks. Tomorrow night, the Blue and Gold team stacks up against Yale's crack array and will seek valiantly to break the 50-odd string of victories hung up by the Elis.

Saturday night, the Panthers engage Harvard. The following men will make the trip.

Johnny Reilly, Johnny Carik, Joe Schmeller, Herman Adlesberg, Ralph Stinner, Willard Norton, Jack Denny, Fred Warren, Ray Cogswell and Bill Lewis.

LARRY FRENCHES CELEBRATE RAISE

MRS. FRENCH — SUNNY — LARRY FRENCH

For being one of the hardest-working pitchers in baseball last year, Larry French, Pirate southpaw, has received a raise in pay for the 1933 season, when many of the players are being cut. The Frenches are wintering in Hollywood, Cal., and Larry visited with the Pitt football players when they were on the Coast for the Tournament of Roses game.

TEXAN LEADS AT CALIENTE

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Ray Mangrum, a rangy golfer, who learned the game on the wide open spaces of Texas, held a one-stroke lead as the field of 127 golfers turned into the second round of the Agua Caliente $7,500 open today.

The 22-year-old youth swept to the front yesterday with the aid of a stiff wind, which blew the favorites well back and sent the dark horses charging to the front. Mangrum shot a remarkable round of 35-34—69, three strokes under par.

In second place breezed Archie Hambrick, bespectacled youth from Zanesville, O., who shot a steady 35-36—70. Third place was held by Horton Smith, Oak Park, Ill., on the comeback trail, and John Rogers, Denver, who has flashed in big tournaments before. They shot 71s.

Stewards to Discuss Regatta Plans Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Despite gloomier prospects developed this week for the Poughkeepsie regatta, Maxwell Stevenson, of Columbia, chairman of the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, has repeated his conviction the rowing championship events will be held this June, as usual, with the varsity race at the traditional distance of four miles.

Definite decision as to the fate of the regatta is expected at the annual meeting of the stewards representing Columbia, Navy, Cornell, Pennsylvania and Syracuse.

REDS SET DATES

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The Cincinnati Reds will start training at Tampa, Fla., on March 1, President Sidney Weil and Manager Dennie Bush have decided. Pitchers and catchers of the squad will be required to report then, others of the squad being sent South on March 9.

Al Quaill Stops Eric Bredl in First

It remained for Al Quaill, of the Y. M. H. A., a 160-pounder, to score the only knockout of the Shrine Auto Club's amateur boxing show.

Quaill stopped Eric Bredl, of the Willow Club, in the first round last night at Syria Mosque, knocking out the Willow Club boxer in 50 seconds. All other bouts on the card went the limit.

The summary:

126-pound class—George Kriz, Lawrenceville A. C., defeated Robert Manns, Dan Billick A. C., Duquesne, 3 rounds.

135-pound class—Johnny Ungermann, Willow Club, defeated John Bodnar, Dan Billick A. C., Duquesne, 3 rounds.

160-pound class—Al Quaill, Y. M. H. A., knocked out Eric Bredl, Willow Club, first round; Louis Ceerer, Patton A. C., Finleyville, defeated Vince Browning, Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., 3 rounds; William Scherwin, Mon Valley A. C., defeated Joe Magur, Natrona, 3 rounds.

175-pound class—George Luppinacci, Willow Club, defeated Lloyd Walcott, Mon Valley A. C., 3 rounds.

'BOO BOO' HOFF INCIDENT EXPLAINED BY GENE TUNNEY

BOXER UPSET BY PRE-FIGHT EVENTS

SYNOPSIS

Tunney's seven-year hope of winning the world's heavyweight championship—first born when he was with the Marines in France in 1919—is approaching its crisis as he and Dempsey are training, during the summer of 1926, for their Philadelphia battle, that September.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

I was summoned down to Philadelphia by Tex Rickard for a reception by the mayor and the Sesquicentennial Celebration Committee. As part of the ballyhoo I was introduced to the sports writers of all the Philadelphia papers after the reception. Knowing the Dempsey psychology, I never lost an opportunity to say something belittling about his fighting ability to anyone I thought would repeat it to him.

Gene Tunney

In answer to a general query of how I thought I was going to make out, I said:

"If he stands up and fights I will knock him out in two or three rounds."

I knew that this would be good news and would undoubtedly get a full-page streamer. It did. This was the most effective way of getting my message to the champion.

TREACHERY IN CAMP

After the Philadelphia ceremonies, I went to a new training camp that was prepared for me at Stroudsburg, Pa. On the whole, the Stroudsburg experience was unpleasant. There was much disloyalty and dissension among the members of my camp. I got the echocs. Until Jimmy Brouson came, two or three nights before the fight, I could depend on only two people—Bill McCabe and Lou Fink. McCabe joined the camp a week before Bronson.

Billy Gibson was down at Rickard's headquarters in Philadelphia. About five nights before the fight, Gibson called me from Philadelphia to say that the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission insisted that a copy of their Boxing Commission form of contract be put on file with them. He also said that Rickard insisted on changing the terms of the contract from an option of 15 per cent with $175,000 if the fight went to a million dollars, which in my interpretation was 17½ per cent of a million, to a straight guarantee of $200,000. The fight had been sold out, and, according to my interpretation of the contract, I should have received $325,000.

TEX CHANGES CONTRACT

I told Gibson that in no circumstances should he accept a change in contract. He put Rickard on the phone to plead his own case. We argued for about an hour. Rickard told me of the extra cost of building seats, on which he was losing money, and other items that had not been anticipated. Bill Carey, current president of Madison Square Garden, who was in the room with Rickard, later told me that he was shocked by Tex's misrepresentation of figures. Presently, more through fatigue than satisfaction with the justice of Rickard's claims, I agreed to the change.

Whether the pressure of the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission for a copy of the contract between Tex and me justified his calling me up at that hour of the night, and whether his insistence on the considerable change in the terms of the contract was warranted by the unlooked for expense that Tex encountered in Philadelphia, I have never found out. I do know, however, that a good portion of the night that was utilized in figures and contracts should have been given to slumber.

As it turned out, the gross gate receipts were $1,895,728. Federal and state taxes took $274,680, leaving $1,620,643. My contention was that I should have received $283,648, representing 17½ per cent, instead of the $200,000 that was given me.

PREPARES TO FLY

None of the camp annoyances and none of the reports from Dempsey's camp or the predictions of my quick defeat were able to break down the confidence I had in myself. I had slowly and determinedly drawn my plan of battle. I was going to allow nothing to change my mind about the soundness of it. I believed I knew Gene Tunney's capabilities better than anyone else.

Weeks before the match I made arrangements through Wade Morton—automobile race driver—to have Casey Jones, best known pilot of that time, come to Stroudsburg on the morning of the contest to fly me down to Philadelphia. I had decided to fly rather than take a train or automobile, for the definite effect its psychology would have on my opponent. I denied this, however. This fight very nearly proved a boomerang. Jones, in an article subsequently published in an aviation magazine, said that, in flying across the Poconos, he was lost in a dense fog for the first hour; and I was air-sick all the way.

'SCARED,' WEINER SAYS

Our plane was met at the Naval Flying Field at 1:30 p. m. by a motor car. I was driven to the office of the Boxing Commission, still air-sick. Chairman Frank Weiner, of the Boxing Commission, weighed me. The scales balanced at 186½ pounds. I went to a private home, where I ate and rested until time to leave for the arena. Frank Weiner went directly to Jules Mastbaum's house, where many sportsmen had foregathered. Among them was a friend of mine.

Commissioner Weiner said:

"I have just weighed Gene Tunney. I never saw anybody so scared. He is as white as a sheet. I hope he doesn't die from fright between now and ring time."

This friend of mine, Bernard F. Gimbel, asked Weiner if he were sure Tunney's whiteness came from fright or illness, to which Weiner replied:

"I tell you he is scared to death!"

Gimbel said:

"We will see tonight."

I've always liked Frank Weiner. He is a square shooter and possesses a charming gullibility.

The air-sickness brought on a sort of fatigue. When I got to the house, I went up to the room that had been assigned to me and went to sleep. An hour and a half later I was awakened by Ray Campbell, a newspaperman, who told me my food was ready. After the meal I went back to sleep.

ENTER BOO BOO

Sometime around 5 o'clock I was awakened again, this time by Billy Gibson, who was accompanied by two others, one of whom I recognized as Max (Boo Boo) Hoff; the other, I later learned, was Hoff's lawyer. I had not seen Billy for several days except for a few minutes the night before at my camp in Stroudsburg, where he unexpectedly appeared in the company of Abe Attel, "to see if everything was okay."

He said, seeing I was angry at being disturbed:

"It is very important that you witness a paper to make sure we get our dough."

I had a mixed feeling of curiosity and agitation. He explained that the paper concerned only Hoff and himself. I made a hurried inspection, and, being assured it was as Billy claimed, witnessed it to get rid of them. The man with Hoff took from a briefcase another paper, and, handing it to Gibson, said:

"This one too."

GENE IN A HUFF

I happened to look at the first paragraph and saw it was "articles of agreement between William Gibson and Gene Tunney." This did involve me. It was a long-term contract between Gibson and me. Throwing the paper and some words at them I persuaded them to leave the room. A hasty retreat was made.

This experience with Gibson so infuriated me that, after we had settled the financial affairs of the fight, I told him he was no longer my manager. I could not reconcile loyalty to me with his actions that afternoon. However, months later, after hearing in full his side of the case from mutual friends, I changed my mind about Billy's intentions. For some time before the match he had been irresponsible. This was later confirmed by diagnoses and the testimony of two famous neurologists before a court which declared Billy mentally incompetent.

Billy's peculiar condition is a type that takes from 10 to 20 years to develop. There is a constant process of disintegration of brain tissue going on during this period.

HOW BOXER'S MIND WORKS

Instead of being a part of an ignoble scheme to secure a long-term contract with me, I unqualifiedly believe the scene which Billy and his associates staged in my room a few hours before the fight was the result of Billy's listening to their "cock and bull" story. They were merely trying to assure themselves of something in case I lost by a knockout. They undoubtedly bet that way.

Unless one is acquainted with the frame of mind of a boxer who is about to enter the ring, it is difficult to understand why these fellows were not summarily thrown down the stairs. I was once on a ship that was supposed to be sinking. It was an Army transport in the "danger zone." The 4,500 troops rushed to the "abandon ship" stations. Nobody was interested in anything but getting off the ship. All minds suddenly became one-tracked. Every faculty was centered on ship abandonment.

There is no psychology that I have ever observed, resembling so closely the actions of a boxer on the day of a championship fight as that displayed by those 4,500 men. Nothing matters but the fight. There is a mental numbness regarding everything else. Things just don't register. A great percentage of long-term contracts between managers and fighters are signed on the day or eve of a fight. Managers know their psychology.

Tomorrow Tunney will give his own version of the defeat of Dempsey at Philadelphia, September 23, 1926 . . . "He hit me but one hard blow during the whole contest." . . . Gene admits he felt that "for several days."

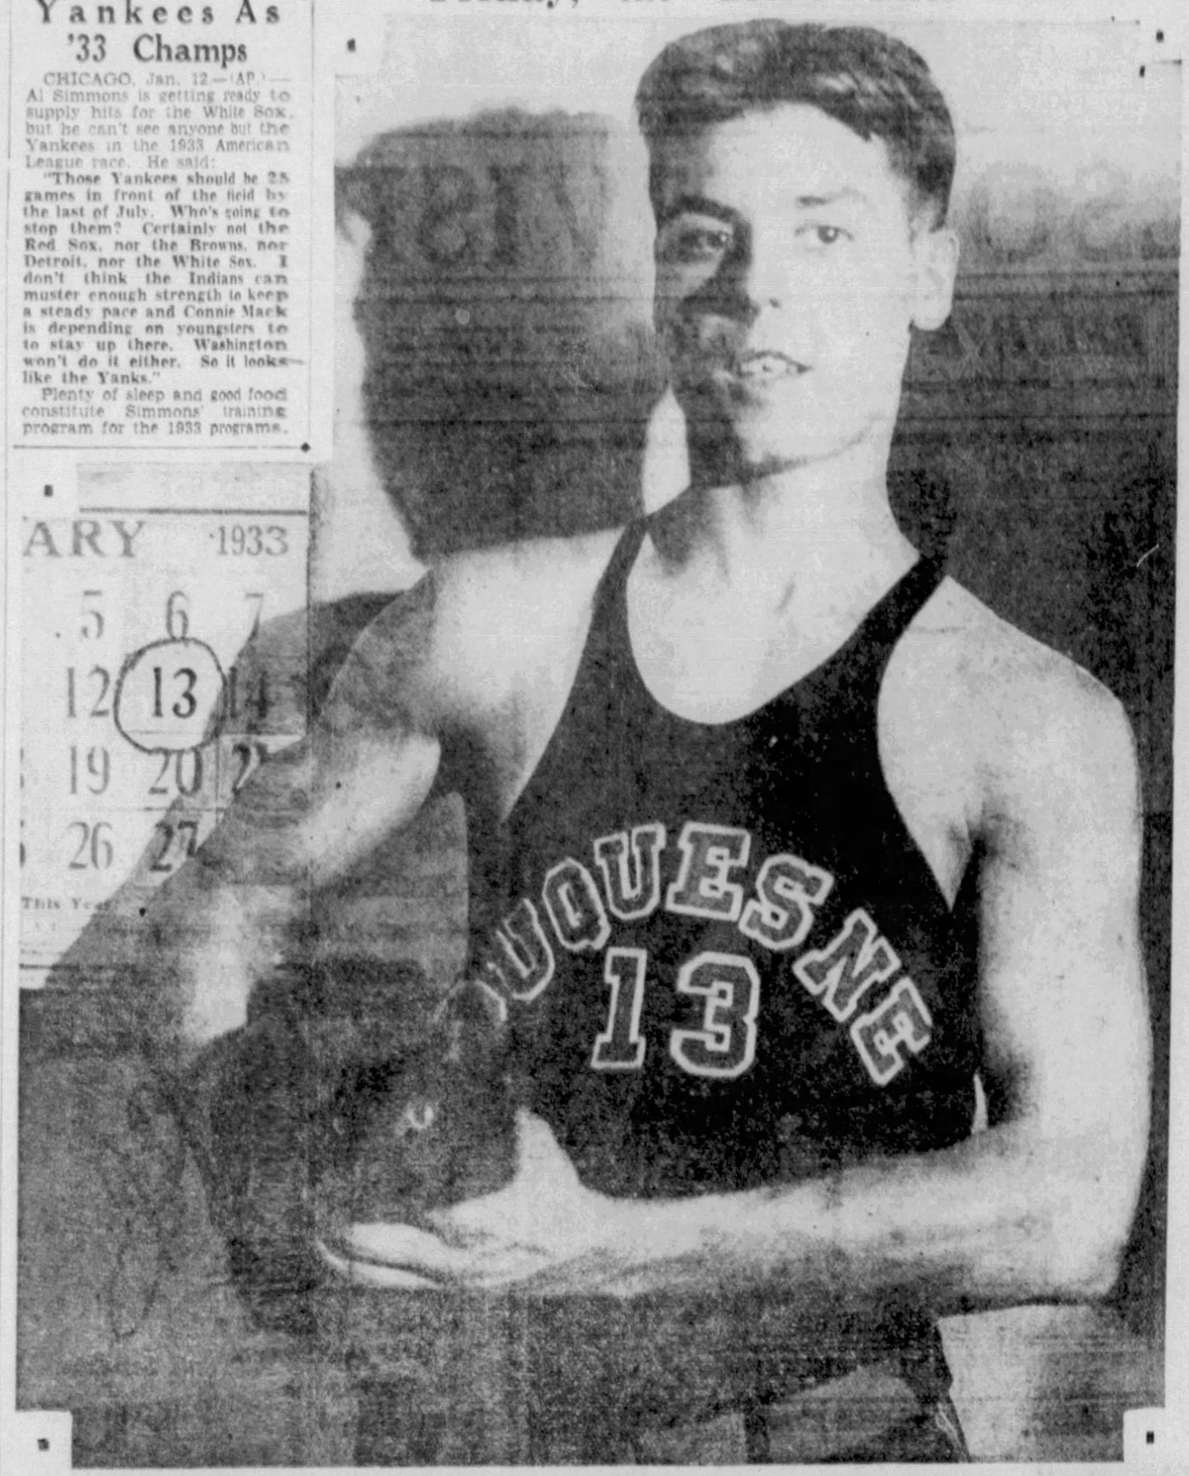
Al Simmons Sees Yankees As '33 Champs

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Al Simmons is getting ready to supply hits for the White Sox, but he can't see anyone but the Yankees in the 1933 American League race. He said:

"Those Yankees should be 25 games in front of the field by the last of July. Who's going to stop them? Certainly not the Red Sox, nor the Browns, nor Detroit, nor the White Sox. I don't think the Indians can muster enough strength to keep a steady pace and Connie Mack is depending on youngsters to to stay up there. Washington won't do it either. So it looks like the Yanks."

Plenty of sleep and good food constitute Simmons' training program for the 1933 programs.

Friday, the 13th?—Tut! Tut!



PAUL BIRCH, OF THE DUKES, WHO WILL DEFY JINX AGAINST PITT PASSERS IN THE STADIUM PAVILION TOMORROW NIGHT

Tomorrow's Friday, the thirteenth, and, to show his contempt for superstition, Paul Birch, sensational sophomore forward of Duquesne University, will wear his regular number, 13, on his jersey in the all-important basketball game against Pitt at the Stadium Pavilion. And a black cat is his pet. Coach Chick Davies is not so sure of himself. He thinks playing one of Doc Carlson's Pitt fives is bad luck any time, so he has arranged to wear his brown suit, which he dons any time he feels particularly keen about winning. He calls it his "win" suit. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Sammy Slaughter, the murderous-punching Negro middleweight, of Terre Haute, Ind., had his jaw broken in his first professional fight and later broke the jaw of Angel Cliville after Cliville had stopped Frankie Battaglia, Tait Littman and Willie Oster in the same ring . . . In Massachusetts, they charge boxers $25 for a license, but allow them to pay for it in installments, and the boxers are admitted free to all shows.

John Heaphy, former Boston College all-America center, tells a good story about how Maj. Frank Cavanaugh, who recently retired from coaching at Fordham because of ill health, got the goat of the Yale team when he was coaching Boston College . . . After the toss of the coin for the game, Cavanaugh asked Tim Callahan, the Yale captain, how he felt about playing 12-minute quarters . . . "We always play 15-minute quarters at Yale, and cannot change," replied Callahan . . . "All right," snapped the Major. "How about playing 20-minute quarters and making it a real game?" . . . And he turned on his heel and walked away . . . "We were the cockiest team you ever saw, after that," relates Heaphy. "We had a feeling we couldn't be licked after hearing our coach express his confidence in our durability in that manner. And Yale was affected in exactly the opposite manner."

Jack Perry, former local welterweight boxer, now doing bits in the movies in California and managing Guy Salerno, the middleweight, writes an interesting letter in which he tells of his reactions to the Pitt-Southern California Tournament of Roses football game on New Years Day . . . His latest job was with Ernest Truex in "Whistling in the Dark." . . . Of the game, Perry writes: . . . "For three quarters, it was as good a game as I've ever seen. Pitt really lost in the first few minutes of play, when, still 'cold' after coming out on the field just before the kickoff, it took one on the chin in the form of that long forward pass for a touchdown . . . To me it was just like one boxer going into the ring after shadowboxing a few rounds in the dressing room while his opponent goes in cold . . . A clean sock on the jaw and the cold fighter goes out like a light before he has a chance to get started." . . . Perry plans to come East again this summer with Salerno, who boxed here last winter, and, according to Perry, now is ready for any of them.

Joe Kenny, the well-known billiards and bowling man, wants to know if this much-talked-about depression is a gag, or what . . He says he's never seen his New Club Alleys, downtown, so crowded in the afternoons as they have been for the last several months . . . He's that busy he hasn't got around to getting accustomed to writing 1933 when dating his checks . . He thinks it's a sure sign that the bowling business has come back with a bang . . . Some of the alleys about town closed up months ago because of lack of business, with a lot of leagues out of action, but Joe says 'hey must have been two other fellows or he's walking in his sleep . . It's a tonic to hear somebody say business is swell, and we thought we ought to report this instance . . Joe, by the way, is a veteran in the bowling and billiards business . . He was located in Oakland for a long time before moving downtown.—HARRY KECK.

DEMPSEY SEES PINCHOT TODAY

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 12.—Promoter Jack Dempsey goes before Gov. Pinchot today to argue on behalf of 15-round championship matches in the State of Pennsylvania. A bill to provide these was introduced in the House yesterday, and it is a matter of record that Gov. Pinchot vetoed a similar bill two years ago.

Dempsey said he has been assured by Chairman Harry Farrell, of the State Athletic Commission, that if he agrees to stage his Max Schmeling-Max Baer fight in Philadelphia next summer, and thus assure a lot of needed revenue for the state, the commission will recognize it as a championship match, whether it is of 10 or 15 rounds.

Just how this could be accomplished is a bit difficult to grasp, since Pennsylvania would be the only state to give the match much recognition and it would be synthetic at best. The state commission is not affiliated with the National Boxing Association, which controls the sport in a majority of states, and recently severed its relationship with the New York Athletic Commission, which naturally will recognize any bout in which Jack Sharkey participates as the real championship match.

Sharkey is accepted by all constituted boxing authorities as the champion, as a result of his victory over Schmeling which dethroned the latter last year.

BALD, MADDEN WIN INDOOR NET DUEL

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

First and second round battles comprise the program for the second day's session of combat in the third annual Pittsburgh Golf Club indoor invitation doubles tennis tournament on the P. G. C. covered courts here this afternoon and evening. It is hoped that the field will be reduced to within the dozen mark by closing time tonight. Unless this objective can be accomplished, there is likely to be a bit of a jam in the concluding brackets Saturday and Sunday.

Ten contests, were reeled off yesterday in the course of a seance that lasted from 4 p. m. till after 10 o'clock and, considering the circumstance that most of the performers have been out of action since September or October, the brand of tennis dished up was creditably keen.

SCHOOL STARS WIN

Two high school youngsters—Ralph Bald, district junior champion, and Bob Madden, local scholastic and boys' premier—registered upset of the inaugural card by edging out the giant veterans, Bill Snyder, of Allegheny Country Club, and Hub Rinehart, of Stanton Heights, sixth on the seeded list, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6.

In another marathon affair, the husky Stantonians, George Henderson and Carlton Hughes, rallied to nose out the newly-formed combination of Frank White, former national squash racquets king, and Don Snyder, rangy Greensburger, 5-7, 6-2, 8-6.

The Edgewood pair, Woods and Ramsburg, spurted to cop the remaining match, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2, from John Lawrence and George Ebbert, of the Golf Club.

The summary:

FIRST ROUND

Upper half: Thomas L. Orr and Pennock H. Orr defeated G. G. Coolidge and Harmar D. Denny, Jr., 7-5, 6-3; F. B. Nimick and T. Howe Nimick defeated J. H. Ricketson, Jr., and W. R. Blair, Jr., 6-1, 6-4; William Frew and George D. Lockhart defeated Rex Flinn and George Berger, 6-3, 6-2; Crosby Leyda and Robert Lampus defeated Jack Redmond and Paul Sullivan, 6-3, 6-4; Ralph Bald and Robert Madden defeated William F. Snyder, Jr., and Herbert M. Rinehart, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4; Charles A. Woods, Jr., and Charles Ramsburg defeated John W. Lawrence and George Ebbert, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2.

Lower half: Graham McCargo and Alfred Hamilton defeated William E. Moorhead and Thurston Wright, 6-2, 6-2; Dr. William S. McElroy and G. C. Burgwin, Jr, defeated Robert C. Schmertz and King G. Moore, 6-4, 6-3; Thomas A. Robinson and H. H. McClintic defeated S. C. Robinson, Jr., and William Doolittle, 6-3, 4-3; George D. Henderson and Carlton E. Hughes defeated Don C. Snyder and Frank White, 5-7, 6-2, 8-6.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

5 p. m.—Dr. David L. O'Loughlin and William O'Loughlin vs. Harry J. Miller and McCook Miller; Edgar Alcorn and John R. Brown vs. Ray Harrison and George Love.

6 p. m.—W. R. Wolfe and Walter Heron vs. Harvey Childs, III, and Robert McClintic; Frank S. Smith and William R. Smith, Jr. vs. Irvin Goodman and Ben Bloom.

8 p. m.—Howard Burgwin and W. R. Scott vs. Dr. John L. O'Loughlin and John D. Beatty; Charles Lockhart and McCook Reed vs. L. W. Bughman and F. Blackburn, no time set.

REED IN SQUASH FINAL

McCook Reed, city singles premier, has blasted a brilliant pathway to the final round of the first annual Pittsburgh Golf Club invitation squash racquets tournament. Flashing perhaps the keenest form that he has ever displayed in competition, the blond P. G. C. ace defeated Dr. Dave O'Loughlin, P. A. A. star yesterday, by the unexpectedly decisive margin of 15-6, 15-9, 15-6 to attain the trophy bracket wherein he will later meet the survivor of tomorrow's penultimate fray between Frank McClintock, Winged Head-Keystone veteran, and Dave Gilmore, crack Allegheny Country Club southpaw.

South Hills Club Elects Officers

The South Hills Sportsmen's Association last night elected Eugene A. Holland president for 1933. Samuel L. Roberts was chosen vice president. A. J. Huebner was named treasurer and O. T. Weaver secretary.

The trapshooting committee will be composed of Capt. J. L. Carney, chairman, and H. D. Walters, E. C. Trott, A. H. Willis, C. D. Smith and Otto Nadolney. J. H. Kramer will head the revolver group and the dog and field activities will be under the direction of A. H. Willis, E. C. Trott, A. J. Huebner and Art Mondschein were elected trustees.

Golf Body Selects Qualifying Rounds

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Sectional qualifying rounds for the United States Open championship this year will be held Monday, May 15, and sectional elimination rounds for the amateur championship, Tuesday, August 8, according to announcement by A. M. Reid, secretary of the United States Golf Association.

LEAGUE TO MEET

The West Penn League will hold a meeting tomorrow night in the league headquarters to arrange the schedule for the second half of the season.

ALABAMA KID TO BOX BUSH AT GARDEN

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

If it's punchers you want, punchers you'll get in the first of two 10-round bouts at Motor Square Garden next Monday night.

For Matchmaker Jules Beck has signed up the Alabama Kid, Negro knockerout of Jimmy Belmont and Davy Grove, two of our leading welterweights, to oppose Red Bush, of Cumberland, Md. Bush can bam 'em just about as well as anybody in the bamming business around here these days, and Alabama showed us by stopping Grove at the Garden that his victory over Belmont was no fluke.

That match either ought to wind up with both parties in a hospital, or with the fans catching pneumonia from the breeze as the battlers miss their haymakers.

JARRELL TO SUB

Battling Gizzy and Harry Dublinsky, of Milwaukee, are in the top 10-rounder, Red Bruce and Johnny Riske in the second six-rounder and Al Farone and Jerry Clements in the opener.

Jack King, of Little Rock, is reported ill and unable to go through with his 10-round windup with Tiger Joe Randall, of Elizabeth, at the Arena tomorrow night, and none other than THE Pee Wee Jarrell, late of Fort Wayne, Ind., now of Pittsburgh, will take his place. Which doesn't make the fans sore, for, if a more popular boxer has appeared here in recent years than Jarrell, he has escaped notice.

STOCKS SHAKE OFF SELLING WAVE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The stock market encountered a fairly severe test of profit-taking in the early trading today, but survived it nicely and quietly resumed the advance.

A number of shares showed gains of 1 to 2 points, but the majority contented themselves with fractional improvement. The rails were firm in response to additional November earning statements which, while showing net figures mainly in the red, recorded a distinct improvement over the sombre showing of the first half of last year. Tobacco stocks gained slightly.

Ability of the market to put through theoretical resistance points without more than minor reactions was regarded in brokerage quarters as a bullish sign, although caution was still advised by many commentators. Developments in Washington were closely watched, with banking interest centering largely in the question of balancing the national budget.

The automobile show was reported to be drawing larger crowds, although the industry itself no longer bases its hopes for future sales on the size of such crowds so much as the willingness to back up verbal enthusiasm over new models with actual purchases. Students of economic trends expressed considerable pleasure over increased electric power production, after the year-end holidays, and indications of a better movement of freight traffic.

TRADE BUYING AIDS COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 2 higher on steady Liverpool cables and trade buying. March, 6.20c; May, 6.3-; July, 6.46c; October, 6.66c; December, 6.78c.

There was little selling from the South or through brokers with co-operative connections at the opening, but the light offerings were taken by trade buying which came partly from the continent and Liverpool. Wall street and western interests again bought during the early trading and by the end of the first half hour active months were 8 to 10 points net higher, March having advanced from 6.20 to 6.30 and July from 6.4 to 6.54.

The early advance was followed by reactions of 7 or 8 points under realizing combined with some further southern selling, but the small offerings were absorbed by the trade and prices stiffened again later. After easing to 6.23c, March rallied to 6.29c and the market at midday was steady at net advances of 7 to 9 points.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 12.—Cotton, 100 bales all American. Year's Hard Coal Production Down

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The Anthracite Institute in a statement today said that hard coal production in 1932 is estimated at 49,350,000 net tons by the United States Bureau of Mines. This, the statement said, is a decrease of 10,296,000 tons compared with tonnage actually produced in 1931.

Preliminary figures indicated that December production of anthracite amounted to 5,089,000 net tons against 4,271,000 in the preceding month, and 4,670,000 in December, 1931.

Mortgage Company Receivers Named

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The United States District Court has appointed receivers in equity for the Philadelphia Company for Guaranteeing Mortgages, one of the largest of its kind in Philadelphia.

The business of the company is to be continued by the receivers pending reorganization. The receivers named are Thomas Shallcross, Jr., president of the company, and John Arthur Brown, a director.

PEOPLES TRUST ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

J. H. Hillman, Jr., today declined to be re-elected as chairman of the board of directors of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company. Mr. Hillman will continue to serve as a director.

The directors of the organization appointed A. C. Robinson, the president, to succeed Mr. Hillman as chairman. L. H. Gethoefer, vice president and chairman of the executive committee, was elected president. J. O. Miller, vice president, became senior vice president.

Mr. Hillman stated that his interests in industrial organizations will make it impossible for him to devote the necessary time to the duties as chairman of the board of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company.

CONTROLS COAL

In addition to controlling extensive coal interests, Mr. Hillman is director of Spang, Chalfant & Co., Inc., National Supply Company, A. M. Byers Company, Sharon Steel Hoop Company, Amerada Corporation, United Engineering and Foundry Company and other corporations.

Yesterday it was learned that J. H. Hillman & Sons Company, of which he is president, is expanding its activities. The organization will be engaged in the reorganization and refinancing of industrial companies.

The 12 years during which Mr. Hillman took an active part in the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company were marked by expansion in the organization's deposits from $12,000,000 to $70,771,680, as shown by the bank's last statement. In addition the institution earned a place on the list of the 100 largest banks of the United States.

During this period the organization acquired a 40 per cent stock interest in the First National Bank at Pittsburgh and merged with the East End Savings and Trust Company, Oakland Savings and Trust Company, Real Estate Trust Company, Citizens Savings Bank, Continental Trust Company, Terminal Trust Company, Pittsburgh Trust Company, First National Bank of Birmingham and Dollar Savings and Trust Company.

ACTIVE 50 YEARS

Mr. Robinson has been active in the banking business in Pittsburgh for 50 years. Upon his graduation from the University of Pittsburgh he entered the banking firm of Robinson Brothers. In 1891 he became a partner in the firm. Upon the dissolution of the firm in 1910 he became first vice president of the Commonwealth Trust Company. In 1916 he was elected president of the Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Pittsburgh, which was the predecessor of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company.

L. H. Gethoefer came to Pittsburgh 14 years ago to become president of the Pittsburgh Trust Company, which was merged to form the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company in 1929. He had previously been president of the Bankers Trust Company of Buffalo.

S. O. Indiana Plans Baltimore Refinery

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. — The Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, has under consideration construction of an oil refinery with a daily capacity of from 25,000 to 30,000 barrels. Plans for the refinery are materializing and call for the construction of the new plant at Baltimore, where the Pan-American has an asphalt plant.

The plant, as contemplated, would cost in the neighborhood of $5,000,000 and because of its location would enable the Pan-American to make use of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana's East Texas production.

Westinghouse Expects Victory In Radio Injunction

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

OFFICIALS OF THE Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company do not anticipate any delay in the distribution of their holdings of stock in the Radio Corporation of America in spite of the legal action taken to bar the dividend.

Directors yesterday announced that one-half share of radio stock would be distributed to the holder of every share of Westinghouse common or preferred on February 20. General Electric had previously announced a distribution of one share of radio for every six shares held, to be made on the same date.

The announcement of the Westinghouse distribution came on the heels of the filing of a petition by the Torquay Corporation, a radio stockholder, in the Federal Court at Wilmington, Del., asking that the court grant permission for an investigation to determine if the Radio Corporation was sufficiently compensated for the issuance of its stock to the electric companies. The petition asked that the stock be returned to the Radio Corporation and cancelled unless the investigation shows that the Radio Corporation was fairly treated.

Stock Distribution Temporarily Enjoined

THE COURT fixed January 19 as the date for a hearing on the case and enjoined the electric companies from distributing any of the stock until after the hearing is held and the case settled.

In commenting on the filing of this petition, the directors of Westinghouse declared yesterday:

"It is expected that this matter will be decided by the court prior to the payment of the dividend declared today, and the payment of such dividend is subject to the condition that at the time of payment there shall be no injunction staying such distribution."

The Westinghouse distribution is to be made to stockholders of record January 23. Unless the legal difficulties are settled before that time the Stock Exchange may be compelled to delay the date on which the stock is to sell exdividend.

Dividend Is Result Of Consent Decree

THE DISTRIBUTION of the Radio stock is being made under the terms of a consent decree entered by the electric companies to avoid action by the Federal Trade Commission under the anti-trust laws.

The distributions which have been announced will account for the disbursement of about half the Radio holdings of Westingouse and a major share of the holdings of General Electric.

THE HOLDERS of Westinghouse preferred stock will have the option of taking $3.50 in cash instead of the half share of Radio stock. The distribution to the preferred stock will constitute full payment of the preferential dividend for 1933 to which preferred holders are entitled.

In connection with this, officials declared that this does not necessarily mean that no further dividends will be declared this year on the preferred, but that the company will not be obligated for any further payment.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Although some irregularities crept into the bond market today, the majority of listed issues maintained a fairly steady tone in trading that was not quite as buoyant as that of yesterday.

Both German government 5½s and 7s were up a point or more to new 1932-33 peaks, and improvement was shown by issues of Australia, Austria, Colombia and Chile. Some of the Belgians, French and Japanese eased.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows (000 omitted in sales column; United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE ADOPTS PLAYOFF PLAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Falling in line with the recent action of the American Association, the International Baseball League directors have adopted a complicated playoff plan calling for three short series following the regular 168-game schedule to determine the league champion and representative in the "little world series."

The plan, presented by Frank Shaughnessy, business manager of the Montreal club, divides the league into two divisions with Rochester, Buffalo, Montreal and Toronto in the Northern section, and Newark, Jersey City, Baltimore and Albany in the southern.

The ranking teams in each division will meet in a series of three out of five games as well the second place teams in each group. The two winners will clash for the championship and the right to meet the winner of the American Association play in the "little world series."

Despite the lengthy post-season series, which is expected to be played off in two weeks, the directors adopted a regular schedule of 168 games opening April 12—the same date as last year. In order to finish the regular season by the middle of September, doubleheaders will be scheduled on Sundays and single games on Monday, usually an offday.

GENEVA MEETS WAYNESBURG GAMES TONIGHT

Geneva vs. Waynesburg, at Waynesburg. Glenville, W. Va., Wesleyan vs. Glenville, at Glenville.

There's a sure-fire hot-shot college basketball game on tap in the district tonight as Geneva and Waynesburg clash in a Tri-State Conference tussle at Waynesburg.

The Jackets, unbeaten in three starts to date, and apparently possessing one of the strongest teams in the section, will be out to boost their victory string over Ken Loeffler's formidable Covenanters. First place in the Conference goes to the victor.

Glenville's Tigers play host to West Virginia Wesleyan's Bobcats at Glenville in the section's only other game.

MOUNTAINEERS DEFEATED

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 12.—Temple University's Owls have completed their 1933 invasion of the tri-state district and have one victory and two defeats to show for their pains.

Last night the Owls defeated West Virginia in a torrid Eastern Intercollegiate Conference struggle, 27 to 24. The Owls led, 20 to 15, at the half, and fought off a brave rally by the Mountaineers in the last period. The lineup:

Temple.	G.	F.	Pt.	West Va.	G.	F.	Pt.
Gudd, f	3	1	7	Sortet, f	0	1	1
Rosen, f	5	3	13	Wilson, f	3	0	6

Goldsberger, f	1	0	2	Allen, f	0	0	0
Beron, g	0	1	1	Gower, f	0	1	1
Totals	11	5	27	Totals	7	10	24

Missed foals—Temple 6, West Virginia 6. Score at half—Temple 20, West Virginia 15. Referee—Art Ward. Umpire—Keicel Ross, Central Board.

POLO RANKINGS BOOST STARS

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The United States Polo Association has announced its annual rankings, rewarding the greatest of the American stars, Tommy Hitchcock, with 10-goal top rating for the twelfth straight year.

With Hitchcock alone at the head of the list, the only 10-goal player in the world, the minor awards went to two members of the American team, captained by E. J. Boeseke, Jr., of California, that went to South America in the fall and brought back both the Cup of the Americas and the Argentine open championship.

Will Rogers was back to zero. Although Will belongs to the Uplifters' Polo Club, the handicappers knocked him down from two to nothing.

The 1933 rankings of the leaders by the United States Polo Association, with changes from the summer ratings, follow:

	FROM	TO
Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Sands Point	10	10
Cecil Smith, Austin Polo Club	8	9
Winston F. C. Guest, Meadow Brook	7	8
E. J. Boeseke, Jr., Midwick	8	8
F. A. S. Hopping, New York	8	8
Eric Pedley, Midwick	6	7
William Post II, Meadow Brook	6	7
H. W. Williams, Austin Polo Club	7	7
Aidan Roark, Del Monte	7	7
Devereux Milburn, Meadow Brook	7	7
S. B. Iglehart, Yale	7	7
J. C. Rathborne, Meadow Brook	7	6
R. E. Strawbridge, Jr., Bryn Mawr	5	6
Seymour Knox, East Aurora	5	6

LOCAL PLAYERS RANKED

Three members of the Pittsburgh Polo and Riding Club were assessed handicaps by the United States Polo Association yesterday. The handicaps will not affect the play of the individuals in the local indoor league.

Dave McCahill, Paul Mazuzan and Howard Adams were awarded six-goal handicaps and George Vang a five-goal handicap.

Miller to Play Lynch for Title

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Garfield Miller, of Miami, and Art Lynch, of Marmaroneck, N. Y., will meet today in the final round of the annual Miami-Biltmore amateur golf tournament.

In a spectacular finish, Miller scored an upset victory over Tommy Goodwin, of Monroe, N. Y., 1 up, yesterday in the 18-hole semi-final round.

Lynch won the right to play Miller today for the title by defeating Don Soccoli, of New Britain, Conn., 1 up in 18 holes.

Cornell to Enter Crew in 'Keepsie, Alumnus Says

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—H. W. Weed, of Poughkeepsie, former president of the Cornell Varsity Crew Association, has announced that undoubtedly something will be done toward financing a continuation of rowing at Cornell and sending the crew to Poughkeepsie.

Weed, who was stroke on the 1909 Cornell crew, said he was surprised to hear that the athletic council had voted to suspend intercollegiate crew competition, along with competition in all other sports except basketball for the remainder of the year.

Weed said he did not know yet just what would be done toward financing a crew. The Varsity Crew Association, of which he was president for several years, no longer exists.

ZONEYS READY FOR MORGAN

By TOM BIRKS

Morgan will play its last Keystone Soccer League game of the season Sunday afternoon when it meets the Castle Shannon Zoneys at South Park. While Morgan has nothing to gain in this game, the Zoneys are in a different position entirely.

The Shannonites share the leadership with Curry, and have a slight edge on Buff Donnelli's team owing to having played one more game. Curry has two games yet to play, while the Zoneys have three. Therefore, the Zoneys must win Sunday's battle in order to keep the edge in the league standing. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

The cup committee of the West Penn Football Association has not been deluged with entries for the senior and junior cup competitions. This is peculiar, seeing that gold and glory go with cup games.

Next week the Cleveland Shamrocks, national amateur champions, meet Curry at Greenlee Field in the first round of the national challenge cup. It is the first time that Pittsburgh has received a break in the challenge cup competition. Curry is working hard to capitalize on the game.

There will be a soccer meeting at Bob Broggi's at Gallatin this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The following clubs are requested to be on hand: New Eagle, Gallatitn, Victory Hill, Hazel Kirk, Fitz Henry, Donora, Beadling, De Marco, Hill Station, Shannon Webers, Pleasant Hills, Coverdale, Local Union, Duquesne and Homestead.

Levering, Marriage Revealed, Quits Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Walter B. Levering, Yale fullback, whose marriage last June was revealed yesterday, expressed his intention of immediately withdrawing from his classes in a letter received today at the office of Dean Clarence W. Mendell.

Levering's marriage to Miss Betty Gerard, of New York, was announced by the bride's parents. Yale rules forbid undergraduate marriages unless permission has been granted five days before the ceremony.

U. S. Tennis Stars Beat Australians

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Ellsworth Vines, American tennis champion, and Keith Gledhill, routed Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman, Australian aces, in an exhibition doubles match today, 5-7, 5-7, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3.

Wilmer Allison, of the United States, defeated Hopman, of Australia, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, in a singles match. Other scores:

McGrath defeated Gledhill, 6-2, 6-4; Quist defeated Van Ryn, 7-5, 6-3.

MARY FAITH

Story of a Girl With Husband Who Wouldn't Grow Up

By BEATRICE BURTON

Claire Rebukes Mary Faith For Keeping Kim at Home Too Much

CHAPTER XXIX.

Late in August Aunt Ella came up from Garrettsville to spend a week at the flat while her little house was being painted.

"The smell of turpentine always makes me sick," she explained when she arrived. "I can smell it all the time and I can taste it in my food, seems like. So I just said to myself, 'Well, I ain't paid a visit to see that precious baby in a good while,' and I got the noon bus, and here I am."

Mary Faith was glad to see her. She loved to hear Aunt Ella's never-ending flow of talk. Aunt Ella read the paper aloud to the family before breakfast every morning and discussed the events of the nation and the world with Kim.

"What did you think of Coolidge as a President, anyway, Kimberley?" she would ask, and then she would answer herself before he had a chance to get a word in edgewise:

"Seems to me he did a pretty good job even if he didn't say much. There never was a President like Teddy Roosevelt, though. I heard him talk once, and my but he was full of red pepper! Jolts and volts were in every sentence that came out of his mouth!—I remember that I was hoarse for three days afterward, I cheered so much."

Synopsis

Mary Faith, secretary to Mack Nesbit, wealthy businessman, gives up her position to marry Kimberley Farrell, shiftless young lawyer. She realizes he has an eye for every girl, but hopes that married life will sober him and make him successful in his profession. Instead, Kim is annoyed at Mary Faith's "Puritanism," and his friends, Claire and Jack Maldon, find her a dull companion. Learning that she is to become a mother, Mary Faith, for the first time, visits Kim's office. Kim is furious when Mary Faith finds him flirting with his blonde secretary. That night he informs his mother and Mary Faith that he is leaving. Heartbroken, Mary Faith decides not to tell him of her approaching motherhood. She gets a temporary job as a stenographer. Kim returns after a son is born. Kim has his old job again and the family is happy for months.

Now Go On

CLAIRE DROPS IN

She was filled with the quality that she called "red pepper," herself. All day long she trotted around the house, helping with the work, playing with the baby, snipping the brown leaves from the Boston ferns in the dining room window, talking constantly.

Every afternoon she and Mrs. Farrell took the baby for a walk while Mary Faith stayed at home and put the dinner on to cook. They never started out until 4 or 5 o'clock—the part of the afternoon that Aunt Ella called "the cool of the day," and they never got home until 6 o'clock.

They were out of the flat on one of these jaunts of theirs one afternoon when Claire Maldon came driving up the street in her little yellow roadster.

Mary Faith saw her through the open windows of the living room and flew into her own room to powder her face and take off her checked apron. She always felt dowdy when she was with Claire who was always dressed within an inch of her life and made up like a screen star.

This afternoon she had on a dress of coffee-colored silk with a little hat to match pulled down to her eyebrows. Her hair peeped from under it in bright metallic waves, and her lips and cheeks were bright with coral-colored salve. About her hung the scent of the lotus perfume that she used and the odor of cigarettes.

REJECTS INVITATION

"Hello, housewife," she greeted Mary Faith, dropping into Mrs. Farrell's armchair and lighting a cigarette. "I came to ask you about taking a trip with us over Labor Day. Sandy's all for it. I saw him downtown just now when I went up to the office to get the key of the car from Jack. I thought it would be fun for the four of us to drive down to Cambridge Springs."

Mary Faith looked at her thoughtfully. If she and Kim went it would mean spending twenty-five or thirty dollars that they couldn't afford to spend that way. It would mean leaving the baby for two or three days—

"I'm sorry, Claire," she said. "But I don't see how Kim and I can get away. We've never left the baby—and I'd be miserable wondering if he were covered at night; and besides it would cost a lot of money—"

"Mary Faith, you're a little fool!" Claire's bright sharp voice cut across her sentences like a knife. "You don't think you're making Sandy happy by pinching pennies and staying at home three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, do you? You're a nice girl, Mary Faith, but you know less about men than anybody I ever saw in my life. Now, you take Sandy—what he likes is plenty of zippo going on around him all the time. If you were smart you'd get him away from the baby and those two old girls once in a while—". Her china-blue eyes were on Mrs. Farrell and Aunt Ella, who were coming along the sidewalk wheeling the baby's little cart.

SIGNS OF DISSIPATION

In the mellow afternoon light that came slanting in through the high windows she looked haggard in spite of her paint and her powder and the black oil that glistened on her eyelashes. Studying her face, Mary Faith could see where there would be lines and wrinkles in it in another 10 years or so. Her constant hunt for happiness—that shy and quiet thing—in places where it never could be found in a thousand years seemed to have worn her out. Late hours and cigarettes and the things she drank had all left their mark on her, too. At 24 she looked 34. At 30 she would look 50 if she kept on as she was going. And at 50 she would be wearing the clothes and aping the mannerisms of the glamorous twenties, no doubt.

"She's wrong about Kim, too," thought Mary Faith as she watched her stop beside the baby's little cart and hold out a gloved finger to him and smile at him. Kim seemed to be perfectly contented these days, with her and his baby and his home.

But just to make sure she spoke to Kim about the trip that night when the two of them were setting out for the movies.

"Claire stopped in this afternoon," she began, "and told me that you and she had been talking over a trip in the car—"

"Now, we didn't talk it over at all!" Kim interrupted. "She came down to the office this afternoon to talk over an entirely different matter with me—and just as she was going she suggested that the four of us go to Cambridge Springs for a couple of days. I said I'd speak to you about it."

"But you didn't."

"I forgot about it. And anyhow I'm not so keen about going with them. They've been scrapping a lot lately, and I hate to be in one of these husband-and-wife quarrels, don't you? I stopped in at the flat the other night on the way home from the office—I felt like having a drink—and they were right in the middle of the tenth round! Believe me, I got out in a hurry!"

That was on Thursday night.

On Saturday Kim came home sick from the office. He had a sore throat and a fever. His hands were dry and hot and his gray eyes glittered under half-shut lids.

Two minutes after he walked into the house his mother was on the telephone, asking Dr. Thatcher to come right over.

"I don't need him, Mother," Kim called to her, but she pretended not to hear him. She went into her own room and powdered her face and put on a clean house dress before she appeared in the sick-room where Kim lay in bed.

She ambled around the room, doing unnecessary things—lowering a window shade and then raising it again, shaking up the fresh smooth pillows of the bed, disturbing Kim in order to do it.

"Hello, housewife," Claire greeted Mary Faith.

THIS WOMAN LOST 35 LBS. OF FAT

Miss M. Katner, of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Have used Kruschen for the past 4 months and have not only lost 35 pounds but feel so much better in every way. Even for people who don't care to reduce, Kruschen is wonderful to keep the system healthy. I being a nurse should know for I've tried so many things but only Kruschen answered all purposes." (May 12, 1932).

TO lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—get it at any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Millions of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs about one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up obstinate coughs.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Dolls! Dolls! Dolls!

This Saturday at the Plaza Theater, where the Sun-Telegraph Warner Theater Junior Komic Club meetings are held, it is expected that every girl member of the club will bring her dollie with her and enter it in the doll show which will precede the regular vaudeville show scheduled for this week.

Prizes will be given to the girl with the prettiest, largest and smallest doll. Following the doll show the regular vaudeville show with those two singers of harmony—The Evans Sisters—Jane Neff, ballad singer and acrobat, and Fred Kelly, famous roller skate dancer and master of ceremonies, will entertain the members.

AMBRIDGE ENTERTAINS

Another fine program has been arranged by the Mann School of Dancing for the members of the Ambridge Chapter of the Junior Komic Club. Those appearing will be:

Jean Dumeyer, singing "Keeping Out of Mischief Now;" Mary Pass, in an acrobatic dance on the stairs; Phylis Caputo, in a toe solo dance, and Ethel Seaser, in a toe tap.

Manager Ken Hoel, of the Ambridge, is arranging a large stage show for the Junior Komic Club meeting, which will be held on January 21. On this date the Junior Komic Club will meet at 10:30 a. m. instead of the regular time. Complete details of this show will appear in these columns next week.

Isn't It So?

When a young girl marries a rich old man she surely is doing something nice for her second husband.

In order to be fashionable a woman thinks she must be uncomfortable.

When it comes to cooking, salt is very useful at a pinch.

The bill collector realizes there is always something to pay.

The most modest-looking mirror is put to vain uses.

Bugs Baer

A Short Moratorium on Graft

We believe with the great minds of history that it is false economy to try and save money you haven't got.

We've filled up our sound box with speeches and suggestions on chiseling the budget and paring the festive appropriation.

We would like to blame it on somebody else. Like Jonah said to the whale. If you hadn't opened your mouth I would have had a nice swim.

But it is our own fault. We think it an old spinach custom if a politician wallows in the public broccoli.

It is considered perfectly naturalissimo if an office-holder slaps a personal injunction on the public money.

Like grandpa's night cap it has been going on for years. It's odd, but we're used to seeing it.

We don't expect the boys to reform. But, last year, we thought we promulgated a fairly snappy amendment to the law of averages.

We said nobody expected a politician to be honest all the time.

But it wouldn't be a bad idea if they were honest during depressions.

Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats carried that plank in the platforms. But it's still a good idea.

Just give the treasury a break during slumps. Then help yourself when the rain barrel runneth over in a sudden shower.

How about it, boys? Everybody in favor signify in the usual lack of manners.

Maybe it's a punk theory. But we could give it a try. Take a detour around the cash register and give the ivy a chance to grow upon the venerable old ruins.

We advance this suggestion at the cost of being declared a radical. They are liable to drum us out of the party using baseball bats for sticks and our skull for the drum.

If we are asking too much we apologize. But we claim it ain't a bad thought to be honest during depressions.

RAY WAS SURPRISED

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat)

An unusual accident occurred Friday afternoon, a few miles east of Ft. Scott, which cost Ray Horning the price of a newly purchased Shorthorn bull. Horning had bought the animal at Ft. Scott, and started home with it in a truck. After having traveled a few miles, the driver looked back to see how his passenger was behaving. He was surprised to discover the bull had disappeared. Investigation disclosed the fact that the end gate had come loose and the bull had backed out.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
It Is the World Center for Sanitary Supplies

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

New World Nations Can Help Each Other; Need Pan-American Reciprocity

IT IS time for a new note to be sounded in the relations of the United States and Latin America.

The feeling of friendship which has so long existed between the sister Republics of the Western Hemisphere should be made into something more concrete and effective than sentiment.

The countries of Central and South America are feeling the depression, as all the world is feeling it.

Their trade, like our own and like that of Europe, is greatly reduced.

Their currencies have suffered varying degrees of dislocation. They are harassed by difficulties of monetary exchange.

We have before us an opportunity for a commercial broad-mindedness that we have too little manifested in our past dealings with Central and South America.

Reciprocal measures can be taken, which would bring relief to the present difficult situation of the Western nations, and lead to a more enlightened policy for our mutual guidance in the future.

* * *

LET us not waste time or energy in a discussion of the Monroe Doctrine, which in its practical bearing upon today's problems is little more than an abstraction.

It is superseded in point of interest and present-day importance by the far richer and more nutritive doctrine — Pan-Americanism.

Henry Clay, more than a century ago, referred to Pan-Americanism as a system of which we would be the center. This is altogether obsolete, nor does it represent any ambition of which we are conscious.

Its definition by former President Brum, of Uraguay, speaks the thought of today.

"Pan-Americanism," said he, "implies the equality of all sovereignties, large or small, the assurance that no country will attempt to diminish the possessions of others and that those who have lost any possessions will have them rightly returned to them. It is, in short, an exponent of deep brotherly sentiment, and of a just aspiration for the material and moral aggrandizement of all the peoples of America."

* * *

THIS utterance, as soon as made, was echoed throughout North and South America. Everywhere it found response and enthusiastic assent.

Taking it as a point of departure, LET US GO ON!

WHAT CAN WE DO FOR EACH OTHER?

How can we, by CO-OPERATION advance "the material and moral aggrandizement of all the peoples of America?"

Latin America is more important to the United States,—and should be more interesting—than Europe. The United States, if guided by policies of breadth and insight, can do more for Latin America than Europe can or will do.

Already economic forces are drawing us closer to the destinies of the nations across the Mexican Gulf than our people realize.

Our investment holdings in the nations south of the Rio Grande, including Mexico and the Caribbean Republics, run into billions of dollars.

We are interested in their mines, their transportation systems, their water works, the dredging of their harbors.

American automobiles swarm the streets of South American cities. Our locomotives draw their railroad trains. Their mills are equipped by our machinery.

* * *

THE foundations have been well and broadly laid for a great commerce of immeasurable possibilities.

This growth has been due to no encouragement of South American trade on the part of the United States, because as a government we have given little or none.

It has been the result of other causes—such as geographic position, natural facility of communication, and most of all, the patience and hopeful good-will of the amiable Latin peoples.

Our tariff legislation — conceived in a spirit of self-regard and exclusion—has operated only to arrest and discourage the development of the commercial intimacy which destiny has marked out for the Republics of this hemisphere.

It is time that we awoke to the long neglected opportunities which lie at our door,—opportunities for friendly and gainful co-operation in which we would give as well as receive.

* * *

THERE should be an immediate reversal of our self-centered attitude toward these friendly nations.

There should be instituted at once a competent and searching study of the possibilities of logical and mutually beneficial reciprocity.

Many of the products of our mills the peoples of Central and South America would be glad to buy if we would admit into our great market commodities which they produce in abundance and of which we stand in need.

This would not involve the dislocation of their trade or ours. But it DOES involve a different temper from that which has prevailed in the past. It demands an open-minded, studious and constructive approach to our mutual problems and common opportunities.

* * *

PAN-AMERICAN reciprocity is a theme for immediate and exhaustive investigation. Its possibilities are limitless. Its potential blessings cannot be measured.

Trade BARRIERS must be REVISED, LOWERED, and where possible, REMOVED.

Intercourse must be encouraged and facilitated.

Mutual dealings must be broadened and made easier.

A deeper understanding of the feelings and the interests of the closely related nations of the West must be earnestly sought by each, in a spirit of genuine reciprocity—RECIPROCITY, NOT OF MARKETS ALONE, but of HEART and SYMPATHY and MUTUAL HELP.

Air Pollution

Mellon Institute Research Confirms the Wisdom of Retaining the Municipal Smoke Bureau.

One of the proposals for reducing the expenses of the municipal government of Pittsburgh was that the Bureau of Smoke Regulation be abolished. The theory seemed to be that while the elimination of smoke was desirable for esthetic reasons it was not a necessary service and might well be dispensed with in the interest of economy.

Council happily did not take this advice. It reduced the appropriation for the bureau, forcing a cut in its personnel; but the bureau was retained with a staff sufficiently large to cope with major violations of the anti-smoke ordinance.

The wisdom of the retention of the bureau is confirmed by certain facts laid before the Cleveland chapter of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers by H. B. Meller, chief of the bureau and also head of the air pollution investigation that is being conducted by the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research.

Smoke regulation has objects vastly more important than the protection of white collars from soot. The purpose of purifying the atmosphere is not merely to promote cleanliness. Far more is involved, as Mr. Meller pointed out in his speech last night. Health and vitality are at stake.

Pittsburgh's pneumonia problem, it is now generally recognized, is linked up with atmospheric contamination. The pneumonia rate is especially high in Pittsburgh because of certain injurious elements in the air of Pittsburgh.

Health is adversely affected by smoke, even if no acute disease results from breathing the smoky air. Recent investigations in Pittsburgh have proved that human vitality is lowered when deprived of a full measure of the sun's ultra-violet rays, and that soot, tar and ash belched into the air from furnaces with imperfect combustion screen out this radiation so essential to human welfare.

Mr. Meller, in discussing this phase of the air pollution problem, went so far as to suggest that it might be found desirable for reasons both of health and efficiency to have a general two-hour mid-day luncheon period, much of which would be spent outdoors in the open sunshine; for in cities like Pittsburgh the ultra-violet emanations from the sun do not reach street level in abundance before 10 in the morning or after 3 in the afternoon.

Pure air is a necessity, and Pittsburgh, which has taken the lead in combating atmospheric pollution, has cause for satisfaction in the progress that has been made.

Open Budget Sessions

Chairman McGovern Has Acted Wisely in Refusing to Grant Secret Hearings.

The representative of an organization which has been active in the campaign for lower taxes is reported to have asked the County Commissioners for a private hearing on the subject of the county budget.

Chairman C. C. McGovern has properly refused the request. There is to be no secrecy, he declares, with respect to this public business, of such interest and importance to every taxpayer.

Why private hearings were desired has not been disclosed. Whatever the motive, it would set a bad precedent to conceal the business from the people. It would pave the way for other secret sessions, and tend to cause the officials to lose sight of the fact that they are elected by the public, paid by the public, and are responsible to the public.

The policy of conducting the public business as though it were the concern only of the officials and of those that they cared to take into their confidence, has been tried in Allegheny County, with bad results.

No secret sessions!

Over the Tariff Wall

(Copyright, 1933.)

Over the garden wall they toss
A heap of pauper labor,
Although it is a total loss
To Uncle Sam, their neighbor.
The busy boys next door have found
A most convenient dumping ground.

Your Uncle's garden once was bright
With lusty vegetation,
But now it is a dismal sight,
A dump for every nation.
He needs a tariff tall and stout
To keep the alien rubbish out.

George E. Phair.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Trouble with you is—
YOU THINK YOUR'E DIFFERENT.
You think your life
Is Unlike other lives.
You think you're sensitive,
And lonely, and restless,
And that people don't understand you,
And that you could do wonders
If you had a chance.

All of which is true—
Perfectly true.
But your mistake lies in thinking
THAT IT'S ONLY TRUE ABOUT YOU,
AND THAT IT ISN'T TRUE ABOUT OTHER PEOPLE, BECAUSE YOU'RE DIFFERENT.

You're wrong!
These things are true of everyone.
They're as true of stevedores,
And scrub-women,
And cops, and plumbers,
And hoboes, and stick-up men,
And social service workers,
And prize fighters, and chorus boys,
And Babbitts (only there aren't any),
And counter clerks,
And communists,
And D. A. R.'s,
And every other sort of human biped,
As they are about you.

You're not different.
Other people are just as sensitive,
Just as easily discouraged,
As restless and rebellious,
As keen on getting their chance,
As you—
And nine-tenths of your trouble would disappear
If you could realize that fact,
For most of your misery
Isn't caused by other people,
Or by outer circumstance.
It is caused by your sick attitude toward yourself,
Which has cut you off from the common life,
The common sources of comfort and refreshment,
And exaggerated the importance
Of your personal sufferings and reactions,
Until you've become
A human hang-nail,
Which every petty contact
Sets to festering,
No wonder you're miserable!

Stop it!
Stop thinking you're different.
Stop setting yourself apart
From the common experience
And the common accounting,
Yes, I know;
It inflates your sense of importance
And alibis your orneriness.
But inflation and alibis come too high.
We pay for them in heart break.
So come out of it.
Get wise to yourself.
Get wise to the beautiful and important fact
THAT YOU'RE ALL OF A PIECE,
WITH EVERYONE ELSE;
That we all eat the same brown bread,
And drink the same sour wine,
And wait for the same sun
To rise over the hill.
Realize that, and your whole life will be changed,
For you'll never again
Feel alone, or helpless,
Or different.

MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

All "Soft-boiled"

Every few days some man writes in to complain that modern girls are "selfish, hard-boiled, unsympathetic, cold and unappealing." That, he explains, is why he "never will marry!"

* * *

It's a brand new alibi, and much better than some of the old ones. But from where I sit, it looks as though the girl of today should be a refreshing change to the male sex, from the emotionalism and super-sensitiveness of the old-fashioned girl, who kept them running for the smelling-salts.

* * *

She may not have the soft, coquettish, clinging ways, which surely do appeal to a man's vanity, catch his imagination and wind themselves around his heart. But neither has she that strangle-hold on his conscience or his sense of chivalry which choked the courage out of him.

* * *

She seldom flatters his "masculine superiority" by appealing to his masterfulness or his protective instinct or weeping on his shoulder. (And perhaps that's where she makes a mistake.) But neither does she steep him in tears and send his love to a watery grave.

* * *

It is only in the rarest and most stirring moments that she sobs or swoons or "goes to pieces." Her temperamentalism has been extracted with her tonsils, and her sensitiveness and emotionalism have been extracted with her baby teeth.

* * *

And, while all this may make her less "appealing," in the old-fashioned sense, it ought to be a swell relief to those men who spent their days coddling, petting, consoling and spoiling some capricious woman — and their nights wondering why God made her so "unreasonable."

* * *

But men never know what they want! The old-fashioned girl couldn't please them, either. If she was sentimental and sensitive, it bored them to tears—and if she was jealous it drove them to some other woman's arms. If she was excitable and jubilant, they called it "hysteria"—and if she was indignant or impatient, they called it "nagging."

* * *

The girl of today is none of these things. She just hides her emotions and laughs them off. Because she has learned that a woman's emotions are always either a nuisance or a bore to a man. And that is the hardest lesson that woman ever had to learn.

* * *

But, she is NOT hard-boiled, INSIDE—she is just as soft-boiled as ever. Because there is no such thing as a "hard-boiled" woman—emotionally. They are all "one-minute eggs," at heart!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Among blasted futures add: The "ocean grayhounds," gambling sharks of the big liners. Dwindling passenger lists bring their calling to a full stop. Incidentally, most are small town boys, former loafers around pool halls at the cross roads.

During the winter, most of the passengers are diplomats, buyers, or international merchants. And they are too sea-wise to indulge in various gambling games with strangers. Some of the de luxe boats recently have reached all-time low records of 30 first class patrons a trip.

The velvety life for 10 opulent years rendered the professional incompetent for other callings. Life's metier is "come easy, go easy" and few had saved a penny for the rainy day. The remarkably accessible blonds upon whom they spent winnings, hocked jewels to help long ago. And are stony.

"Grayhounds" are as true to life as their fictional prototypes. They are sporty dressers, flashy spenders and, due to constant travel, thorough-going cosmopolites. Nor is it fiction that they bear half-world monickers, such as Silk McGlone, Diamond Ike and Dude O'Rafferty.

* * *

Manhattan's sartorial sing-low suddenly blooms into hot-cha, especially among walkup tailors. Coats are enormously wide-shouldered, full-chested and nipped to a close fitting barrel skirt. Trousers balloon bigger, and sawed-off vests have acre-sized lapels. And pan-cake, wide-brimmed derbies are on the fire.

* * *

Many, trying to achieve the full-trousered jauntiness of these evening-dressed stage dancers, mincing into a pas seul, suggest Bert Lahr doing his imitation of Clifton Webb. A sort of pantalooned blah.

* * *

Indeed, after several generations, most Americans take on the physical characteristics of the Indian. Put a feathered bonnet and blanket on John Nance Garner, he could pass for a Cherokee chief.

* * *

Don Marquis found a royal welcome on his return to town. About five years ago, he tired of columning and trekked to Hollywood, but his sturdiest affections are for the print shop. He is white-haired today, a contrast with the apple-cheeked boy invading the town from Atlanta 20 years ago.

* * *

Christopher Morley, in that valiant tome, "Mistletoe," said of Marquis: "He catches literature in the act. What matter if he is often uneven, sometimes lazy and sometimes slapstick. Here is absurdity and stinging lyric. His newspaper work is grotesque, chameleon-like, unpredictable, as all temperamental stuff must be. At its best, unsurpassable; it rocked with grave or vulgar mirth, then turned on you with an edge that would cut floating silk."

* * *

Thingumabobs: Lois Long is writing a satirical novel . . . Bill Hamilton's celebrated bachelor retreat once was a private stable . . . Katherine Dale Owen introduced Dudley Field Malone to his present wife . . . Robert Ripley already has enough "Believe It or Nots" to last six years . . . Jack Haley, rowdy comic, has the artistic hands of a girl . . . Steve Hannagan is George Ade's protege . . . St. John Ervine and George Bernard Shaw live next door to each other in London . . . Ethel Barrymore was Calvin Coolidge's favorite actress . . . Charles Laughton usually breaks every chair he sits in. He's a squirmer.

* * *

Sudden thought: I wonder if others unconsciously, in approaching a cannon, give it a wide berth.

* * *

There's increasing annoyance at those jaded hoplites serving as ushers in movie cathedrals. A current yarn concerns Harry Evans, who, after being chased from aisle to aisle, grabbed a brigadier by an epaulet and barked: "Where's your cellar? I want to hide from you!"

* * *

Telegram: "Thanks for calling me a dainty dancer. Shall I dash up and kiss you when we meet or what?"

Don't tire yourself. Just an ogling smirk will suffice.
